Canadians Victims Of 'Vicious' Egypt Reprisals

Homes Looted, Property Seized; Jews on 3-Day Notice to Leave

By DONALD GORDON

ROME (CP)—Egyptian government officials are taking vicious reprisals against British, French, Canadian and Jewish nationals in large-scale property seizures and deportations.

Individual Egyptians are joining in the program with isolated attacks on Europeans, looting of abandoned homes and scattered nighttime shootings.

Details of the reprisals, pieced together from eyewitness occurrences and interviews with refugees, were smuggled out of Egypt to Rome aboard a chartered Canadian embassy aircraft.

Forty-eight thousand Jews living in Egypt—including 5,000 Egyptian-born, 20,000 stateless and 10,000 Egyptian citizens—are on three-day notice to vacate the country. All their property has been seized.

An additional 500 Jews, among the wealthiest in the country, are held incommunicado in the former Jewish school in Cairo. These include the father-in-law of former French premier Pierre Mendès-France.

Similar steps are being taken against British, French and Australian nationals, some of them residents of the country for 30 years. These include an estimated 14,000 British passport holders. Seized shops and businesses now are being operated by the state or handed over to Egyptian businessmen. The same is being done with industrial plants valued at more than $15,000,000.

The handful of commercial aircraft leaving the country are jammed to capacity. All have arm-long waiting lists.

Elizabeth Rumsey, 27, of Toronto was among four Canadians fleeing the country in a special embassy plane. One of the 50 missionaries working in the Egyptian General Mission, she said all were forced to leave, abandoning their possessions and carrying only clothes and a few Egyptian pounds for expense money.

"They walked in and seized our hospital last week," said Miss Rumsey. "No one was hurt but we are worried about several British missionaries left behind due to their age."

"So far they are treating Canadians fairly well, but we have seen some violent scenes with citizens of other nations."

Canadian Embassy officials at Cairo said 30 of the 70 Canadians in the country have been flown out with the balance electing to remain.

WOMEN FORCED TO STRIP COMPLETELY

LONDON (AP)—A Daily Mail correspondent asserted today British women leaving Egypt have been forced to strip in the presence of Egyptian men.

"In the party which left Egypt with me were British women—old and young," wrote Julian de Kassel, who arrived from Cairo Sunday.

"They were made to strip completely in a little uncurtained room. Grinning Egyptians kept peering in at them through the windows. The women were then subjected to a humiliating personal search."

No More Money Needed

OTTAWA (CP)—The government plans to ask Parliament for additional funds for Hungarian relief but no extra money to pay for the commitment of Canadian troops and equipment to the UN Middle East emergency force.

In the 146-word speech from the Throne, one of the shortest in history, the government made clear today it feels there is sufficient funds in the $1,775,000,000 defence budget already approved by Parliament to cover the UN commitment.

The Throne Speech, read by Governor-General Massey at the opening of the special session, indicated the government will merely ask Parliament to approve of diversion of funds in the existing budget to cover the Middle East job.

Defence officials said the cost of the Canadian commitment would be less than $5,000,000 if the Middle East job is cleaned up by the end of the current fiscal year which ends March 31, 1957.

However, the Throne Speech said Parliament will be asked specifically to "authorize the provision of relief for the victims of the recent tragic events in Hungary."

"This will mean an additional vote of funds. The government has already announced two donations—each of $100,000—to the international refugee fund and the Canadian Red Cross for Hungarian relief."

Informants said the money which Parliament will be asked to vote will be "much greater" than the $200,000 announced.

YIP-E-E-E ESKIMOS!

PM Protests Russian Actions in Hungary

By VICTOR J. MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA — Prime Minister St. Laurent is reported to have informed the Liberal caucus today that he has sent a very strongly-phrased letter of protest to Russia's Premier Bulganin over the brutal Soviet actions in Hungary.

The St. Laurent letter reported Canadians were "shocked and amazed" at the Russian act. The prime minister called on the Russians in "the name of humanity" to alter the Soviet course of action.

Those attending the caucus claim it was one of the strongest letters ever addressed by a Canadian prime minister to the head of another state. The letter is said to have been written about two weeks ago when the Russians moved into Hungary with their overwhelming military might. It was examined by the cabinet before it was sent.

The prime minister is understood to have told the Liberal caucus that it was not possible for him to reveal the contents of the letters he sent to Britain's Sir Anthony Eden, because it was an exchange of views between Commonwealth prime ministers. He is said to have added that there was nothing in the communications to which any members of the Liberal party would object.

700 Yugoslavs Due Thursday By Sea Convoy

PORT SAID, Egypt (CP)—A British-French decision to let UN police force units enter the Suez Canal Zone by sea as well as by air promised today to speed the build-up of the Middle East peace patrol. But there still was no agreement on plans to replace the occupying forces with UN troops.

The decision to throw open Port Said to ships bringing in additional UN units was made at the request of Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, commander of the police force. He conferred here with British and French officers during a four-hour flying trip from Cairo.

Thus far the troops have been flown in by Swiss airliners and RCAF transports from the crowded staging base at Capodichino, near Naples, Italy. They have been landing in small units at Abu Sudweir near Ismaïlia on the Egyptian side of the cease-fire line.

The first seaborne units will be 700 Yugoslav troops, expected to land here Thursday. They will land from three Yugoslav ships.

Canada's first United Nations troops arrived in Egypt Saturday and set up housekeeping in a temporary barracks adjoining the Swedish. Less than 24 hours later RCAF planes began flying the Suez airlift.

Twenty Canadian soldiers, dressed in heavy battle dress, stepped off a Swissair transport plane shortly after noon into the unseasonable November heat and were welcomed to this Egyptian air force base by the UN camp commander, Major C. W. Edgerstad of Sweden. Today the advance party was joined by another 200 Canadian Army men.

The Canadians joined a growing UN Emergency Force which now includes seven countries and is expected to reach 6,000 or more men. The first group of medical technicians, engineers and signallers, comprised nine officers and 11 men carrying full kit, rifles and revolvers.

One could have called it "Canadian Day" at Abu Suweir.

Their commander, Col. G. K. Wade of the Royal Canadian Engineers, said he was pleased with the reception and "everyone is in good spirits."

The RCAF air inspection team looked over the landing facilities and left shortly afterward to return to the main staging area at Capodichino, near Naples. A dozen RCAF flying boxcars will be used on the airlift to Abu Suweir.

Air Commodore F. S. Carpenter of Lachine, Que., head of the RCAF air transport command who is in charge of the operation, said the purpose of his brief visit was to survey the landing facilities for the Canadian crews coming from Capodichino.

Lt. Gen. Sir Hugh Stockwell, commander of the British-French force, told correspondents the Yugoslavs due Thursday would not remain in the northern third of the Canal Zone held by the British and French but would cross the cease-fire line to the Egyptian side. The bulk of the UN force is standing by on that side, at Abu Suweir, awaiting arrangements for them to take over from the British and French.

He added that a plan to have the UN troops join British and French soldiers in patrols has been abandoned. This apparently was in keeping with efforts by allied and UN leaders to avoid any appearance of fraternization among the troops which might compromise the UN troops' neutral role.

In Belgrade, Borna, the official newspaper of President Tito's Communist party, denied another report that Yugoslav troops at Abu Suweir had been openly instructing Egyptian soldiers in the use of military equipment. Borna called the report slanderous, while declaring that it was "completely natural" that our soldiers were warmly received by the Egyptians.

UN forces at Abu Suweir reached more than 1,000 during the weekend, and other arrivals were expected soon.

VANCOUVER SHROUDED AGAIN

Fog Here Tonight; Mayor Stranded

Fog patches appeared in the Victoria area overnight and are expected to return this evening as the lower B.C. mainland groped into its fifth day of pea-soup visibility.

Direct airline connections between Victoria and Vancouver have been wiped out for three days. Patricia Bay airport is operational but Vancouver International Airport is still "socked in."

Trans-Canada Airlines is operating special flights from Patricia Bay to Abbotsford, Vancouver's alternate field, to connect with transcontinental flights.

Mayor Percy Scourah was reported fogbound in Vancouver today while en route back from Ottawa. He had hoped to return by air Sunday.

Deep-sea shipping is at a standstill in Burrard Inlet, with at least six cargo ships waiting for a break in the fog to make dock. Tugs with tows are unable to operate in or out of the harbor.

On the west coast of Vancouver Island, however, weather is described as "ideal" for tow-boat men, with visibility good and little wind.

Fog experienced overnight here was not enough to slow traffic appreciably. The official weather outlook is for more of the same tonight, clearing as the sun burns through the cloud layer.

Some relief for the lower mainland is expected Tuesday. As of midnight tonight, the CPR's Victoria-Vancouver ferry service will return to normal. Repairs to CPSS Princess Joan, damaged when she collided with her Vancouver pier in the fog Thursday morning, will be completed today.

In spite of the fog, tonight's Victoria Cougar-Edmonton Flyers hockey game will be played as scheduled at Memorial Arena at 8:30.

Canada Abstains in UN Voting; Canal Clearance Gets Priority

By ROD CURRIE, Canadian Press Staff Writer
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—The United Nations Saturday gave Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld authority to continue building up the UN Middle East force and to start the job of clearing the blocked Suez Canal.

BRITISH PRESS HAILS NEW U.S. CANAL STAND

LONDON (Reuters)—British newspapers today give a half-hearted cheer at reports that the United States has come out for clearing the Suez Canal even before the withdrawal of Anglo-French troops.

"For this relief," says the London Daily Telegraph, "much thanks."
The News Chronicle cites the American position as "the first faint glimmer of hope" to appear "on the Middle East horizon."

The London Daily Sketch describes it as "a welcome shift of opinion."
The Manchester Guardian strongly urges Britain to give full support to the United Nations. "We have been told to go, we have started to go, and we ought to go quickly."

PUBLISHER
Mr. Davis began his career as a lawyer in Prince Albert. With his brother he was co-publisher of the Prince Albert Herald.

He served as attorney-general in Saskatchewan for several years.
He has been Canadian Ambassador to Nationalist China, High Commissioner to Australia, Ambassador to the Republic of Western Germany.

Mr. Davis is reportedly toying with the idea of writing a syndicated newspaper column on public affairs.

B.C. Traffic Safety Group To Be Formed

VANCOUVER (CP)—Delegates to the provincial traffic safety conference Saturday resolved to form a provincial traffic safety committee.

The B.C. Safety Council will organize the new committee, approved at the windup session of the two-day conference.
George Lindsay, superintendent of the Motor Vehicles Branch of the provincial government, said his office suspends between 8,500 and 9,000 motorists each year and magistrates take another 1,500 off the road.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner predicted 300 traffic fatalities by the end of the year.

U.K. MOTORISTS FEEL PINCH—British motoring public is again to experience the inconvenience of gasoline rationing. Majority of drivers will be limited to four gallons a week, starting Dec. 17. Curb on gas is a result of the lack of supplies arriving from Middle East through blocking of the Suez Canal.

Europe Clamps Down As Gas Stocks Shrink

LONDON (AP)—European motoring shifted into low gear during weekend as governments clamped down on the output of supplies from their dwindling oil stocks.

Home and industries, too, felt the pinch from the closing of the Suez Canal, a shortcut for tankers that supply Western Europe a large part of its oil from Middle Eastern fields.

The brief war on Egypt by Israel, France and Britain had left the canal so clogged by wreckage there was little hope it could be cleared before spring. The French were among the peoples hardest hit.

French gasoline pumps closed on government orders from 2 p.m. Saturday until 6 a.m. Monday. Only one filling station out of every 10 opened in Paris Saturday morning. There were long lines of cars before the few pumps that operated up to the early closing hour.

BLACK MARKET BOOMS
Sales were restricted to five or six litres to each motorist. Black market prices soared to as much as the franc equivalent of $3 a gallon.
Paris' motor traffic was down by 22 per cent.

Taken rationing was imposed on the hundreds of officers at the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's military headquarters near Paris. Each will get only one full tank a week for his private car. Military vehicles were not affected.

Sweden banned all private car traffic for the weekend. The Stockholm government slashed all oil deliveries to industry and to oil-heated houses by 30 to 50 per cent.

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Police says six-year-old Wayburn Mace used a lighted candle to search under his bed for Indians. The bed caught fire. ### 400 Submarines In Russ Fleet, Says Jane's

Another 170 In Two Years

LONDON (Reuters)—Jane's Fighting Ships, the standard reference book on world navies, said today Russia has a growing fleet of more than 400 submarines.

Nazi Germany had only one-tenth that number in its prewar fleet.
Jane's, classing Russia as a "major naval power second now only to the United States," said the Soviet Union built more cruisers and destroyers since the end of the Second World War than all other countries combined.

But it saw in the submarine build-up "the most significant development in Russian grand strategy since the Second World War."

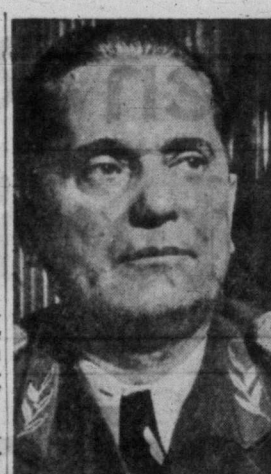

"The severance of NATO communications and the prevention of the entrance of United States naval forces and shipping into the waters surrounding Europe and Asia would be the Russian strategic purpose," Jane's 1956-57 edition said.

MORE COMING
The authority added that Russia is expected to commission another 75 to 85 submarines each year for the next two years.

A large percentage of Russia's submarines are long-range vessels, the annual said, and the postwar surface ships incorporate the latest technological equipment.

Russia's rapid ascendancy has influenced America's ship building, Jane's observed.

"In the short space of about 10 years many U.S. navy ships will be powered by atomic energy and most U.S. navy ships above and including the submarine category will have guided missile capabilities," the book predicted.

11 Burned to Death In Calif. Forest Fire

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Eleven firefighters burned to death Sunday night when they were trapped while battling a hot spot of the 33,000-acre Cleveland national forest fire, forest supervisor Walter Puhn reported.

He said eight of the men were prisoners from the Vejas honor farm and the other three were U.S. forest service personnel.

Six other fire fighters managed to flee to safety, Puhn said, as lightning-fast flames swept up from the dry San Diego River bed near Eagle Peak, two or three miles above the El Capitan reservoir.

The fire, which started Saturday morning from a trash fire on the Inaja Indian reservation, is one of the worst in recent California history.

Arsenic Found In Wells as 3 Deaths Probed

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va. (AP) — State police said Sunday laboratory tests show definitely that arsenic was placed in the William Kidwell family's well.

Three members of the family have died and eight others were taken to hospital.

Trooper J. E. Durst said investigators are preparing "to round up possible suspects" for questioning.

Kidwell and two sons, Tommy, 1, and Charles, 2, died within the last week of arsenic poisoning. His wife and their seven surviving children are in hospital recovering from effects of the poisoning.

Police learned Saturday that a 10th Kidwell child, 10 months old, died Nov. 5, about two weeks before the family was taken ill.

RCAF Officer Dies at Wheel

METZ, France (Reuters) — The movements of a dying Canadian air force officer in a parked car sent the car hurtling into a stone wall Saturday night and injured his wife, sitting beside him.

Police said FO Joseph Ratelle of Montreal died of a heart attack. He was stationed at the RCAF jet fighter base near here.

As he lapsed into unconsciousness, police said, he made a convulsive movement. His foot pushed the accelerator to the floorboards and the car, equipped with an automatic transmission, shot forward and crashed into a wall 25 yards away.

Mrs. Ratelle was taken to hospital with head injuries.

140 Sask. Convicts Refuse To Join in Mass Breakout

Guards Overpowered as 5 Inmates Flee; Ringleader Still at Large

REGINA (CP) — One hundred and forty prisoners chose to remain in their cells Saturday night after five of their fellows overpowered the guards and offered them the keys to freedom from the Regina jail.

All four guards on duty were gagged and bound in turn by the little group, who gained control of the prison and threatened to lead a general breakout.

Except for their billy sticks, the guards were unarmed.

Within hours two of the escaped convicts were recaptured, but three, including the suspected ringleader, were still at large today.

It was the sixth break from the jail in the last 12 months and the second in six weeks.

Officials attributed the jail's policy of emphasizing rehabilitation, psychological treatment and training of inmates for trades as a major reason for the majority's refusal to join the escapees.

J. S. White, deputy social welfare minister of Saskatchewan, said:

"These things happen once in a while even with the greatest precautions. But I think our 'humanizing' policy had a lot to do with preventing this break from including all the prisoners."

He said a preliminary investigation showed there had been no dereliction of duty by the guards.

Roadblocks were set up throughout the province as police tracked every possible clue for the missing trio.

Still at large are the suspected ringleader, Duncan Reed, a 29-year-old American, formerly of Calgary; Julius Smith, 19, of Cupar, Sask., who made an unsuccessful break from Regina jail earlier this year; and Donald Mounsey, 20, of Regina.

Reed is serving a year for moral offences; Smith is in for two years for breaking and entering and for his previous escape attempt; and Mounsey is doing a year for auto theft.

TWO SOON NABBED

Eighteen-year-old Edward Sievers of Swift Current, Sask., gave himself up to police outside a city motel within two hours of the 7:30 p.m. break. He was serving 18 months for breaking and entering.

About 3 a.m. Sunday, Bruno Link, 22, of Moosemin, Sask., was picked up by RCMP while walking just west of the city limits.

smashed their way out through a basement boiler-room door with an acetylene torch and crowbars.

Outside, they tried to steal a staff car. But the guards, who had untied themselves, gave chase. One of the escaping men is believed to have been struck on the head by a guard's billy.

HISTORY OF ESCAPES

The series of escapes began last Dec. 11, when two men climbed a 12-foot fence during an exercise period. They were caught the following morning. That same morning, Harry Skasko, 16, slipped away from a snow-shovelling work party. He was recaptured within hours.

Three men—Smith, Lerry Hart, 17, of Aneroid, Sask., and James was wine.

BENITO, Man. (CP)—Melvin McCann, 14, of Swan River, Man., died in hospital here Saturday after drinking a large amount of anti-freeze at a dance. Police said McCann apparently drank the anti-freeze thinking it was wine.

Liberty Under Padlock

QUEBEC'S PADLOCK LAW, AN evil thing in the sight of most Canadians, is now before the Supreme Court. But it is not the business of the Court to decide whether the law is evil or not. The only issue the Court can consider is whether the law is constitutional and within the powers of the Quebec Legislature.

That question, being sub judice of our highest tribunal, cannot properly be discussed at present. We must await the Court's ruling, doubtless some months hence—one of the most important rulings it has ever been called upon to make.

It is quite proper and, we believe, literally true to say that if the padlock-law is constitutional and is so upheld by the Supreme Court it will set in train great and incalculable dangers to personal liberty in Canada.

Under this law all the ordinary processes of justice are set aside and the most fundamental liberties of the citizen repealed. In Quebec the attorney-general (who happens at present to be Mr. Duplessis) can declare any house or building to be a centre of communist intrigue, can seize those premises, padlock them and, in effect, deprive the owner of his property. The owner has no way of appealing to the courts as he could appeal any other seizure by the state or by private persons.

Some people may say that since the law is directed only at communists it threatens no damage to anybody else and therefore can be excused as an unpleasant necessity in the struggle against communism. There are two flaws in this reasoning.

In the first place, communism is not illegal in this country. It is even permitted to maintain its own pitiable Labor Progressive Party and to seek seats in Parliament (though it never wins any now-a-days and is actually insignificant). So long as communism is legal, the communist—much less the man who is merely suspected of communism by Mr. Duplessis—should not be deprived of the due processes of law applied to all other Canadians.

Secondly, if the Quebec Legislature can deny those processes to communists, it can deny them to anybody else. Indeed, it has already undertaken to deny them to a sect called the Jehovah Witnesses under another piece of legislation, the Freedom of Worship Act, which has yet to be tested in the courts.

But the danger of the padlock law does not end there. If the Quebec Legislature can apply the methods of that law to suspected communists, or other people, there is nothing to prevent the other nine legislatures from doing the same thing.

The real danger of the padlock law is that it undertakes to repeal in one province the basic liberties that all Canadians should enjoy everywhere if this is a nation and if there is such a thing as Canadian citizenship. Once the provinces establish their power to reduce those liberties as they choose then there is no single citizenship in Canada. There are ten different citizenships, varying as the ten legislatures decide. In that case there is no nation for the purposes of liberty but ten nations.

For this reason the national Government is deeply involved in the questions now before the Supreme Court. Its right and power to protect the liberties of Canadians have been challenged by the padlock law. It should be the first to resist that challenge.

When matters of this sort were last discussed in Parliament Mr. Garson, the minister of justice, opposed the passage of a Canadian Bill of Rights which would have absolutely forbidden any government, federal or provincial, to infringe basic liberties. There was no need of such a safeguard, said Mr. Garson, since liberty was already safe under the protection of the Federal Government.

It is not safe so long as the padlock law stands on the statute books of Quebec. It will be in immediate danger if this law is found to be constitutional.

One would think that under these circumstances Mr. Garson, as the custodian of federal power and, by his office the chief protector of civil rights, would do everything within his means to assert that power and protect those rights before the Supreme Court.

It is regrettable, though hardly surprising, that Mr. Garson has made no appearance before the Court, as he was entitled to do. His motives are obvious—he does not wish to give any color to Mr. Duplessis' charge that the Federal Government is attempting to invade Quebec's autonomy and is working through the Court to this end.

But if the Court upholds the padlock law for legal reasons then Mr. Garson cannot say civil liberties are safe and he cannot reasonably deny the need of a Bill of Rights to protect them.

'Who's Kidding Who?'

IN ATTEMPTING TO TIE THE recent outrageous liquor mark-up to wage increases, the government is feebly compounding its original felony.

It will be recalled that announcement of the distillers' projected increase was greeted with brave protests from the office of the Attorney-General. Now, having added a tax on a tax, and tossed in a shocking profit for good measure, Mr. Bonner blandly assures us that the added revenue (estimated at $2 millions) is needed to meet higher payrolls and certain unspecified "expansion." He must have a very low opinion of the public intelligence.

The plain fact is that the Socreds, whose public professions of piety have been shouted from the hustings, stand revealed in this measure as nothing more nor less than liquor racketeers.

No doubt they feel "safe," with the election recently concluded. They would be astonished to know how many of the faithful have become so quickly disenchanted.

The West Is Best

THE GOOD BURGHERS OF Edmonton, who once encouraged Percy Page to assemble the greatest women's basketball team in the world, seem to have given the same support to their footballers.

The thumping defeat administered by the Eskimos to the Montreal Alouettes not only proves the point sports enthusiasts have been making—that the westerners are playing a better game than teams in the east. It also demonstrates the spirit of Edmonton which can achieve the goals it aspires to.

As the Grey Cup frenzy—a happy break in days of sombre news—abates, this country salutes a fine group of athletes, three times winners of the highest laurel in Canadian football.

And the native poet can convert to the game's application a well-known jingle: Out where the guile lasts a little longer, out where the hand-off's a little stronger, that's where the west begins.

Ottawa on the Fire Line

SUBJECT TO APPROVAL BY Parliament—and that approval seems assured—provinces of Canada will receive direct financial assistance from the Federal Government for forest fire suppression in 1957.

The amounts to be received by individual provinces are relatively small. (The draft agreement calls for five million dollars in the next five years—half a million next year rising to one and one-quarter millions annually for the final three years.) But the principle is important.

By if Canada recognizes the desirability of protecting a vast revenue source. Federal income is derived from the forest industries indirectly in corporation income tax and sales tax. Since almost half the wealth produced in British Columbia comes from timber and its processing, the federal stake in this province's forests is obvious.

To date B.C. fire suppression experts have consistently held that they were asked to do too big a job with too little money. Under the proposed five-year agreement they will not be materially helped. But a start has been made and larger contributions may be expected in the future.

Provision for federal assistance may be made under terms of the Canadian Forestry Act. Already that legislation has been used to authorize grants to provinces for timber inventories, reforestation and forest pathology.

Now Ottawa is apparently recognizing another responsibility—fire suppression. This is good news, particularly to British Columbia.

A NOISY MINORITY

By B. A. TOBIN

Man? Who He?

IT'S pretty easy to become engrossed in mankind's activities—in wars, economic booms, football games and other pastimes—to the point where we begin to think that the world is full of people and no other creatures count. Man is the biggest and the bestest, man admits, and it's not hard to go a step farther and believe that he's also the mostest. We look at the crowds in the football stands, at the jammed citizenry of our big towns, at the streets and streets of houses in every community, and we recognize little else. It's easy to see how a steady concentration on this aspect of creation can soon have you forgetting the rest of the picture. The plain fact is that numerically, man is the most insignificant of all living creatures. He's such a small fraction his vote wouldn't even be noticed if he ever had to take part in a ballot of the universe.

If man is the lord of creation—though what other creature has ever admitted it—he's certainly a minority government. As one writer has observed, "if we vanished from the earth, the teeming life of the planet would hardly remark our going."

The dogs and cats and horses, the domestic cattle, mice and a few other animals might notice it at first. But in a very short time human beings would be forgotten, domesticated animals would fit into a new balance of nature or vanish too, and the world would pick up where it was a couple of hundred thousand years ago when the two-legged model with the bulging cranium first made its appearance.

Think of the thousands of wild animals in this country that live their whole lives without ever coming in contact with man.

The grizzly in the fastnesses of the Rockies need never know that he shares the universe with homo sapiens. It is true that in these times he may now and then detect a faraway hum on the thin mountain air, but he will never know that it is an airplane. For him—and many, many like him—man does not exist.

The fish in the sea live their lives for the most part as though mankind had never been invented. Many have their lives shortened as a result of man's presence, but those who escape need never even recognize that such a creature exists.

The billions upon billions of insects which inhabit the earth and its atmosphere do so without the faintest intimation that they are looked down upon by a superior being. They live as they did hundreds of thousands of years ago and no doubt as they will hundreds of thousands of years hence.

Alexander's reputed sorrow that the world held nothing more to conquer seems pathetic in the knowledge that only an infinitesimal fraction of the world's teeming life had ever heard of him.

But I guess it will ever be thus. The megalomaniacs figure no barrel is too small to shout in. And no megalomaniac is too big to shout in a barrel.

Robert Spencer on the B.C.

sands of years hence. A few lumbering bipeds here and there are not even noticed.

Even when the insect is in relatively close contact with man—the grub in the garden, the tent caterpillar out of reach in a tree near the house, the small fly zooming over the lawn—whole generations can go by with no actual knowledge of his presence.

That's humiliating, to say the least. Here we are in charge of everything, and hardly anybody ever knows about us.

And that isn't taking account of the even more unbelievable numbers of smaller life—the bacteria, the molds, the one-celled living things that take up the "empty" spaces in our cosmos.

Hordes of them live right inside our bodies and have no knowledge of us as entities. We're just a warm, moist environment provided for their benefit.

We might say that for by far the larger part of living creation the world is still in the prehistoric age, when no records were kept except nature's records of the rocks.

Short-Sighted

I often think, if the Hitlers and Stalins and Nazzers who appear on the scene from time to time could only get this perspective on things, they wouldn't be so eager to wreck everything in trying to further their little ambitions.

In the great scheme of things their actions are of no more importance than that of a duck in a flock of a thousand ducks who tries to push another duck off a log. The brief flutter in one corner of the universe is quickly over, while the main stream of life flows on.

How vain seem the boasts of puny man in this light. Hitler's squeak: "The Reich will live for a thousand years," Khrushchev's huff and puff: "We'll bury you."

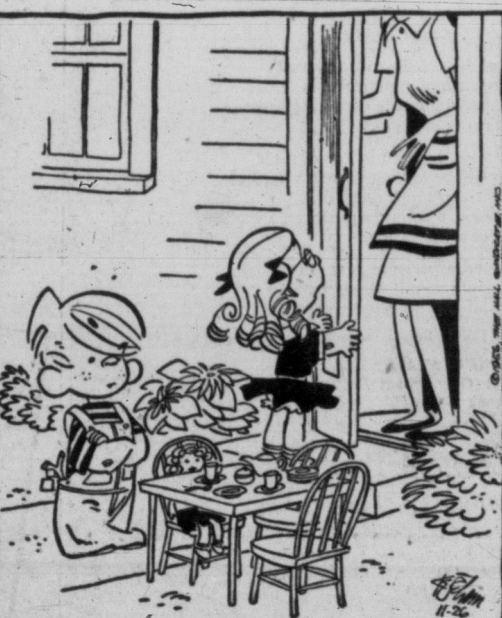

Alexander's reputed sorrow that the world held nothing more to conquer seems pathetic in the knowledge that only an infinitesimal fraction of the world's teeming life had ever heard of him.

But I guess it will ever be thus. The megalomaniacs figure no barrel is too small to shout in. And no megalomaniac is too big to shout in a barrel.

Mrs. Marshall wonders who concocted the idea of the flower baskets.

When first installed, they were enthused about in the press like totem poles, and were the recipients of foreign congratulations from several countries. Truly international.

The flower baskets look incongruous and entirely out of place.

Tubs painted dark-green, growing evergreens, would be more restful to the eye and artistic.

Victoria's streets used to be decorated at Christmas with forest greenery strung along the streets, and probably cost next to nothing.

The insides of shops also were decorated with forest greenery.

Question?

It has been noted that the believing mind is eternally impervious to evidence. The truth of this statement has never been more clearly shown than in the last few days.

People have been judging Mollet and Eden in the absence of evidence and judging Pearson in the face of evidence. All of which points up a question the answer to which could possibly lead the way to a solution of all our problems.

Perhaps one of your readers will know the answer.

Blood Pressure Going Up

The impotence of the United Nations and the impudence of Egypt in your editorial "Unwelcome Canadians" Nov. 21 should provoke Canada's national blood pressure for Nasser's insult in barring our troops as combatants in the international police force and giving us the run-around generally. Does a sovereign power have to take that lying down from an upstart such as Nasser?

Comment on Dr. Chisholm

The report in your issue of Nov. 20 captioned "Chisholm Scoffs Unbelievers Who Force Children" states that Dr. Brock Chisholm denounced parents who send their children to Sunday School to learn things they themselves have ceased to believe.

How could such a parental mental condition prevail?

Possibly it is because of the attitude of religious teachers towards fresh, accurate knowledge derived from fulfilled Bible prophecy and archaeological discoveries.

Tradition and the Tourist

It would appear that we are again entering the "Silly Season" with the belated argument "a little bit of Uno What" being revived through the medium of Art Stott's column in Tuesday night's edition of The Daily Times.

If your columnist will acquaint himself with my remarks in their correct perspective, he will find that they were a belated endeavor to try to preserve some of the Victorian architectural background of our historic city: to quote director John Fisher of the Canadian Tourist Association "to preserve a regional difference," true Canadiana.

In passing may I point out to Mr. Art Stott, one of the greatest tourist meccas today, Hawaii, advertises its hula and Hawaiian garb to the exclusion of other things but its inhabitants do not have to wear Mu Mu's or do the hula and eat "lau lau" poi or papaya, but they derive a tremendous income from such ideas.

New Orleans, with its background of French influence, architecturally jealously preserved drew into the orbit of tourism to the tune of $60,000,000 per year. Its people do not wear goatee beards, or eat frog's legs and French snails, or wear the armour of Joan of Arc for the benefit of the tourist.

Santa Barbara, California, with its Spanish background preserved and even reproduced, its inhabitants wear ordinary dress and not silver embroidered tight pants, bolero jackets or sombreros. No tortillas, no tacos or enchiladas to eat and yet the tourist literature extols its Spanish background and reaps a harvest which helps in the employment of countless numbers.

In Mexico I have yet to see a mantilla on the public streets or a bullfighter, but again the Spanish colonial background with its fascinating architecture, in spite of the Mexicans overthrowing Spanish rule, is still the predominant theme in their tourist literature. In fact Morelia, Taxco, Puebla, and Guanajuato, gems of Spanish colonial times, are scheduled as ancient monuments and nothing can be added that jars with this theme.

In England from 1775 to about 1850, the peak of the industrial revolution, priceless examples of half timbered houses were torn down. It was an age of intense material development with little thought being given to the cultural past. Today the National Trust and the Society for Preservation of Rural England and similar bodies are doing much to prevent a recurrence of such practices. These places today are the solid substance of tourism where they have been preserved.

In the U.S.A. Williamsburg stands out as a good example of a reconstructed city and in seven other cities in the original early states reproduction work is taking place of early historic sites.

Today we in British Columbia are about to reconstruct Fort Langley. My suggestion was that we should give consideration to the forming of a commission composed of property owners, B.C. Historical Society, architects, builders and chamber of commerce members to co-operate in preserving buildings and sites of historic, traditional interest, regional differences and further, J. K. Nesbitt, author of Victoria's Old Homes and Families, to tie these in with a book on the subject of local and tourist interest.

If such a suggestion only merits journalistic ridicule and disparagement it is to be regretted.

FROM WASHINGTON

By JOSEPH AND STEWART ALSOP

Blindness in Washington

THE central point that has virtually escaped notice in the present crisis is that the severe strains already felt by the Western alliance are downright trifling, are really nothing, compared to the strains that lie ahead. The Egyptian solution sponsored by the American policy-makers and the United Nations is quite certain to produce a long chain of consequences elsewhere in the Middle East. These local consequences, in turn, will surely produce further appalling strains that will very well imperil the very existence of the grand alliance that has so long guarded freedom in the world. The process has begun already, and in a most instructive manner, in the little country of Transjordan.

After dismissing Glubb Pasha from command of his Arab Legion, young King Hussein of Transjordan adopted the policy of maintaining an uneasy balance between Egypt and Britain. This Jordanian balance was not immediately upset when Egypt was attacked.

Although previously pledged to come to Egypt's aid, Transjordan made no move while Nasser's Sinai army was being humiliated by the Israelis, while the British and French were landing in Egypt, while Nasser, in fact, was being pushed to the wall. But then American diplomacy and Soviet threats combined to transform Nasser's great military defeat into a great political victory.

Denunciation

The effect in Transjordan was instantaneous and electrical. The pro-Egyptians in the parliament have now rammed through a resolution calling on the government to denounce the treaty with Britain, which has protected their country since Transjordan became a sovereign state.

The resolution has not yet been put into effect by Suleiman Nabolsi, the Jordanian premier. But it is only a matter of time before Transjordan breaks this historic link with Britain, and in effect becomes an Egyptian dependency.

This illustrates the kind of development that must now be expected all over the Middle East. Syria is in the Egyptian bag already. In Iraq, the days of pro-Western Nuri Pasha are almost certainly numbered. After Transjordan goes into the bag, Iraq will eventually follow.

Then the heat will be put on in the vital oil sheikdoms of the Persian Gulf,

Kuwait, Bahrain and Hater, and last but not least in line, the Egyptian heat will be felt by Saudi Arabia.

These political developments have been foreseen by the American policy-makers, who say rather smugly that "the British and French are through in the Middle East."

But the American policy-makers have no coherent answer whatever, to any of the really horrifying questions that will surely be raised by the British and French being "through in the Middle East."

President Eisenhower himself has described this region as the most strategically vital on the face of the earth. This is true for many reasons. But take only one of these reasons—the effect on the second power of the Western alliance, Britain, of the prospective loss of control of her Middle Eastern oil supplies.

As a sort of hole card, the British now mean to hold the vast oil riches of Kuwait and the other Gulf Coast Sheikdoms by naked military force if need be.

Dilemma

But are we prepared to support the British in this new "aggression," which will raise a worse storm than the attack on Suez? Or shall we press our British partners to look pleasant while their throats are cut?

Then too, if all Britain's Middle Eastern oil sources are lost, it will cost Britain just about $1 billion a year. The shaky British balance of payments cannot conceivably stand this further drain. If the oil goes, Britain will go bankrupt.

After declaring bankruptcy, Britain will have to abandon her NATO and other strategic commitments, and will go out of business as a serious world power. But how is American policy going to be adjusted to cover the loss of Western strength caused by British bankruptcy?

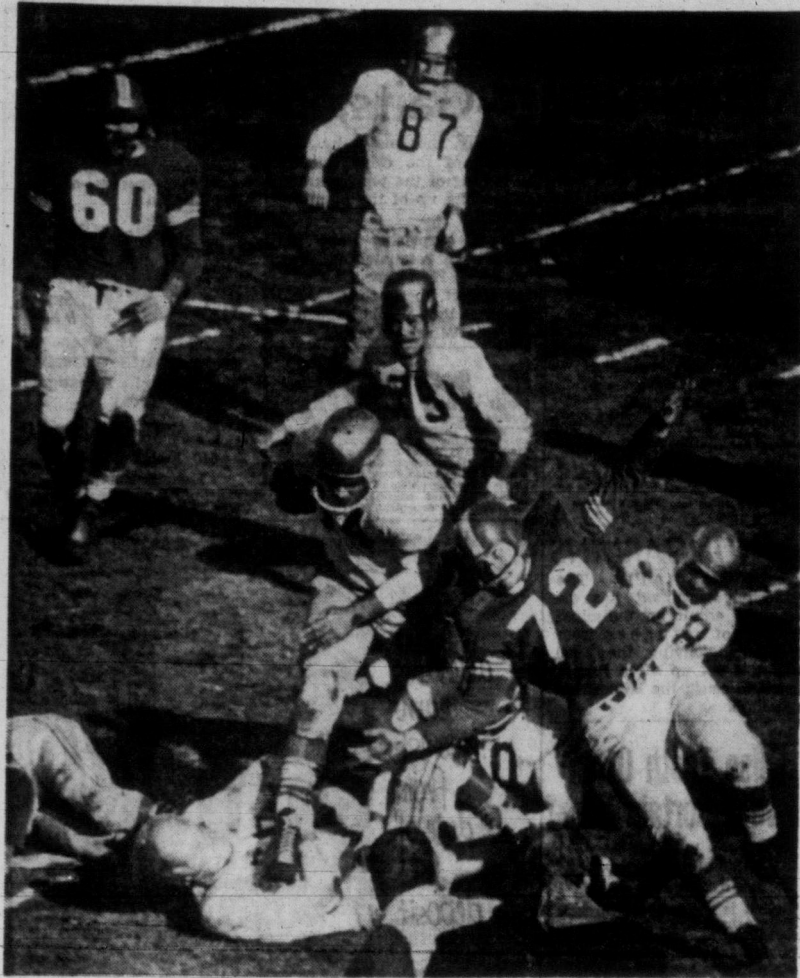

In these circumstances, the American policy-makers are now content to talk vaguely about "the U.S. moving into the Middle East to fill the vacuum" left by our less fortunate allies. But do our policy-makers really think, for instance, that the U.S. can take over Britain's Middle Eastern oil resources, pension off the British people, and still keep Britain as a loyal ally? Surely the country deserves more realistic answers to the whole grim array of questions of which these are a small sample.

(Copy'rt, 1956, N.Y. Herald Tribune Inc.)

No obstacle is going to stop Johnny Bright as he heads for Montreal Alouettes' end zone and the powerful Edmonton fullback steps on fellow-Eskimo John Woyat on the way to one of his two touchdowns. Eskimos swamped the Alouettes, 50-27, at Toronto Saturday to win the Grey Cup for the third successive years. Bright was one of many Edmonton stars.

Grey Cup Returns To Familiar Home

(From CP and BUP)
TORONTO — The Grey Cup was back in Edmonton for the third straight year today and almost everyone, including the frustrated Montreal Alouettes, was convinced that's where it belongs.

The powerful Edmonton Eskimos applied the final crusher to the Alouettes' hopes Saturday with a humiliating 50-27 decision before a record crowd of 27,425 at Varsity Stadium. It marked the third successive year that the Eskies with their split-T attack and their tremendous defence have turned back the air-minded Alouettes.

It left thousands of eastern fans with the feeling that Alouettes "have had it." Even dour Alouette coach "Peahead" Walker frankly admitted, "They deserved to win."

"There were too many fumbles and interceptions (they lost the ball seven times)," Walker said, "but they were better and they deserved to win."

"NEVER BEAT THEM"
"We'll never beat that team with what we've got and the way we play football," said one Alouette player who asked to remain unidentified. "We're the loudest tackling team in the country, probably, and Edmonton is the one team against which we can't get away with it. They wear you down in the first half of the game and then run all over you in the last half."

Don Getty, a 22-year-old Canadian quarterback with the pose of a veteran, teamed with high-scoring Jackie Parker to spark the Edmonton victory.

As Parker scored a record 19 points, Eskimos overwhelmed Alouettes once more with their bone-shattering ground attack and a defence that contained the mighty Montreal passing even more effectively than in the last two east-west finals.

Getty overshadowed Sam Etcheverry, the famous rifle-armed Montreal quarterback. Once again the Big Four champions were unable to solve the riddle of the Eskies' deceptive ground attack. Getty operated it so successfully-Eskimos set a record 448 yards rushing, beating their own mark of 440 set last year.

PARKER GETS THREE
Parker, the speedboy from Mississippi State who spearheaded Edmonton to its cup victories last year and in 1954, was again tremendous. He and Getty scored five of Eskimos' seven touchdowns.

Getty, playing his second year with Edmonton, crashed over for two touchdowns and the 190-pound former University of Western Ontario star threw a pass to Parker for another. Parker came up with a record 19 points in scoring three touchdowns and a single.

Fullback Johnny Bright, who also played a big part in ruining the Alouettes' two previous cup bids, pounded over for Edmonton's other two touchdowns. Joe Mobra converted four of the seven touchdowns and in addition kicked a 25-yard field goal.

GAME HIGHLIGHTS

That Pilfered Ball Proved Costly Loss
Thousands of dollars in office pools and similar drawings went to the wrong winners as a result of the "stolen ball" at the Grey Cup classic, which made the final score 50-27 instead of 51-27, which it would have been if the conversion was made.

In nearly all cases the pools called for the winning team to get a specific margin or a total number of points.

Even at Varsity stadium the official scoreboard put up 51-27 on the assumption the untied convert had been allowed. But the official ruling was 50-27 and that was the score pools should pay off on.

The fan who stole the final touchdown ball literally wrestled it out of Jackie Parker's arms after he had crashed over right at the corner.

TORONTO (CP)—Ted Workman, vice-president of Montreal Alouettes, smiled wistfully as the Grey Cup was carried past him on the sidelines near the Edmonton Eskimos' bench and said:

"There she is—and there she goes."
Harry McBrien, secretary of the Canadian Rugby Union, presented the cup to Edmonton president Moe Leiberman and team captain Normie Kwong at least a full minute before the end of the game.

Best loser's quote—from a tormented Alouette supporter: "Five minutes before the end with the score 44-20 for Edmonton: 'Okay, I concede—love those Eskies.'"

Even Eskies' coach Frank "Pop" Ivy, dressed in a trench coat, was shivering from head to foot at the end of the game partly from excitement and partly from the 30-degree weather.

Attractive Juanita Etcheverry, wife of the Alouette quarterback, took the defeat as hard as any of the players. She cried openly when the Alouettes fell hopelessly behind.

SAM LIKE FISH IN DERBY
But the hard driving, explosive-tackling Eskies pushed big, slow-moving Alouettes all over the stadium. Any western team's line, I think, would do the same thing.

It's amazing that one team, in the all-Canadian final could be so much better than the other. Just how much better Edmonton was is pointed up by the fact that throughout most of the second half the Eskimos used six Canadian linemen and, of course, a Canadian quarterback and they mauled the Als around just as effectively as the first stringers did.

ESKS' THUNDERING POWER SMOTHERS MONTREAL

Another Edmonton standout was Don Getty, first Canadian to start at quarterback in the Dominion football final since 1947. Getty, behind the referee who has his arms raised to indicate the score, goes over on a quarterback sneak for one of his two majors.

Getty takes a well-deserved drink from the prized Grey Cup in the Edmonton dressing room after the game. Getting his chance to call signals when Jackie

Parker moved to halfback, Getty made few mistakes as he directed the Eskimos to a new Grey Cup rushing record of 448 yards. (CP Photos.)

B.C. Rowing Crews Both Gain Finals

Cage Team Eliminated; World Javelin Mark Set
(Compiled From CP and BUP Dispatches)

MELBOURNE—Canadian oarsmen swept into the finals of two Olympic rowing events today but the nation's other athletes failed to make the grade ashore.

The Canadian scullers won the first semi-final rowing event in the coxless fours in seven minutes, 47.7 seconds, six lengths ahead of second-place France and 10 in front of the Russians who came third and moved out of contention.

Canada's crew also won the second semi-final in the eight-oared race, in six minutes, 57 seconds, finishing one-two with Sweden and moving into the final of that event.

France eliminated Canada from the Olympic basketball tournament with a 79-62 victory in the final game of the evening program. The French, who advanced to the semi-finals, led 43-35 at half time.

A fraction too much lard ruled Gerald Gratton of Verdun, Que., out of contention in the light-heavyweight weightlifting competition. Gratton was disqualified when he failed by one-tenth of a kilogram (3 1/2 ounces) to make the weight limit.

Two Ontario runners didn't quite make it in their respective

CANADIAN DIVING ACE INJURED AT MELBOURNE

MELBOURNE (CP)—Bill Patrick of Calgary, Canada's lone entrant in the men's diving competitions of the Olympic aquatic events, may have to withdraw because of an injury suffered while practicing.

Patrick was trying a back dive Friday when he struck his head on the springboard and six stitches were required to close the wound in his forehead. He spent a day in hospital and final decision on his participation won't be made for a day or two.

"I'm feeling fine although a bit tired," he said in an interview. "Maybe I've been training too hard, but I'll be okay when the springboard competition begins next Friday."

Tommy Walker of Toronto, coach of the swimming team, wasn't so hopeful pending the doctor's final decision. "What's a gold medal or any other medal if a boy is injured?" asked Walker.

DEFEAT AMERICANS, 4-2

Cats Risk Skein Against Flyers

Victoria Cougars will be looking for a more direct route to their destination when they tackle Edmonton Flyers at Memorial Arena tonight than the one they were forced to take on their way back to Victoria Sunday.

Cougars continued their recent fine play at Seattle Saturday night as they handed the Americans a 4-2 Western Hockey League defeat, but fog had snarled air traffic when they were ready to head back to Victoria.

The trip was finally completed by means of a bus trip to Vancouver, a ferry ride to Nanaimo and another session on a bus, and the weary Cats arrived home early this morning after 12 hours of travel.

Their intended destination tonight is the Edmonton goal and they hope to reach it often enough to extend their unbeaten string through five games.

ANDERSON STARRS

Doug Anderson paced the Cougars to their first victory of the season over the Americans as he fired his second hat trick of the season. Wayne Brown collected the other Victoria goal, his ninth of the season, while George Senick scored both Seattle tallies.

Victory boosted the Cougars into third place in the coast division, past Vancouver Canucks, who went down to their seventh successive defeat, losing to New Westminster Royals, 2-0.

Flyers lost ground in their battle to overhaul front-running Brandon Regals in the Prairie division Saturday, as they

Yanks Hold Hefty Lead In Standings

MELBOURNE (CP)—A continuing string of successes in weight-lifting and track-and-field events today moved the United States far into the lead in the unofficial Olympic point standings.

The standings, unofficial because Olympic records recognize only individual performances, are determined by awarding points on a 105-43-2-1 basis to the first six in each final event.

WESTERNERS JUST TOO ROUGH

Esks Too Tigerish for Kittenish Als

By TED REYNOLDS (Special to The Times)

TORONTO — They separated the men from the boys at historic Varsity Stadium Saturday. Mind you, the boys were bigger than the men, but bigger only in that they weighed more. The thing that impresses a westerner the most, after watching the Eskimo machine brush off the easterners like they were a bunch of bothersome youngsters, is that they just don't play rough enough down here to be competing against western-type football.

Coach Frank Clair of Ottawa, coach of the year down this way, expressed the feelings of a lot of startled eastern observers when he said "that is the meanest football team I've ever seen." It didn't actually seem to be any meaner than usual to those of us who have watched all year.

late his thoughts and sum things up.

Some lasting memories will be of Montreal's Mr. Wonderful, Hal Patterson. He is truly a great football player, his pass catching antics are almost unbelievable. On the other hand, one had to feel almost sorry for their beloved Sam. He doesn't seem to have a last name in this part of the world. Sam reminded me somewhat of the fish in Saanich Arm on a derby day. Everybody was out to get him. A lot of people did get him. Mostly Hardrock Frankie Anderson got him, and if the field hadn't been so slippery Anderson probably would have broken him into small pieces. He might have even eaten him. Frankie doesn't do things by halves.

You can't soon forget burly Johnny Bright. Sometimes the Als line would get a little piece of him, but usually he carried them right along with him and then exploded all over a completely inadequate secondary. Every Canadian in the stadium, I am sure, felt proud of Don Getty. A Canadian boy quarterbacking in the Grey Cup practically unheard of but here is a Canadian boy who needs take a back seat to no one. He was calm and cool all the way, he called almost a perfect game. Then there's Jackie Parker. A Montrealer newspaper man, trying hard to be brave about the whole thing, was heard to mumble something during the third quarter, "Let's not kid ourselves, Parker is the greatest." The man was right, because there's nothing, just nothing, that Parker can't and doesn't do. As a halfback he is probably a little more dangerous than he is as a quarterback, his running in the Grey Cup game was just terrific. He caught passes, one of them for one of the three touchdowns.

He scored. He did the kicking and was, as usual, a lion on pass defence. What else can you ask for?

So Saturday night they celebrated and they rocked somewhat staid Toronto rather effectively. Edmonton partisans, and by Saturday night anyone from west of the lakes was an ardent Edmontonian, were kings of all they surveyed. Montrealers were very decent about it all, once they recovered a bit from the shock of learning that the team they regarded so highly just wasn't in the same league with Edmonton.

The east may be able to regain a little of its lost prestige in the east-west game in Vancouver Dec. 8, but I rather doubt it. They've got to start feeding them some raw meat down in this part of the world.

... OLYMPICS

In the preliminary heats with a time of 11.4, but this record has not yet become official.

The 800-metre men's final provided the thrilling finish of the day when Tom Courtney of the U.S. won by a stride over Britain's Derek Johnson in a driving final sprint with Norway's Audun Boysen right on their heels. The first four finishers broke the old Olympic record of 1:49.2 and the fifth man tied it. Courtney's winning time was 1:47.7.

Bruce Kirby of Montreal, made the best showing for Canada in the day's other aquatic events, finishing fifth among 20 competitors in the 15-foot dinghy class on the first day of Olympic yachting competition.

The Canadian basketball team was still in the picture at halftime, trailing only by eight points. But the smooth-working French team, upset victors over Russia earlier in the preliminaries, pulled away steadily towards the end of the game.

The unbeaten record of the French stamped them as one of the few teams likely to put up a battle against the heavily favored United States entry, which set an Olympic scoring record today in drubbing the Philippines 121-53. The Islanders, previously unbeaten, also advanced to the semifinals.

Russia also gained a semifinal berth by beating Singapore 91-42. The other semifinalists are Uruguay, Brazil, Chile and Bulgaria.

Tommy Kono of Akron, Ohio, set a world record in the light-heavyweight division today by bringing the United States its third Olympic gold medal in weight lifting.

Kono's total lift of 986.25 pounds broke his own record of 959 pounds, set two years ago. It also demolished the Olympic record of 920 pounds set in 1948 by Stanley Stanczyk of the U.S.

On Sunday Gerry James put Leafs ahead 1-0 in the first period, but Johnny Piersen, playing his ninth season with Bruins, tied it in the second and minutes later made it 2-1.

Defenceman Doug Mohns, a converted forward, finished things off in the dying minutes of the game by shooting into an open net.

Sunday, Wings took a 3-1 lead in the first on goals by rookie Billy Dea, Gordie Howe and Earl "Dutch" Reibel, answered only by Ed Litzberger's ninth goal of the year.

It was 3-2 at the end of the second as rookie defenceman Ron Ingram got his first in the NHL, then with five minutes to go Detroit failed to clear and Mickoski tied it on a pass from Glen Skov.

Montreal's big win Saturday was actually a disappointment for goalie Jacques Plante who thought he would have a shut-out to add to his league-leading string of four, but Danny Lewicki scored from close in with only 35 seconds to go.

WORSLEY STARS

In the Gardens Sunday it was Ranger goalie Lorne Worsley who started, kicking out 39 shots while Plante had only 17 to deal with.

Dean Prentice put New York ahead in the second period, but Moore's goal, his 11th and the best in the league, saved Montreal.

Royals Slow Senators in Pee-wee Race

Undeclared Senators were slowed down a bit Saturday in their runaway of the Victoria Minor Hockey Association pee-wee division.

Senators, who had won five straight games, had to settle for a 4-4 tie with second-place Bombers.

NIP GORGE PAIR

Andrews, Kerr Lift Golf Pins

George Andrews and Laurie Kerr wrested the City Open golf buttons from the Gorge Vale pair of Art and Harry Donaldson Sunday with a 2 and 1 victory over their home Royal Colwood course.

Kerr won the first two holes to send the Colwood duo into a quick lead and after Art Donaldson chipped in on third to slice the margin, Andrews won the sixth and seventh holes to give the new holders a three-hole lead.

TWO DOWN

Making their first defence of the buttons, the Gorge swingers were two down at the turn after Harry Donaldson's birdie on the eighth and battled back to even the match with wins on the 11th and 13th greens.

However, Kerr won the 15th to give the Colwood pair the lead again and ended the match when he fired a birdie at the 17th hole.

ARCHIE SLIM 6-5 CHOICE TO BEAT FLOYD FRIDAY

CHICAGO (AP)—Archie Moore and Floyd Patterson begin tapering off this week for Friday's heavy-weight championship battle at Chicago Stadium.

Oddsmakers on the quibble to see who'll grab Rocky Marciano's vacated crown have been dropping gradually and the bout could go off at even money at ring-side.

Moore opened an 8 to 5 favorite but had dropped to a 6 to 5 while interest in the televised affair began to pick up. The International Boxing Club foresaw the possibility of a near sellout or a crowd of about 18,000.

THE HAGEN STORY

I Still Remember Cheers, Applause

One of the most colorful figures in the world of golf was Walter Hagen. Now, with the aid of Margaret Beaton Hagen, he has written his amazing life story. Because of world-wide popularity and the fact that he played in the city, the Times takes pleasure in presenting the Hagen's biography.

CHAPTER 30

I suppose every joker who knows one golf club from another is familiar with my tendency to get around the course as quickly as possible and bend an elbow at the nineteenth hole, a favorite on any course.

In my time I've had occasion to line up with the boys at some three thousand courses and I believe I'm fully qualified to mention the indispensable hospitality contributing to the fast friendships built up around the table or in the locker rooms.

As far back as Harry Vardon's book instructing novices how to hold a golf club, there have been volumes by both players and sports writers extolling the fine points of the game, the most difficult courses, the champion players and the kind of equipment best suited to player and course.

Most of those books make pretty fair reading. I contend that the anecdotes of racoon-tours at the nineteenth hole make far spicier reading. However, those stories are not the sort which win the approval of the general public.

So I shall merely recall a few of the well-known nineteenth holes and a number of the fine fellows with whom I enjoyed some pleasant hours.

For instance, there is the nineteenth at Pine Valley in Clementon, New Jersey, a familiar spot presided over by the ageless master of mixology, the great Tucker himself.

Here after a round over the difficult, troublesome course I sat at the long maple table, on which was centred the Crump cup, with Joe Kirkwood, Emmet French and Bob Harlow, while we discussed the tough fourteenth.

At Boca Raton, Tommy Armour, the Silver Scotchman, and I relaxed in comfortable beach chairs under a huge colorful umbrella while he directed his perspiring pupils, Tommy and I teamed up here, and in many another spot, to send bar profits sky high.

At the Augusta National, Colonel Robert Jones and his famous son, Bobby, and I teamed up with Stan and Bob BALTIMORE (AP)—Billy Vessels came through brilliantly Sunday in what was almost a command football performance ordered by fans of Baltimore Colts.

They watched him with "I-told-you-so" glee as, playing fulltime halfback for the first time, he scored three touchdowns. At the same time, the Colts were scoring 56 points, the most in their eight years of professional football, to 21 for Los Angeles Rams.

Vessels, the outstanding college back of 1952 while playing for Oklahoma, had been the first draft choice of the Colts. But he chose to play for Edmonton Eskimos in the Western Interprovincial Football Union. Then he went into the U.S. Army for two years. After his discharge the Colts landed him and the fans couldn't wait to see him run for Baltimore.

DUPRE IN HIS WAY

Vessels was allowed to carry the ball only four times as a substitute the first seven games. The fans began to voice their impatience. Coach Weeb Ewbank was practically forced into starting him at halfback Sunday.

L. G. Dupre was hurt in the previous Sunday's game against Detroit. Until then Ewbank, often asked why Vessels wasn't playing, had answered that Dupre, with one year of NFL experience, was just too good.

Vessels, in replacing Dupre, not only scored three times, but gained 70 yards in nine rushes and caught three passes for an equal amount, including one 20-yarder for his third TD.

New York Giants and Chicago Bears, conference leaders in the National Football League, battled to a 17-17 tie Sunday in the feature of a five-game program. The result, coupled with a Chicago Cardinal triumph over Pittsburgh, left each pacesetter with a half-game margin.

In the other games, Washington Redskins also gained ground by winning their fifth in a row 20-17 over Cleveland Browns, and San Francisco tied Philadelphia 10-10.

Wanderers Take Over Rugby League Lead

Oak Bay Wanderers broke a first place tie with Victoria College and won their second straight game in the Victoria Rugby Union first division Saturday by downing the Collegians, 17-8.

In another first division game Saturday, defending champion JBAA made its first start a winning one by swamping Navy 24-5.

Try by Raphael Duke and Bob Hutchinson and a penalty kick by Dick Ellis gave the Wanderers a quick 9-0 lead over the College. Just before the half ended, Mike Kay scored a try for the College.

Hutchinson, with another try early in the second half followed by a convert by Paul Beck, made it 14-3 for the Wanderers. A try by Rod Kirkham and a convert by Stu Smith pulled the Collegians back into contention, 14-8, but Ray Calton scored a try for Oak Bay just before the final whistle.

2nd Airliner Disaster In Europe Kills 23

China Opera Troupe, Czech Hockeyists Die

GIESSEN, Germany (CP)—A Russian-built Czech airliner carrying 30 members of a Red Chinese opera company returning to Peiping and six Czechoslovak hockey players crashed and exploded on the German-Swiss border Saturday night. All 23 passengers and crew were killed.

Swiss officials said they were investigating "all possible causes" for the crash, but that there was no indication thus far to suggest sabotage.

It was the second major aviation disaster within 24 hours. Early Saturday morning, an Italian DC-6B worth $2,500,000 crashed after taking off from Orly field in Paris, killing 33 of the 35 persons aboard. Only survivors were Nicomedeo Finamore, and his wife, Concetta, both employed by the Italian air lines at Shannon, Ireland. Both were badly burned.

REPORTS CONFLICT

The Czech plane was a twin-engine Soviet Ilyushin. It carried 18 passengers and a five-man Czech crew. Besides the six hockey players there were a German and an Italian among the passengers.

There were conflicting eyewitness reports from both sides of the border. Some observers said the plane appeared to be on fire as it plunged into a field 200 yards inside Swiss territory. Others said the aircraft appeared to have its searchlights on, as though to come down for an emergency landing.

The plane disintegrated on the ground, leaving a crater 100 feet wide.

In Paris, air experts were puzzled by the mysterious crash, seconds after takeoff from Orly field, of the Italian airlines plane en route from Rome to New York.

The four-engine DEC-6B, apparently failing to make altitude, sliced off the roof of a suburban villa, plowed into a second and burst into flames early Saturday morning.

Guido Cantelli, 36-year-old conductor of the world-renowned La Scala opera house in Milan, was one of the victims.

Mary Gayda, 17, was at the roadside when two cars collided and plunged into a ditch near her home on a county road a few miles east of this town about 50 miles south of Ottawa.

Dale Workman, 15, of nearby Merrickville, Ont., was injured and trapped in one of the cars. Seconds after Miss Gayda pulled him from it, the vehicle burst into flames. Workman suffered head and chest injuries.

Dr. Carl Tells Scout Parley Here About Island's Plant Life, Mammals

By FREEMAN KING

New plant life and species of mammals, which have not been classified on Vancouver Island before, was the subject of a talk, illustrated by film, by Dr. Clifford Carl, director of the Provincial Museum, to a scout patrol leaders' conference Saturday.

The conference was held in the Emmanuel Baptist Church hall, Fernwood Road.

Dr. Carl told of his experiences in collecting and preserving specimens during the summers of 1955 and 1956 on the islands off the west coast of Vancouver Island. He outlined the start of plant and animal life here after the glacier period.

More than 80 attended the conference. There were representatives from Seattle, Nanaimo and Saltair.

Patrol leader Tony Hopkins from the Emmanuel Baptist troop was chairman and led the discussion on the topic: "Is Scouting in tune with the times?"

In the opinion of the boys it is the scoutmaster who is not keeping abreast.

In the afternoon the boys were taken to HMCS Naden, where they were shown radar installations.

Field commissioner Jim Blain of Vancouver gave a talk on the "court-of-honor," stressing that it could be made to work if those taking part would give it leadership, example, attendance, dependability, enthusiasm and representation.

Among the guests were Scouters Bob Milks, Frank Nelson, George Bennett and Chris Pike. Scouter Bill McFarlane was general convener.

District commissioner George Barr was presented with a pair of scout bookends during the evening.

Campfire and a sing-song closed the events led by Scouter Bill Bowman, scoutmaster of the Emmanuel Baptist troop.

fluoride toothpaste

Scientists have known for years that tooth decay was virtually nonexistent in some areas of Canada and the United States. The reason was a natural supply of fluoride in the drinking water. Prompted by this finding, Colgate-Palmolive created Brisk Fluoride Toothpaste. While the dental profession feels that further positive clinical confirmation is needed to establish fluoride's dramatic results when used in a dentifrice, laboratory tests indicate that it offers definite benefits.

Brisk Fluoride Toothpaste exclusively combines sodium fluoride with the previously-proven decay-fighter (Sodium N-Lauryl Sarcosinate). Together these features add up to the greatest potential advancement ever offered by a dentifrice... yours only through Brisk Fluoride Toothpaste.

Only Colgate's BRISK has Fluoride/85

Fluoride/85 not only gives you sodium fluoride, but also provides a tested decay acid fighter Sodium N-Lauryl Sarcosinate that starts working instantly... keeps working all day against the formation of harmful decay-causing acids.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Charles Cooper, aged 12, of Dorchester, Mass., for his question:

To What Family Does the Hippopotamus Belong?

It is Sunday afternoon at the zoo. You have to poke your way through the crowd around the big cage with the glass front. For Mr. Hippo is a favorite attraction and he knows it. He opens his prize-winning mouth up wide. He oozes a pinkish goo as though he were sweating blood. His name plate reads Hippopotamus, which, translated, means river horse.

No, he is not related to a horse. Though he is mighty fond of the water he is no knd even to a seahorse. He has a family all to himself, or almost. There are only two cousins in the Hippopotamidae family. They are the big smiling fellow and the pigmy hippo. The pigmy hippo is very like his big cousin except that he is only as bulky as a couple of mules — to whom he is not related.

There was a time when the big hippo was more plentiful. His ancestors shared life with the cave men in Europe. Now he lives only in certain lakes and rivers of Africa — except when he is lucky enough to get a job in a zoo, fascinating people. There he needs special conditions. There must be plenty of room, warm air conditioning, water in which to wallow and over 100 pounds of food a day.

Full grown, Mr. Hippo is about 12 feet long. He stands four and a half feet tall at shoulder level. Most amazing is his bulk. Old Smiley may weigh up to four tons. You might tell him that the whale has a bigger mouth. But the old charmer will tell you that he has the biggest mouth you are ever likely to see, the biggest of any land animal, second biggest in the world. And those 24 huge teeth are used as ivory. They are buried well in the gums so you can see only the tops. Some of them weigh five or six pounds apiece.

Mr. Hippo has a lot to say. He puffs, blows, snorts, grunts and even bellows. This and the pink sweat might make you think that he finds his huge bulk uncomfortable. Not at all. His massive bulk is carried on short, stumpy legs and his tummy sometimes trails the ground. Yet he can outrun you and even break into a gallop. And don't let him fool you about sweating blood. He oozes a pinkish oil to protect his bare hide in the air.

In the water, the hippo can certainly out-do you. Forget, if you can, the prize-winning mouth and notice how the nostrils and eyes are close to the front of the big face. Mr. Hippo can swim or float for hours with just his nose, eyes and ears above water. He can also sink like a stone when he chooses. Then the nostrils shut like valves. He usually stays under water about two minutes but he can stay down half an hour.

What does he do down there? He can run along the bottom at eight miles an hour and he is looking for plants to food.

Three-Alarm Fire Sweeps 40-Suite Mainland Block

(From CP Dispatches)
VANCOUVER—A 40-unit apartment block was evacuated when a three-alarm fire broke out Sunday night. There were no reports of injuries.

The flames were brought under control after about two hours and fire damage was controlled mainly to the rear and the roof of the three-story building.

The building, called the Montclair Apartments, is at Oak and 16th Streets in south-central Vancouver.

Firemen fought their way through heavy smoke to reach the top floor and escort residents from their apartments. About 10 pieces of equipment were used.

BETWEEN TIMES By MONTE ROBERTS

OUR VERY OWN ISLAND DIGEST

(Writ by hand by Our Very Own Correspondents.)

LUNCHVILLE, V.I.—It came as a great shock to the town council to learn that if an A-Bomb or H-Bomb or even non-alphabetical bomb were to be dropped on the city of Victoria all the people in the city of Victoria would rush to Lunchville which they usually don't but in an emergency you never can tell.

So the town council immediately called an emergency meeting to learn what to do in event of emergency, namely citizens of Victoria coming to Lunchville.

Mike the Motel Man said he didn't think there is anything to worry about as he would simply double his rates just as he does during the tourist season.

But the proprietor of the Bit of Olde Spadina Avenue Tea Shoppe took a different viewpoint. "What would happen to my herbaceous borders if they were trampled by the citizens of Victoria hastening to escape from whatever it-is-bomb?" the proprietor asked.

After considerable discussion and mature consideration, the town council of Lunchville voted unanimously on the course to be followed; in the event of bombing attack on Victoria, a DETOUR sign will be erected on the main (and only) road leading to Lunchville.

BUMBLE HILL, V.I.—The Bumble Hill Chamber of Commerce today went on record as being unanimously against the bombing of Victoria.

The consensus of opinion was, what does Victoria have that we don't have, and why should it hog all the bombs? Victoria is becoming nothing but a hogtown, the Chamber of Commerce said, before moving the meeting over to the barn back of Lem's house.

"Bombs away," said the president of the Bumble Hill Chamber of Commerce as he handed Lem a bottle opener.

GOON CENTRE, V.I.—The progressive mayor of this progressive Community, Mr. Abner Goon, has already devised the plan whereby Goon Centre can participate when Victoria citizens leave Victoria under bombing attack.

Just today he said to his wife, Mrs. Agner Goon: "You have always complained because the stores are so crowded in Victoria when you go down there for a shopping trip. Well, the first word we receive about Victoria being bombed, I will send you there because there won't be hardly any people in the stores at the time."

Hospital authorities say Mayor Goon will be able to resume his civic duties shortly, as he is suffering only from minor bruises, contusions, and a broken leg or so.

WALLOPEM BEACH, V.I.—All of Wallopem Beach is ready to do its part in taking care of Victoria citizens fleeing from a bombing attack.

Everything will be done to see they are warm, comfortable, and well fed.

$650 Cash, Liquor Stolen at Vets Club

Athletic Thieves Climb Sign, Break in Second Floor Window

Thieves escaped with $650 in cash from an unlocked safe, and a quantity of liquor after breaking into the Wharf Street Army and Navy Veterans' Club early Sunday.

The theft was reported to police at 4 a.m. Sunday by janitor Charles Adams.

Detectives found that the thieves entered the building by climbing a sign board at the rear and breaking a second floor window.

Second floor liquor cabinets and cupboards were forced open.

A small, unlocked safe was opened by turning the dial slightly.

The thieves also made an attempt to break into the main office but were unsuccessful. Police found a large crowbar and a pair of gloves lying on the floor.

They escaped by way of a fire escape door on the second floor.

The estimate of loss was made by Walter Simpson, assistant manager of the club.

In two other weekend break-ins reported to police, total loot amounted to 100 packages of cigarettes.

They were taken by thieves who smashed open a rear window of Menzies Fish and Chips, 211 Menzies.

Nothing was taken in another break-in at the Home Service Station at 3001 Douglas.

'Second Look' Refused By Bennett, Bonner

Premier W. A. C. Bennett and Attorney-General Robert Bonner today refused to take a "second look" at recently increased liquor prices in British Columbia.

The premier said the government would reconsider the price boosts if they proved to be out of line with other provinces.

"But I am assured they are not out of line," the premier said, "in which case there will be no second look."

The attorney-general said flatly there will be no revision.

SOUND REASONS

"The increases were made for sound reasons and I do not think any revision is likely for the present," said Mr. Bonner.

The request for a second look came from the Hotel and Innkeepers' Society of B.C., and thousands of indignant liquor buyers.

Said Premier Bennett: "I cannot understand why there is such a howl of protest, when we were the last province to increase our prices."

"Our prices continue to be lower than those on the Prairies and are much lower than the Maritimes."

The premier said the Liquor Control Board was solely concerned with getting the same percentage on net profit from total sales as they did before the distillers raised their prices.

He pointed out that the retail price on some brand of rye whiskey had been increased from $4.20 to $4.60.

"If we had increased our prices by 16 per cent as the distillers did, the $4.20 bottle of whiskey would have gone up by 67 cents instead of by only 40 cents."

IT'S RECOGNIZED

The premier said it was "a recognized business practice" to maintain the same percentage of profit on a wholesale price increase.

The premier also mentioned higher freight costs as one of the reasons for liquor price increases.

"Look at the way the newspapers have gone up in price," he said. "Does anyone complain about these concessions? Take the Vancouver Sun for instance. Their published figures show a much greater percentage of net profit than the Liquor Control Board does."

REASONS

Mr. Bonner said the increases—ranging from 30 to 65 cents on bottles of rye and gin—were necessitated by:

1. By the 16 per cent increases in wholesale prices made by Canadian distillers.

2. By increased wages for liquor store employees amounting to more than $250,000 this year.

3. By increased overheads and the prospects of increased capital costs next year.

Mr. Bonner would not elaborate on capital costs. But it is understood that the liquor board is planning to provide major warehousing facilities in Vancouver, which are now rented from private sources.

A cigaret dropped in the chair is believed to have started the fire.

A closet full of clothing and Christmas presents were lost by Mr. and Mrs. Lucien J. Vaast in a fire at their home at 3273 Wicklow Saturday.

Saanich firemen confined the fire to the closet and bedroom. Cause of the fire, which started in the closet, is not known.

Ottawa Extends PGE Assistance

$10 Million Grant For New Construction

The federal government has agreed to extend its $25,000 per-mile construction grant for the PGE to include extension north of Prince George, Premier W. A. C. Bennett announced today.

The new share in construction costs will amount to $9,375,000. Earlier the government had agreed to pay $25,000 per mile for the 41-mile extension from North Vancouver.

New construction on the PGE to which the federal government will now contribute comprise: Prince George to Little Prairie Junction, Little Prairie Junction to Dawson Creek, Little Prairie Junction to Fort St. John, Fort St. John to Beaton River.

Premier Bennett also said the federal government has agreed to hard-surfacing 55 miles of the Alaska Highway, from mile zero to five miles beyond Fort St. John.

Ottawa will also grant a tax refund on new equipment and steel needed for new construction.

"I am tremendously elated over these concessions," Mr. Bennett said. "We have been trying to get this kind of co-operation from Ottawa for the past four and a half years."

PARLEY SET ON JUBILEE EXTENSION

Use of the provincial centennial grant for a Royal Jubilee Hospital addition will be discussed by Greater Victoria joint centennial committee Thursday at City Hall at 11 a.m.

Municipal representatives will decide whether to recommend to council a pooled grant for the hospital addition or some other memorial to B.C.'s 100th anniversary.

The province will give 60 cents per capita, if matched by municipalities, toward construction of a lasting memorial to the 1958 centennial.

Saanich Council is on record as favoring the hospital addition, but Victoria, Oak Bay and Esquimalt have not decided. Esquimalt committee representative Coun. G. K. Sammon has indicated support for the plan.

Indian Conditions To Be Investigated

The federal government has agreed to investigate living conditions among the Indians in B.C. Premier Bennett announced today on his return from Ottawa.

"I told them we were not at all happy over these conditions," he said, "and they offered us 100 per cent co-operation in endeavoring to improve living standards for our Indian population."

"We convinced them that there is a real need for special homes for elderly Indians out here."

Mr. Bennett said the Ottawa government would send out officials to investigate local conditions in co-operation with the provincial government.

Youths Fined Total of $250 After Pole Crash

Two youths who piled up a stolen car against a power pole in Oak Bay while being chased by police early Saturday were fined in city police court today.

Robert John Bowen, 121 Menzies, was fined $100 or two months, and Raymond Carriere, 524 Michigan, $150 or 45 days. They pleaded guilty to taking the car without the owner's consent from the driveway of the Empress Hotel.

NOISE OF STREET 'BATTLE' TO BE CURBED

Mine Detector Spearheads Crew

By PETE LOUDON

A small army of workmen armed with machine-gun-like jack hammers and spearheads, and put him in a safer spot, and divert his interest."

Through the smoke of half-stick dynamite blasts, the warriors are advancing at a rate of 200 feet a day.

Opposition, in the form of rock and cement, is stubborn. "Field marshal" is contractor

J. Johnson (Vancouver), who says a new "weapon" will be thrown into the campaign later this week to make the advance less noisy.

Mr. Johnson's job is to construct deep trenches to hold ducts for transfer of B.C. Electric overhead wiring underground.

The job will not be completed for an estimated four years and will cost about $2,225,000.

The contractor's new weapon will be a 600-pound automatic hammer with a chisel head, which works like a small piledriver in chewing up paving. The noisier jack hammers will still be used on rock.

Foreman W. J. Bender is in charge of the peacetime mine detector which records visibly and with sound whenever a pipe or other buried object is in danger of being dug by the shovels.

His crews of about 30 men have already advanced along Pandora from Douglas to Blanshard and have turned south along Blanshard.

The street fighters will retire from the field when the first waves of Americans land in the guise of tourists next spring but will return again in the fall to continue their assault.

'White Christmas' Appliance Parade Awaits Shoppers

A parade of home appliances, unequalled any other year in new automatic features, will await shoppers in more than 50 Greater Victoria stores joining in the special "Make it a White Christmas" retailing.

Norman Hall, supervisor of B.C. Electric services to dealers, estimates that the choice will range over a million dollars worth of goods.

Prospects are that sales of the sparkling, work-saving white goods here will top $500,000 before the last ribbon and wrapper is untied Christmas morning.

Looking back over 25 years in the appliance field, Mr. Hall commented that striking changes have been made from the era when attractive girls got their diamonds under a silk shaded lamp with hanging red tassels, and an electric gift was likely one of two things — a home iron, to be tested with a wet finger, or a temperamental two-slice toaster.

He said that today there are virtually scores of small electric gifts, so popular for Christmas giving, that the total sales in December add up to more than one-third of total purchases of that kind in the year.

Mr. Hall added that the trend to the giving of major appliances at Christmas, particularly on the part of father to the rest of the family, was impelled by the highly practical reason that the present gave pleasure and convenience in the household every day for many years.

Greater Victoria, he emphasized, accepted the new and automatic features with alacrity.

What will be the major items in greatest favor in Victoria this Christmas.

A difficult question to answer, depending upon individual appeal. As a guess, the order will likely be this: automatic laundry, refrigerators, television sets and automatic ranges.

REASONS GIVEN

By the dealer service section's tabulation, more than 200 automatic dryer units went to Victoria homes in the last six weeks, as a forerunner of what can be expected as the Yuletide approaches.

Refrigerators (three out of four Victoria homes have them), for householders wishing to replace an outmoded one with one with the latest features.

Television, on the strength of a further station being available here, and the sheer velocity with which the magic picture entertainment has taken over.

NO ABATEMENT

Mr. Hall volunteered the information that there is no abatement in the workshop hobby field, and the "do-it-yourself" addict is year by year stocking up with power tools, which cut corners in work and give it a professional look.

Occupationally, he added, it was hard to beat the electric appliance industry for the knowledge of living always on the edge of tomorrow and wondering what fascinating new appliance will be next. "Best of all," he concluded, "is the satisfaction that homes get from these wonder servants of the century."

Most welcome family Christmas gift—an automatic dishwasher. This beribboned model which Mrs. H. J. Bigsby, 430 St. Patrick, is smiling upon, is a new portable dishwasher. It saves installation costs, can be moved about for maximum convenience.

No wonder she's dreaming of a WHITE Christmas . . . of a gleaming, new appliance for the kitchen or laundry. For what other Christmas gift can do so much to brighten her life—not just at Christmas time, but 365 days of the year!

This year make it a WHITE Christmas by giving her the new time and labor-saving appliance she needs. And treat all the family to better living every day.

Latest Ranges All but Think For Housewife

With a new electric range, cooking can be the most effortless fun you've ever had. Probably the only work you'll have to do is on Christmas Day—and that will be the task of deciding which of the exciting new range features to try first. Here are some of them:

Thermostatically controlled surface cooking units. A "sensing" element "feels" the temperature of the utensil resting on it, and heat is raised or lowered automatically to conform to temperature on pre-set dial. Cooks perfectly and makes pot watching a thing of the past.

RISE-UP OVEN

Elevator-oven. It rises 15 inches above the 36-inch-high work surface at the touch of a switch. It may be stopped at any height, lowered or raised from any position at which it is stopped.

Vertical broiler. Food is broiled on both sides at once. (A conventional broiler is ready for use when desired.)

Smoke-dispelling oven filter. Smoke and fumes are drawn off even when the oven door is open during the cooking process.

Removable oven rotisserie rack. Roast or fowl are locked into place, can be carried to work surface for carving and serving.

MEAT-WATCHER

Automatic meat thermometer. It turns oven off and signal light on when desired internal temperature of meat is reached.

Other features include: griddles built into the range top; portable griddles for use on any unit; plug-in griddles, swing-out broilers, adjustable broiler pans controlled by a level which moves from side to side to lower or raise the pan without having to remove it; internal timers to ring a bell when the food is cooked; clocks and timers which turn the fuel off at pre-set times in the oven or on top of the range; ranges with controls mounted on the back panel instead of the range front.

MUST BE LEVEL

To get the best performance from her electric range the housewife should be sure to have it installed by an expert. The range should be absolutely level.

Manufacturer's instruction book should be kept in a convenient spot and referred to before calling in a repairman. Often problems can be cleared up with a single tip from the direction book.

Utensils are an important factor in the performance of a range. For topstove cooking, use pots and pans that have flat bottoms and tight-fitting covers. "With an electric range, you'll feel like a guest in your own home."

Color Inside May Be Trend

Whether or not you like color on the outside of your appliances, it seems possible that some of those you buy may not be white inside.

Some of the makers found costs mounting when they tried to match all the new outside colors inside their products. Last year they tried various ways of meeting the problem.

At least one manufacturer changed interior colors on both white and colored appliances. He thinks he has found a single interior color that goes well with both white and colored exteriors.

The idea has not moved far enough to establish a trend, but in the future there is a good chance the appliances you buy may have color inside whether they are white or colored outside.

Cabinet Sink Is Focal Unit

Focal unit for modern kitchen planning is the cabinet sink. De luxe models, now within the range of all budgets, include many items of kitchen convenience.

Among them are: pull-out bread cutting board, towel holder, compartmented bread drawer, rinsing spray, and single handled faucet.

Steel kitchen cabinet manufacturers offer this basic unit in easily matched colors.

An ironer is the appliance most appreciated in the household where there are lots of sheets and table cloths in use. An important feature, as demonstrated by Brock Henry, 2711 Dover, is that the ironing can be done sitting down. The new ironers are easy to move around, take up little space.

Ironing's Another Chore Appliances Make Easy

Many housewives are so dazzled by the automatic efficiency of the sparkling washer and dryer in their laundryroom they have forgotten that ironing plays a big part in gracious living.

Who can deny that a bed made with freshly ironed sheets has a look of luxury obtained in no other way? How much prouder do you feel when your guest towels have the crispness only ironing can give them? You may be surprised to know that these symbols of a truly distinguished home can be obtained without a return to the drudgery that once was associated with them. A homemaker who is determined to retain graciousness while protecting her own precious time can find the answer she searches for in an automatic ironer.

With an ironer, she can enjoy smooth linens and towels throughout the house with only a few minutes of extra work. These are flatwork items, which even a beginner can do quickly and perfectly on an ironer.

It is important to remember that flatwork can represent 70 per cent of a load of ironing in the average home.

For those who are willing to acquire a new skill, there is the further reward of being able to give all the family's clothing a professional finish with a minimum of work.

The most popular ironer is the cabinet style, with clean-looking white enamel finish. Some have height casters adjustable to the height of the user. It is easy as pie to tilt back the hinged cover and swing out the ironing unit from its storage space.

Cabinet-style ironers have lap panels to support dampened articles before they go through the roll and one or two extension shelves for stacking folded items after finishing.

Also on the market is an ironer adaptable for use anywhere in the home. Of console design, this model comes in red mahogany or lined oak and has graceful wrought-iron legs.

Portable models, which can be rolled into storage spots when not in use, and table models also are available. Table models take little storage space but must be carried and lifted to the table where they are to be used.

Automatic Elements Eliminate Guesswork

The automatic thermostat controls which, years ago, turned baking into a dream, are now working similar magic on the top of the range.

The automatic device, operating on the same principle as the familiar oven temperature control, is being used on surface cooking units of both gas and electric ranges. More than 40 different manufacturers now offer automatic surface unit or top burner controls on their ranges.

The beauty of this development is that it eliminates much of the guesswork involved in the preparation of meals. Instead of following directions like "bring to a boil, reduce heat and continue moderate cooking until done," the housewife with automatic controls simply puts the pan on the stove, twists a dial, and walks out of the kitchen.

Here's how it works: A "sensing" element has been added to the standard range top cooking unit. This element protrudes slightly above the centre of the unit and is about an inch in diameter. This protruding portion "feels" the temperature of the saucepan, griddle or skillet resting on it. The element relays the temperature of the utensil to an automatic control which keeps the heat at full intensity, lowers it slightly, brings it back up, cuts it off almost completely—automatically does whatever is needed to maintain the temperature the housewife selected with the temperature control dial.

FOOD SAFER

This scientifically accurate temperature control greatly lessens the possibility of burned, dried out or overcooked food, and practically eliminates the possibility of burned or scorched cooking vessels.

One of the side effects of the new control is that it converts any ordinary cooking vessel into an "automatic appliance." Your ordinary coffee percolator, placed on a cooking unit set at "low," will hold coffee at the correct serving temperature for hours. A frying pan becomes a temperature-controlled skillet.

Here are some other advantages: Pot watching becomes a thing of the past. Once the control is set, for the needed cooking temperature, you may forget it.

Frozen vegetables, frozen soups and "a la king" dishes are gently thawed, cooked, or re-heated.

Fresh vegetables cook with no attention from you.

FUSSY SAUCES

The low, low temperatures provided are perfect for fussy sauces and those delicate and easily scorched puddings, or for rewarming leftover mashed potatoes or holding them fluffy and light for as long as an hour.

Griddle cakes brown evenly, batch after batch, without the old uncertain fumbling with the dial. The thermostat maintains perfect temperature.

Deep fat frying becomes no worry. The automatic heat control unit provides the heat flexibility and accuracy required. French-fried potatoes or doughnuts turn out a uniform golden brown.

Bacon can be fried to a perfect crispness with no danger of the fat overheating and smoking. It will stay that way for an hour to greet Sunday breakfast stragglers.

Pressure cooker foods can be held at the exact pressure required with no tiresome hand adjustments.

Trend Reverses In Space Use

Years ago kitchen space was measured to provide shelf and cabinet room for a variety of auxiliary cooking appliances. Now the trend is in reverse and the space is being used for food storage or practical placement of china and utensils.

The reason? Manufacturers now are producing gas ranges equipped with special controls, griddles, rotisserie ovens and other features to take care of special cooking functions which formerly required auxiliary appliances.

Try Color-Keyed Kitchen—What Could Be Brighter?

Since the housewife spends more time in the kitchen than anywhere else in the house during the day, it should not only reflect her personality, but it should be a bright and pleasing place in which to work. This can best be achieved by the judicious use of color for the background and for equipment, appliances and accessories.

Today, when the home owner is planning a new kitchen, colored appliances to match or contrast with the walls, cabinets and other fixtures are given the greatest consideration.

In some instances, manufacturers are matching the colors of their appliances with the colors of other equipment, although standardization has not yet reached the ideal stage. Much more has to be done to bring about co-ordinated colors for the kitchen in the appliance industry.

One solution for the housewife with a color-matching problem might be for her to sand the appliance or appliances in question and apply a special enamel finish coat in the color of her choice. According to the president of a large paint company, his firm has an excellent product, a triple-duty enamel, for this purpose.

It can be sprayed on or applied with a brush. Another method of providing co-ordinated colors in the kitchen was evolved by a leading New York home furnishing store, when they were commissioned to do over many large apartments and homes after the Second World War.

The firm did over the kitchens with co-ordinated colors from the appliances right down to the pots and pans. To accomplish this co-ordinated color program in all its perfection and detail, they sent appliances to automobile painting shops to be sprayed with synthetic enamel in the exact colors they wanted to complement the kitchen colors.

NOTHING HARD

It might well be asked what items are most likely to be difficult to get in a matching kitchen. Actually, nothing is hard to get today in matching colors. Paint manufacturers are producing as many as 1,400 different colors, so appealing color schemes can easily be selected. Many manufacturers of paints, floor coverings and draperies are offering complete customized kitchen color plans free.

As to the choice of proper color for the kitchen, there is a wide variety of choice today, depending largely on personal preference. Many people, who are not housewives, seem to think that cool colors belong in the kitchen because psychologically they seem right.

This does not always work out in practice. Surveys have indicated that women like bright cheerful color in the kitchen, with yellow and turquoise ranking particularly high. The colors should be functional and provide a happy, cheerful atmosphere.

Seasonal Buying Secret of Saving

"Buy low and sell high..." That's a financial dictum on which many a fortune has been made. It's as old as commerce itself and will be sound advice until the end of time.

You might not realize it, but in running your household you can apply this ancient rule with just as happy a result as the Wall Street banker.

Food buying is the greatest single expense in the average family's budget. If you save money on food through wise buying and storing, you are saving in the budget category where it counts most.

By installing a food freezer in your house, you can capitalize on the "Buy low—sell high" dictum. If you have a freezer, you can buy in quantity when the price of certain food is low months later when the price is high. The price difference is money in your pocket.

Here is a "freezer calendar" worked out to guide freezer owners in realizing the greatest possible savings (along with convenience, of course) from their freezers:

Although seasonal crop harvests vary with localities—in general, spring is the time to freeze and store pork, veal, broiling chickens, fish, asparagus, pineapple, some kinds of cherries, strawberries, rhubarb, peas, spinach and other greens, green beans, herbs.

The summer months—late June, July, August—are ideal for freezing beef, frying chickens, fish, seasonal berries, sweet corn, lima or shell beans, broccoli, brussels sprouts, cauliflower, apricots, some peaches, some greens and some tomatoes.

Lamb, seasonal fish and game, stewing and roasting chickens, squash, pumpkin, late garden vegetables, peaches, pears and plums, apples, grapes and other fruits are usually most economical in September and October.

November and December are ideal months for freezing pork, turkey, ducks, seasonal game, cranberries and late fruits. Beef, lamb, poultry, fish, and citrus fruits should have priority in January, February and early March.

Smaller Loads Wash Cleaner

Researchers found they got a cleaner wash if they used somewhat smaller loads than the manufacturer's rated capacity in all types of machines.

They recommend that you try to arrange to do one of your own washings in the type of machine you plan to buy.

Family needs vary from home to home, and a washer that would do an excellent job for one family may not fill the requirements of another. Be sure the one you select will meet all your needs.

Electric wall oven at convenient height has many advantages, notes Pete Stocks as he admires the modern kitchen in the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. Wragge, 273 King George Terrace.

Height of the oven makes it easy to lift food in and out, turn broiling meat over, and inspect food while it is cooking. This installation also allows for additional cupboard space underneath.

Switch on Current To Better Living

If you plan to make it a White Christmas with an all-electric kitchen, you're switching on the current to better living for your whole family.

There's automation beyond belief. There's beauty, too—and thrift.

Do you know just what you're getting in an electric kitchen? Designers and engineers have improved today's electric kitchen appliances so greatly that they are far ahead of what went into kitchens just a few years ago.

Take electric ranges. They offer clean, fast, dependable automatic cooking. New built-in models lend themselves to aesthetic kitchen design—a much wanted feature in today's homes. The oven can be installed in one location and the surface units in another, where ever most efficient and desirable.

Electric ranges now come with many other hitherto unheard-of features—such as ovens in which baking and broiling can be done at the same time, ovens equipped with rotisseries in addition to their automatic, controlled-heat features, surface units that fold back into the wall when not in use, ovens that can be raised or lowered mechanically to suit the height of the users.

There are remarkable innovations too in electric refrigerators: models which are installed on the wall and sectional models where the refrigerator and freezer section, in separate units, may be installed—high at counter level, mounted atop each other or beneath a work surface.

In addition, electric refrigerators now offer sliding and turning shelves for easy access to foods, built-in water and fruit-juice dispensers and other handy items.

For all the household utilities requiring hot water—and the figure is practically astronomical—there's the electric water heater. It supplies all the hot water you need, with safety, dependability and economy. It's easy to install and may be placed wherever is most convenient.

Washers and dryers come separately or as a unit—attractive, easily operated time-savers for the busy housewife.

When you think over just what your new electric kitchen will mean to you and your family in happier, healthier, better living, you'll be glad you made your White Christmas electric.

Family Bonds Firmer Than Ever Thanks to Mother's Free Time

Let's make it an old-fashioned Christmas this year, one with the whole family sharing in the joy of the holiday season. "Old-fashioned" doesn't mean "out of style." In fact, there has been a marked return in recent years to the traditional type of Christmas in which the family celebrates—and worships—together.

Whether it's gathering the evergreen tree from a forest or buying it at a store, whether it's planning a quiet but festive observance or entertaining the neighborhood—the family now enjoys doing it together more than ever.

ALL YEAR ROUND

Trick Beats This Problem

Users of dishwashers find their machines so efficient that they need to wash dishes only once or twice a day. But they have found that some dirty dishes stored in the washers might give trouble with stuck-on food like egg or cooked cereal.

Then an experienced user came up with a trick to beat the problem. When more dishes are loaded into the washer, turn the machine on for a minute or two without detergent. The dishes rinsed in this way were found to wash well when a load was accumulated and washed.

Why?

It's a paradox of our times that automation—an unhome-like word if there ever was one—is putting fresh meaning into family life.

With push-button equipment taking over many of the jobs that used to make the home-maker a drudge, she is freed to make many more personal contributions to the family welfare.

But modern appliances have their greatest appeal in making the kitchen the most lived-in room in the house.

To most home lovers, it's secondary that scientific advances have given them an almost unlimited staff of mechanical servants to do kitchen and laundry work efficiently and quickly with little human effort involved. What really matters to them is how the family is being reunited as perhaps never before.

FAMILY ROOM IS BACK

In line with this recognized trend, house planning has brought back the "family room." It's either a part of the kitchen area or next to it, separated only by room dividers or cabinets.

Gone are the cold, clinical looking kitchens in which the housewife stayed only long enough to get the work done—and practically nobody else ever entered. Now kitchens manned by silent, untiring appliances, are centres of family activity.

In many of the newest smaller homes being built, there are no dining rooms on the blueprints. Instead, big kitchens are dining rooms—and living rooms, too.

Kitchens now include laundry, sewing centre, hobby corner, workbench, children's play pen, food bar, breakfast nook—all blended into the decor and appliance layout with harmony and taste.

Again the kitchen is the heart of the home as it used to be in grandma's day, and on back in history. Home is where the heart is, the modern family is rediscovering.

So make it an old-fashioned—and new-fashioned—Christmas this year. Let the family have fun in the kitchen sharing the hundreds of happy things to do there.

The family can share, too, in its giving.

The best things come in big packages—modern kitchen appliances that make living happier for everyone.

They may arrive to the sound of sleighbells in the frosty, early morning air as Santa makes his rounds. Or the sound may be a truck's horn, as Santa's helper, your local appliance dealer, makes delivery. But in either case, the gift will make Christmas the gala occasion it should be.

When you unveil your new appliances this Yuletide, remember that they're more than just attractive, efficient work-savers. They're an investment in happiness for you and your whole family.

Value Goes Up

Although a home improvement project is most likely to be outlined with the family's own needs in mind, it also will affect the property's sale price should some change in plans put it on the market. Modern kitchens and laundries are proven sales makers for builders of new homes, and are equally effective in boosting the value of older dwellings.

Modern Beauty In the Kitchen Done With Gas

If you want your Christmas gift to be one that will keep on giving year after year, then get the word to Santa: "I want a gas kitchen."

You've picked the right year to do it, too. Now gas kitchens are the "new look" kitchens. There have never been handsomer kitchen settings using gas appliances in every conceivable way. These "new look" kitchens come equipped with gas appliances that are two and three-toned colored enamel and metallic finished, to be used in combination with color-coordinated cabinets. There are pink, yellow, blue, green, copper-tone, stainless steel and satin chrome, not to mention the old favorite, white.

AUTOMATIC CONTROLS
On top of this beauty, the newest automatic controls on gas appliances are something to make you a better homemaker and a leisure-time gal all in the same breath.

Take the gas range. To begin with they're cleaner, faster and more economical. Their newest features include automatic top burner heat controls, wider ovens, recessed griddles, meat thermometer. They are built-in, recessed, free-standing—take your choice.

Then there's the modern gas refrigerator. It gives you all of these wonderful features: automatic ice server, automatic defrosting, 10-year warranty and no moving parts.

And anyone who dislikes sudden wheezing noises will be delighted with the gas refrigerator's smooth, silent operation that maintains an even cold without any stop or start.

There's nothing to break down in a gas refrigerator, either. It has no motor, compressor belt, valves or other moving parts that turn, vibrate and grate against each other. Safety features, built right into the unit, include an automatic shut-off of the pilot in the event it goes out.

Another indispensable gas appliance is the water heater. If you've ever been in the middle of washing wishes and have the water give out, then you'll really appreciate the gas water heaters. In addition to providing you with all the hot water you need at the moment you need it, gas hot water heaters are now just as pretty as you please. They have the new look, too, coming in colors and shapes to fit your mood and kitchen decor.

CAN BE RECESSED
Now that you've got the hot water needed for getting clothes really white, consider the new gas automatic washer-dryer combination. It can be recessed into walls, built into unusual counter arrangements, or left free standing.

Or you can have the dryer as a single unit. There's no doubt that if you have automatic gas appliances in your kitchen you have the most completely modern equipment on the market.

And whether they're built-in or free-standing, they lend beauty to any kitchen setting. A modern gas kitchen is so convenient, beautiful and practical it makes woman even more of a paradox, to wit: She will want to spend more time than ever in it, but she will be able to spend less.

Handy Hot Water Fast, Automatic

Next to the housewife, the hardest-working occupant of any home is the water heater.

Day and night it labors away, producing hot water for hundreds of personal and household uses. If you have one of the new electric water heaters, you're in luck.

It has complete thermal insulation—top, bottom and sides. This reduces operation costs and avoids heating up the area in which it is installed.

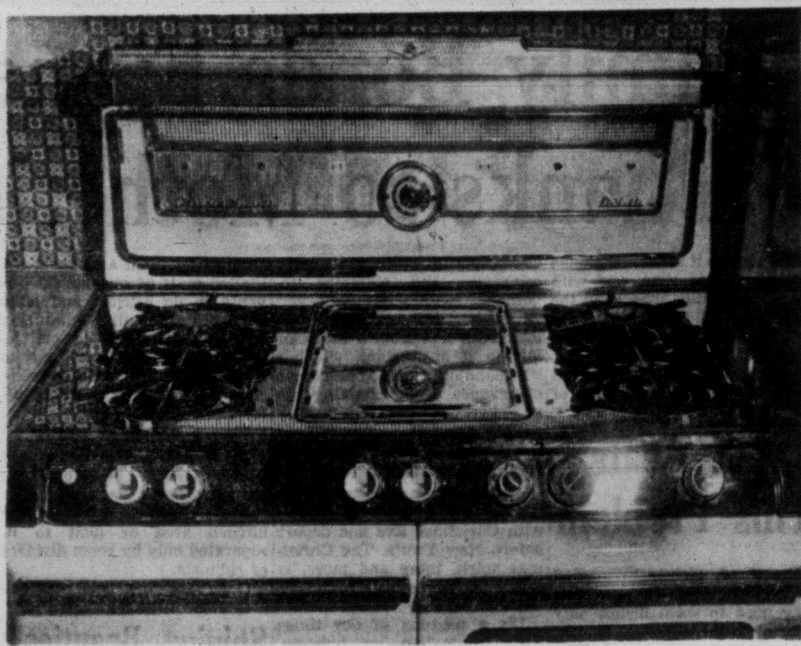

And you can install your water heater anywhere because there is no flue or vent connection needed. A counter-high model can be placed right next to the dishwasher, sink or clothes washer where much hot water is used. This is a practical spot for the heater, incidentally, because the water will stay hotter if it doesn't have to travel so far through the pipes to get where it's going.

Electric water heaters are available with quick recovery heating units. These supply hot water after draw-off at a faster rate and so provide increased hot-water service from the same size tank. For best results to fit your needs, consult your local utility or electrical contractor.

In addition to their dependability and thrift, electric water heaters are now shaped to fit in laundry rooms or in the kitchen. They match in color and in height, providing extra counter space. And no housewife ever has too much of that.

The water heater, which most people have taken for granted until their shower water suddenly turned ice cold, is perhaps the most important appliance in your home.

For many a family, the best White Christmas gift it could give itself would be an electric water heater.

Top burner controls on the new gas ranges work the same magic on top of the range as the now familiar oven temperature controls have been doing with baking and oven meals. Once the control dial is set for the needed cooking temperature, you may forget it—even the low, low temperatures needed for sauces and puddings.

Quick Heat Cheaper

Supposing you've decided the family should give itself a White Christmas gift—a much needed new gas water heater. Do you know what size to buy?

They range in size from 30 to 100 gallons. The size you buy should be determined by two things: The amount of hot water you need and the recovery capacity of the heater.

Recovery capacity means the ability of the heater to replenish hot water as fast as it's used. With a fast-recovery heater you can use a smaller tank. This will save you money on purchase price, installation, maintenance and operating costs. Besides, it will take up less space.

Many 30-gallon gas-fired water heaters will recover their entire capacity in about an hour. Gas water heaters will turn off and on automatically. And there is never any danger their hot water supply will be cut off by power failures or delivery curtailments.

There are many automatic gas tanks that have dial-like controls enabling you to obtain instantly the very high temperatures required for automatic dishwashing and laundering.

Gas heaters are equally at home in the kitchen, concealed in closets or shown counter-top height alongside other modern home appliances. Their "new look" colors make a big hit with housewives, too.

But the final factor in selecting the kind of water heater

EARLY WATER HEATER

One of the first known water heaters in history was used by a wealthy Pompeian 2,000 years ago. It was merely a water tank which circulated cold water through the hollow sides of a container filled with hot coals.

Tailored to Measure

The main advantage of a separate oven is that you can have it installed at a height that means maximum comfort, safety and convenience to you. How do you find exactly what that height is?

Researchers discovered that the convenience of a separate oven depends upon how easily you can lift food in and out, turn broiling meat over, and inspect cooking food.

After studies with 50 women, it was found that most could handle heavy loads such as a ham, a turkey or a large roast with least strain if the oven was at, or slightly below, their elbow height or "carrying level."

The researchers noted, however, that when the oven is placed low enough for comfort in lifting and turning food over, you may not be able to stand erect directly in front of the oven and see all of its contents. The Cornell researchers found two simple ways to avoid bending: either pull out the oven rack with the food on it, or just step back.

In general, they concluded, it is better to place your oven so that you do not have to lift too high, even though this means that you must adjust your body position for inspecting.

Gas Range as Helpful As Extra Pair of Hands

Want to be known as the best cook on the block and still spend less time in the kitchen than you used to?

If the answer is "yes," let it be hinted to the man of the house that a new gas range would make a mighty appreciated White Christmas gift. For it's the gas range that has special features more useful than a couple of extra hands, a mathematical genius and a whole new set of cooking appliances.

There's the foolproof automatic roast control. You don't have to figure out how long to cook the meat or poultry according to weight or degree of "doneness" you want. Just stick a probe into the meat, set the dial on the back of the instrument for "rare" or "well done" or somewhere in between. That's all. Meat done, oven turns off.

CONTROL EVERY PAN

Perhaps even more helpful in building your reputation as a superior cook is the thermostatic top-burner heat control. It turns every pan you've got into an automatically controlled cooking vessel. Once you turn to the proper dial setting (from 150 to 400 degrees) your top burner will never vary more than two degrees, no matter how long you keep the gas turned on. Now you can make those tricky sauces just right every time.

Broilers are in the front seat this year, too. You can have a broiler with 10 different settings, operated at the touch of a finger. You may select a three-way model that becomes a twin rotisserie or an adjustable high broiler or a deep-pan barbecue broiler.

And don't forget the built-in griddles.

If you have a special decorating plan, too, you needn't worry about a color clash. Gas range manufacturers got together with other appliance makers to co-ordinate colors. Now, without a quail, you can match cabinets and sink with the new range.

Little Space Needed Here

Completely automatic home laundry service can be provided in about 36 inches of wall space. The new two-in-one washer-and-dryer unit requires only one yard along the wall and does all the work of a separate washer and dryer. The double-duty units are hailed as great savers of time and energy.

Feel That Twinge, Dad? That's Your Conscience

Hey Pop! This story is for you.

Do you feel a vague uneasiness every night, right after dinner and just when you settle down in an easy chair to read the paper?

Do you know why? Your conscience is bothering you.

Even though she never complains, you know your wife out there in the kitchen is dog tired.

Deep down in your heart you know you ought to be out there helping her. That's why you can't really enjoy taking it easy in a soft chair reading the paper.

The obvious answer is an automatic dishwasher.

Now before you can sell your wife on the idea there are important questions to answer. Just how much time will a dishwasher save? Will it get the dishes cleaner and more sanitary than hand washing? Does it step up water consumption?

You can tell her that these and a horde of other questions were answered by a study of hand versus automatic electric dishwashing methods.

Most dramatic finding of a study was that an automatic electric dishwasher cuts dishwashing time by about half—from about an hour and a quarter to an average of 35 minutes a day.

You might add that dishes washed in a dishwasher were found definitely to be more sanitary than those washed by hand, with a much lower bacteria count, indicating an important contribution to family health. This is because recommended water temperatures for household dishwashers are hotter than the hands can stand in the dishpan.

Another finding of the study indicated that there is less dish breakage with an automatic electric dishwasher. As far as water consumption is concerned, it was found that about eight gallons a day are used in a dishwasher. This is less than needed to fill a deep sink.

As an added point, remind your wife that automatic electric dishwashers have come a long way to reach their present efficiency of action and attractive appearance.

As a clincher, tell your wife that today's dishwashers show increased capacity—many models will hold complete service for eight. Improved drain devices and automatic timers assure longer service and better operation. Modern automatic electric dishwashers take most dirty dishes without pre-rinsing, and with the use of the proper detergent will get dishes and table silver sparkling clean. These machines do pots and pans, too, with a minimum of preparation.

Forget Weather and Damp Drudgery—Leave Washday to a Clever Machine

Lots of smart housewives hanging the wash out on the line and then watching to see if it would rain or blow up a duststorm—now all that precious time is theirs to spend on a facial.

Instead of the back-breaking washday chores they used to suffer through every Blue Monday, they now load in the weekly wash, add detergent, push a button—and go off to shop, to visit or see a movie.

Refreshed from the outing, they return to find clean, dry clothes waiting for them.

The time they used to spend

The electric washer-dryer combinations wash, rinse and fluff-dry (or damp-dry) in one continuous operation. Some even choose the correct amount of water necessary to wash each load efficiently. You can get separate washer and dryer units, too, if you prefer.

Tall or Short, Big or Little Refrigerators Fit in Anywhere

Refrigerators are for raiding, when there are small fry in the house. The young raiders in this picture are Robin and Ricky Harris, sons of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Harris, 2208 Allenby. New refrigerator models are designed with an eye to greater convenience for the housewife, with such features as sliding and turning shelves for easy access to foods, and door compartments which store large quantities of foods.

Modern electric refrigerators combine mechanical perfection with convenient, ample storage to give the housewife food preservation beyond her fondest hopes.

There's beauty, too, with attractive styles and colors to harmonize with any decor. Every year, new features are added or old tried-and-true features re-arranged to provide greater health and happiness for the whole family.

New designing has given the refrigerator greater flexibility as kitchen furniture. It can be free-standing, built-in or stacked-on. It can, in short, be placed anywhere.

Many homemakers like their refrigerators set flush in the wall for a more spacious kitchen. Sectional models of refrigerator and freezer units may be placed side by side at counter level, mounted on top of each other or put beneath a work surface.

A combination refrigerator-freezer can provide adequate space for both refrigeration and frozen foods in the space formerly needed for the refrigerator alone. This is made possible by technological improvements, such as more effective insulation resulting in thinner cabinet walls.

Sizes range from small models for one or two persons to the huge installations for large families or people who live in the suburbs and don't shop too often.

Most manufacturers offer important features like automatic defrosting, choice of color and freezer compartment in the refrigerator. In most of them, too, you can usually find butter-keepers, egg racks, vegetable crispers, roll-out and swing-door baskets and shelves. The freezing unit may be in the bottom, to make more frequently used items easier to reach.

There are all sorts of accessories like cold-water dispensers which operate without opening the door, twin juice fountains and ice-ejector assemblies where the ice tray is inserted in the slot and the cubes drop free into a server bin below.

There are sliding and turning shelves for easy access to foods and door compartments which store large quantities of foods.

Dream Homes Coming Fast

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK (AP) — Step into your electronic life and home of tomorrow:

Entire walls of your house glow with light, bright or dim, even in colors to suit your mood. You sleep in a bed without covers, but stay as warm or cool as you like.

Youngsters' muddy shoes are magically cleaned at the front door before their feet touch a rug. You live in a dust-free house, with the inside climate best adjusted to your health. Your dishes, automatically washed, can be automatically put away.

At the football game in an open stadium you stay warm despite icy winds because of radiant heat. You drive there and back by car without traffic tieups.

When you're ill, an electronic doctor helps find the trouble.

At office and factory and farm, your job is easier, less tedious, you work a shorter day and week.

These are some of the innovations promised by the seemingly magic wand of electronics. They are predictions by scientists from more than a dozen leading industries and laboratories engaged in electronics research.

Some of these new things and methods are far off, dream children as yet. Others are already near at hand. They are coming from basic research, from improved transistors and tubes, discoveries in solid-state physics, new materials, methods, imagination, and hard work.

From their look ahead, the scientists see these potential changes:

Entire walls or ceilings are panels glowing with soft, luminescent light, of any desired intensity, in colors warm or cool, gay or soothing. And silent electronic refrigerating panels can cool or heat rooms.

Bed Without Covers

At night you sleep encircled by warming rays from a radio-frequency canopy, needing no covers, in a bed that doesn't need making in the morning. The radiant canopy folds away above the headboard. Similar devices or special blankets could keep you cool in summer.

You may clean house with an electrostatic wand waved over furniture to seize dust. Or have electronic precipitators which prevent dust from circulating in the first place. At the door is a special chamber which quickly cleans muddy shoes.

In a special little room sits your own electronic "brain." You give it instructions the night before, putting a day's program on tape. Each family member can be awakened at the proper hour, to his favorite music; dinner can be started automatically at a set hour; a facsimile newspaper delivered to the breakfast table, the car warmed up in winter... and the "brain" could take care of unexpected things, like melting snow, fall off the driveway.

Your TV screen is like a picture frame on the wall, bringing you programs in full color from anywhere in the world. By your own TV system, you can watch the children playing in the yard, or see who's at the front door.

You're doctor may use an automatic clinician device which makes simultaneous readings of temperatures, heartbeat, blood pressure, and correlate them—and compare them with findings of past check-ups—to help him in his diagnosis.

TV and electronics can help prevent—or untangle—traffic snarls, as well as speed safe traffic control over airports. Some super-highways may become automatic—control towers will take over the driving, braking, acceleration of your car, and removal of disabled cars. Electronic sensitizers could automatically brake you down if you're driving too fast on rough roads or curves.

Gas Ranges Now in Color

Gas ranges now are made with enamel surfaces in black, blue, brown, copper-tone, grey, green, pink, red, tan, white and yellow. Metallic finishes come in antique bronze, antique copper, bright chrome, satin chrome and stainless steel.

Surveys show that yellow and green are favorite colors. Stainless steel works beautifully with any color.

Dog Lovers Protest Vivisection

CALGARY (AP)—A proposed laboratory for vivisection of animals from the city pound has Calgary dog lovers in an uproar.

Even before the proposal was made public, four persons wrote city council protesting the laboratory idea. Until then it had been a secret closely-guarded by a group of doctors and the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

Terry Adlard, SPCA president here, said Friday "we were planning to send letters to members next week asking them to protest such a move when it came up."

It is not the first proposal for such a laboratory in Calgary. Two years ago a similar idea stirred up a controversy.

Administrator J. A. D. Thomson of the Colonel Belcher Military Hospital, where the laboratory was proposed previously, said the institution no longer entertains such ideas.

ROME (AP)—The Hungarian tragedy has knocked Communist strength in Western Europe to a post-war low, a 12-nation Associated Press survey showed Sunday.

Suppression of the Hungarian freedom fighters by Russian guns disillusioned many who believed in the Communist dream.

Thousands of west European Communists have turned in their party cards in Italy, Britain, Austria, Sweden, Switzerland, Holland and Denmark. Rank and file defections have been fewer in France, West Germany, Norway, Belgium and Finland. The reason, AP correspondents explained, was that Red parties in those countries already were down to hard core.

Fellow travellers are breaking away all across the continent with angry denunciations of Soviet action. The most important defection has been that of Pietro Nenni's Italian Socialist party which polled nearly 3½ million votes in the last general election and which had toed the Communist line.

Prized Sympathizers Denounce Russians
The Soviet cause also lost many of its most prized sympathizers—writers, artists and other intellectuals whose fame served Communist propaganda well. Among those who have denounced Russian imperialism in Hungary are French playwright-author Jean Paul Sartre, Swiss artist Hans Erni, Italian novelist-painter Carlo Levi and Italian artist Renato Guttuso.

Circulation of Communist newspapers has slumped in France, Britain, Austria, Sweden, Denmark and Italy.

The London Daily Worker lost a quarter of its editorial staff and

Down to Hard Core Already in France
France—The war in Algeria, de-Stalinization and Hungary have brought the Communist party to a postwar low. The effects of Hungary on the rank and file are hard to judge since the party was down to something like a hard core already, although it still has 150 votes in the Assembly. Intellectuals have been quitting in significant numbers.

Britain—The small British de-Stalinization, is undergoing a new crisis. Six of 12 Communist members of the Basel cantonal parliament quit. The entire local party in a Basel suburb resigned.

Sweden—About 1,000 of the 10,000 to 15,000 Swedish Communists have quit. The Communist position inside the trade unions is shaken.

Norway—Norwegian Communist party chairman Emil Loevlien avowed a party split by declaring the day after Soviet intervention in Hungary that "the Norwegian Communist party is opposed to foreign armed intervention to internal affairs of any country," thus disassociating the party from the Russian action.

Belgium—The depth of the reaction among Belgian Communists is hard to gauge but there are indications that defections among fellow-travellers have been widespread.

New Planet Named 'Geographos'
PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Astronomers have named a recently discovered small planet "Geographos" in honor of the National Geographic Society. Dr. Ira Sprague Bowen, director of the Mount Wilson and Palomar Observatories, announced today. Geographos is of great scientific interest, he said, because it comes closer to the earth than any other celestial object having a known orbit, except the moon.

DISPLAYED U.K. NEWS—MOSCOW SCHOOL CLOSED

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—Trade Minister Victor Larock said Sunday he had learned from reliable private sources that the University of Moscow was closed for a day after students had displayed copies of British Broadcasting Corporation bulletins on Hungarian events.

Firecracker Prankster Panics KKK

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—A crowd of approximately 1,000 shivering men and women almost panicked Saturday night when a prankster exploded a firecracker at a Ku Klux Klan rally.

Hundreds of spectators jumped over fences and almost knocked down the Klan speaker in chasing after the unidentified persons who tossed the noisemaker. The prankster escaped.

While the crowd roared approval, three crosses were burned across the speedway oval at the motor speedway where the Klansmen assembled. One large cross was flanked by two smaller ones. Two speakers addressed the rally—the Rev. Alvin Horn of Talladega, grand dragon of the Alabama Klan, and a second man identified only as "Mr. X."

Horn, a Baptist minister, alternated in criticizing Justice Hugo Black of the Supreme Court, Jews, Catholics, Negroes and Gov. James E. Folsom of Alabama.

Insisting the Klan he heads is "peaceable and lawful," Horn told his followers that if they "go out on your own and incriminate yourself, then you will have to fight us in court."

But almost in the same breath, he declared:

"The way I feel about niggers who want to integrate in education is this—they don't want an education. They want a funeral."

That brought a shout from the crowd. "Let's go get Rev. K. Jr.," Negro Baptist minister and leader of the long Negro boycott against segregated city buses in Montgomery.

Sprawling Road Network In Nitinat 'Inland Empire'

By DON INGHAM, Times Island Editor

For years and years—in fact, ever since the logging truck booted the railway locomotive from its lofty throne as prime mover of "green gold"—logging companies have been constructing a vast network of roads over most of Vancouver Island.

When photographer Irving Strickland and myself took a trip a few days ago to the Nadira Mines Ltd. copper claim on Nadira Mountain, diamond driller Tref Beauchamp drove us through just one of the many inland empires that have been opened up by the loggers.

This was the valley of the Nitinat River, which extends in a long curve from a point south-east of Port Alberni, past the western end of Cowichan Lake, to drain into the tidal waters of Nitinat Lake.

B.C. Forest Products Ltd. has extensive operations in the valley which supply logs for its big mill at Youbou, and MacMillan and Bloedel Ltd. is busy constructing roads through great areas of timber that will be sent by rail to its Franklin River camp on the Alberni Canal.

It is reached by driving eight miles past the village of Lake Cowichan to Honeycomb Bay, where private road built by B.C. Forest Products closes the 12-mile link with Cayce—formerly Camp Six—on the shore of Cowichan Lake.

Another six miles, some of it on the lake shore and past the extreme western end, brings you to Nitinat Camp, or "Camp Three."

Roads Range From 'Fair' to 'Terrible'

Nadira is 16 miles further on, over road that alternates between fair and terrible, where the only vehicles used are those with four-wheel drive.

Some of this road follows the grade built in 1913 by the Canadian National Railway that was to extend from Cowichan Lake to Alberni. The project was abandoned with the outbreak of the First World War, but the grade existed and now is part of a main thoroughfare to the camps in the area.

The timber, especially that on Nadira Mountain, is the type one often reads about but seldom sees. The Nadira area belongs to MacMillan & Bloedel and contains rank after rank of stately Douglas fir up to seven feet in diameter and clear of branches for 100 feet.

Hemlocks are as symmetrical as marble pillars, and even the cedars look less straggly than usual.

Mixed Blessing of Logging Illustrated

The valley certainly indicates to what extent logging is a mixed blessing. Without the logging there would have been no road to the view, and there would have been no view if the trees had been left standing. But with the trees down the far distant scenery is grand, albeit the foreground is bleak.

The time is coming when the territory will be sufficiently "civilized" for Sunday drivers, but it is not here yet, even if access was permitted.

Road surfaces are too rough, markings too vague for strangers, distances between habitations too vast, and the life just a little too rugged for those not used to the outdoors.

Take the case of John Kleier, 50, a prospector for Nadira, who came back to his lonely cabin one night about a month ago to find three black bears in residence. Armed with nothing but fuses and primers, he managed to drive the three from his cabin, only to spend the rest of the night trying to keep a fourth and very angry bear out!

As a result of this escapade, the company built him a sturdy, bear-proof trailer as a mobile home that will permit him to ignore the would-be intruders.

Complete run-down on campaign platforms for 10 Saanich council candidates will be given next Monday night at 8 in Gordon Head Community Hall.

The meeting, under sponsorship of the community association and a group of interested ratepayers, is the first large-scale gathering planned before next month's election.

Reeve Arthur Ash will be chairman and will introduce candidates. A question period will follow.

600 Feet Drilled On Ripple Rock Job

CAMPBELL RIVER—Ripple Rock, navigation menace in the heart of Seymour Narrows, 10 miles north of here, faces only two more years of existence before the world's largest intentional industrial blast will knock it to smithereens.

Contractors have tunnelled 600 of the 2,000 feet of horizontal distance to the base of the rock, and by November, 1958, expect to have 750 tons of nitro in place in its granite heart.

When it explodes it will mark the end of a $2,500,000 job.

Contractors hope the blast will knock the top 50 feet off the rock, and give a full 60 feet of clearance over the top of the rock at low water. The terms of the contract call for 40 feet of clearance.

JOINT EFFORT

Work is being done jointly by Northern Construction Co. and J. W. Stewart Ltd., and Boyles Brothers Drilling Ltd., and has been under way since November last year.

In that time the contractors have drilled a vertical shaft to a depth of 572 feet, and started

ISLAND DIGEST

Sidney Fire Problems Subject of Meeting

SIDNEY—A public meeting to discuss house numbering and fire protection problems on the Saanich peninsula will be held here Wednesday.

Speakers will include Brahm Wiesman, chairman of the Capital Region Planning Board; W. R. Cannon, North Saanich building inspector; a post office representative, and fire chiefs of Saanich, Central Saanich and North Saanich.

The fire chiefs will discuss proposed changeover of Sidney and Keating telephone exchanges, which would make the present Central and North Saanich alarms systems obsolete, since they depend on a telephone operator sounding the alarm.

An alternative to be discussed will be to send all calls through Saanich fire hall, where an operator is on duty at all times.

He in turn would sound the alarms in the areas concerned.

Tentative plans to enlarge View Royal Community Hall to make room for a new fire engine, club rooms and dancing are under discussion by the community association.

At the annual meeting of the association, held in conjunction with a special meeting of View Royal fire trustees, approval was given fire chief A. E. Beasley for purchase of an $18,000 fire truck equipped with hose.

An addition to the hall would cost an estimated $11,000 and would be primarily to house the new truck.

If proposals are followed, the upper floor would be devoted to community social life.

The new fire fighting vehicle, built by La France, would replace the community's present nine-year-old truck, which would be retained for supplementary use.

Financing probably would be by a tax-levy spread over 10 years. Increase in taxes would be offset, it is hoped, by a drop in fire insurance rates.

New association president is Jack Flower, with vice-president R. G. Pearce and two-year directors Mrs. C. K. Barlow, Alfred McConnell and Leslie Fletcher. Pro tem secretary is Mrs. Dorothy Walton, who will be replaced by an executive-appointed secretary later.

Ald. Smith heads a two-man city council committee set up to investigate inequalities in the trade licence schedule of fees. He says larger businesses here are paying much less than in other cities of the same size.

Chamber vice-president Hugh Stephen gained support of the chamber directors Friday with a motion asking the city not to be encouraged to take hasty action on changing licence fees.

Mr. Stephen said "distasteful means are being used to bring this matter before the public." Ald. Smith objects.

He said he is running for another year on council, "... for the express purpose of correcting this present system which is in fact a violation of the democratic principle that taxes are imposed on the ability to pay. Sometimes the truth is distasteful, but it is not nearly as repugnant as methods employed to scuttle ... attempts to rectify ... the present system."

$11,000 Addition Proposed For Hall at View Royal

Tentative plans to enlarge View Royal Community Hall to make room for a new fire engine, club rooms and dancing are under discussion by the community association.

At the annual meeting of the association, held in conjunction with a special meeting of View Royal fire trustees, approval was given fire chief A. E. Beasley for purchase of an $18,000 fire truck equipped with hose.

An addition to the hall would cost an estimated $11,000 and would be primarily to house the new truck.

If proposals are followed, the upper floor would be devoted to community social life.

The new fire fighting vehicle, built by La France, would replace the community's present nine-year-old truck, which would be retained for supplementary use.

Financing probably would be by a tax-levy spread over 10 years. Increase in taxes would be offset, it is hoped, by a drop in fire insurance rates.

New association president is Jack Flower, with vice-president R. G. Pearce and two-year directors Mrs. C. K. Barlow, Alfred McConnell and Leslie Fletcher. Pro tem secretary is Mrs. Dorothy Walton, who will be replaced by an executive-appointed secretary later.

Ald. Smith heads a two-man city council committee set up to investigate inequalities in the trade licence schedule of fees. He says larger businesses here are paying much less than in other cities of the same size.

Chamber vice-president Hugh Stephen gained support of the chamber directors Friday with a motion asking the city not to be encouraged to take hasty action on changing licence fees.

Mr. Stephen said "distasteful means are being used to bring this matter before the public." Ald. Smith objects.

He said he is running for another year on council, "... for the express purpose of correcting this present system which is in fact a violation of the democratic principle that taxes are imposed on the ability to pay. Sometimes the truth is distasteful, but it is not nearly as repugnant as methods employed to scuttle ... attempts to rectify ... the present system."

Rainbow Logs Burn Brightly With Multi-Colored Flames

By PENNY SAVER

Throw another log on the fire. For an extra bright and cheery effect for now and during the Christmas season, enjoy the sight of multi-colored flames, the result of a novel rainbow firelog. As the log burns, flames of all different hues flicker, and each glow catches your eye. Sitting in front of a fire watching the flames can be very restful. The logs would make interesting gifts, at 55 cents each.

Having trouble arranging flowers? A wire mesh flower holder with a suction peg that fits in any section of the mesh will solve your problems as it has mine. The mesh is actually a long, tubular strip that can be coiled to fit any size bowl, or stretched out for room decorating.

The tube can be fastened to the bowl or to a wall with the suction peg, and greenery, seasonal decorations or flowers fastened in neatly, securely and attractively. Any smooth surface, such as some walls and mirrors and such is a perfect base for the peg. The mesh holders are 59 cents.

For Christmas festivities, of course, your wardrobe will need a revamping, for you'll want to look your best. An inexpensive, yet very smart addition can be a black bengaline silk straight skirt that has back interest... a button on panel lined with red bengaline. For a simple style, remove the drape, which has a top pleum effect. Teamed with an evening blouse for the special occasion, this skirt will serve you well. It's priced at $8.98.

Cut glass ash trays with silver rims would make good "little gifts" for someone on your gift list. Buy them singly or in sets. The silver, a simple design, makes it possible to use these trays with a silver cigarette box, making an attractive set. The ash trays are $1.50 each.

A set of dainty matching ash trays and match holder is patterned with light grey and pink fish or pastel leaves. Oriental-made the three-piece set is just $1.95.

LOUISE DAVIS

On Etiquette

ABOUT WEDDING GIFTS: Must wedding gifts be standard things such as silver, crystal, china, etc.? Or may one send such things as bed and table linen?

Louise Davis answers: The standard kind, such as you mention, are not musts by any means, but are generally more popular as selections. Gifts can be anything at all providing they are items which a couple can use and cherish long into the future.

It is always wise to put some thought into gift purchases. When thinking of table or bed linen, it is a good idea to consider whether or not a bride has already acquired linens by her own "hope chest" purchases, or by way of showers or engagement gifts.

ABOUT A HOLIDAY TEA FOR TEEN-AGE GIRLS: I have a niece coming to visit us for part of the Christmas holidays and plan to have a group of teen-age girls in for an afternoon party. Ordinary soft drinks don't seem very partyish and I don't believe that young people care for afternoon tea. Would you suggest something appropriate.

Louise Davis answers: How about a fruit punch which can be dressed up to look "holiday-ish"? Most cook books contain various punch recipes. Hot chocolate is another drink that would be appropriate at that time of the year. With either of these you can serve cookies, cake and salted nuts. If you happen to feel extravagantly festive, you could augment this outlay of refreshments with canapes.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

New 'Fair Lady' Fashions Call for Special Make-Up

"My Fair Lady," the great Broadway hit, has had a far reaching effect on current styles. This winter faces will be framed in sparkling satins, white fur, misty floating veils, huge Edwardian roses, ribbons, jewels and bows. Clothes are elegant and extravagant this season.

It seems to me that such garments cry for special make-up. Therefore, I went to Max Factor, advisor to the Hollywood stars, for his opinion. Mr. Factor said, "There will be more beautiful and young looking women over 40 during this 'Fair Lady' fashion season than in years." He feels that the make-up designed for these fashions is so time-subtracting that women will use it for several years to come.

This make-up is more feminine. It will have more rose in it. Rouge will be used much more than it has been for years. Here is some advice from Mr. Factor.

Choose your foundation make-up on the pale side of the color chart but be sure it has a touch of rose in the blend. A small amount of rose in pale foundation make-up removes the chalk-line, age-making look and adds a true glow of youth to the older face.

The most transparent and glowing foundation make-up is the liquid type with natural high fidelity colors. Some of these have a softening ingredient which dispels the lines caused by dryness. Rouge is a must with the new 'Fair Lady' look. Liquid or cream rouge in the color most flattering to you should be an important part of your make-up.

Do not try to give your complexion a sheen. The "Fair Lady" look calls for a matte eye make-up, look again to be sure that you have enough rouge on. You may not have applied a sufficient amount at first. If you feel you need more, use dry rouge this time. With your "Fair Lady" clothes and your "Fair Lady" make-up, you will feel more feminine and glamorous than you have in a long time. These fashions are most flattering!

At the very last, after you have completed your lip and

Hospitalization Brings Avis in Contact With England's 'Happy Breed'

Editor's Note: Compelled by a slight illness to take hospitalization for a few days during her visit in England, Mrs. Paddy Walton managed to find "something of interest" even in a hospital. She has sent this column on for our readers.

By AVIS WALTON

The hospital in East Dulwich is not as mechanistically efficient nor as antiseptically clean as ours in Victoria, but I suspect there is far less waste. They provide free handkerchief tissues, change sheets and nightgowns once a week, barring emergency, but no paper serviettes, with meals. I was amused to find everything loudly marked LCC (London County Council) even the nightgowns.

I was in a big ward (over 25 beds) and found that money would not buy a more private accommodation. In fact, money did not buy this for me at all (mine, that is).

I asked the doctor, "What is all this going to cost me?" and he answered, "Nothing." Hospitalization in England is nationalized.

There is a "Happy Breed" air of cheeriness and friendliness in the ward... patients jolly each other along and help each other.

Kathleen, from County Cork, has the broadest Irish brogue and a naughty twinkle in her eye. She has a nephew on a chicken ranch in Victoria whom she wants me to look up. Mary, two beds over, is a real Cockney, and has been ill many months. She kept our end of the ward in fits of laughter for an hour one evening making ribald comments on some of the personal indignities to which people are subjected in the hospital. And in all seriousness I heard her high and kindly voice say to the wee body in the bed next to her "no, really, dear, you don't look your age at all, specially when you get your 'air curled and your teeth in'."

"NOT AWF"

Beside me is a dear old soul of 87, bright, frail, weary, but game. When the doctors were doing their rounds she leaned over confidentially and said, "I wouldn't like to 'ave me 'usband a doctor."

"Why not?" I asked. "Wouldn't like 'im looking at all these 'ere other women," she sniffed.

Up-patients help to make beds, serve tea, arrange flowers, do many of the jobs our hospital aides do.

SHES BLIND

Connie looks like a small female gnome, she always wears a jolly expression. She is white haired, and has a figure like an inverted pudding bowl. She is blind in one eye and has retarded vision in the other. She is forever laughing, and everyone in the ward helps to guide her around tables and chairs by saying "watch it!" Turn left now, that's right, love.

Connie has lost her job as a pianist for a dancing school by her protracted illness.

The variety of Old Country accents are like different notes on the same delightful piano.

Cynthia, a slender beauty from Wales, is a student nurse and a young imp. She can mimic any superior in the hospital.

She is accustomed to swimming all year round in Wales, even breaking through frozen spray on the shore, to get to the water. I suggested she try the Strait of Juan de Fuca, but when she heard our water is only about 48, she shook her head. "Too warm for me," says Cynthia.

She would really love to visit Canada. "It might even be worth the risk of putting up with our unhealthy central heating," she said.

I found English coffee strange, so Cynthia bought me an instant variety and brought me my own jug of hot water. She and all of them in the ward did everything to make me happy.

HEAD DOCTOR

When it gets cold in the hospital they pile on more and more heavy worn-out blankets. Anyone who asks for a hot-water bottle is a sissy or from North America.

Rank and protocol are strictly enforced, and when the head doctor comes around everyone, including patients, are at an electric high tension. "I get all choked up in me throat like," confessed one of the patients.

I was prepared for something forbidding, but he turned out to be an extremely nice chap in a blue serge suit, who certainly knew his business. A mass sigh fluttered through the ward when he left.

OWN OPINIONS

There was gravity in the eyes that read the headlines about Suez, and weary headshaking. Bits of conversation went like this:

"I shouldn't like to be in Eden's shoes."

"Good for the Hungarians, that's showing the Russians."

"Gateskill may be right, yet I remember when Eden resigned over Chamberlain. You can be too soft."

"That Marilyn Monroe better watch it if ever she gets near a nursing baby!"

"I don't think our Queen should 'ave to shake hands with a proper fool like that!"

"Aw, poor Queen, she must get tired of meeting big pots all the time. Let her have some fun I say."

They don't harp upon the war, though they are not forgetting it. There is no smell of fear in the ward o. mothers and grandmothers.

A tall, dark, black-bearded curate from St. Barnabas Church visits regularly, in flowing black cape and garb.

Best day in the ward is Saturday, when the children are allowed to visit their mothers for an hour. Bouncing babies, toddlers and teen-agers dance into the ward like the voices of spring. There is laughter, gurgling, babies are passed about and admired and adored.

When the bell sounded to leave, Mary, our Cockney comedienne, was hugged and hugged by her two pink-cheeked little girls. When they finally

New Members Join IODE Chapter

Two new members, Mrs. M. Hutton and Mrs. B. Whillans were received into Royal Roads Chapter, IODE, at a meeting held at the home of Mrs. W. G. Beevers, Regent, Mrs. V. H. V. Sheppard, presided.

It was decided to send $25 to the Korean Projects Fund and $5 to the Save the Children Fund. Mrs. J. F. C. Blowey reported the chapter's adopted school at Harris Creek had been closed, and the meeting approved the selection of the three-room school at Port Renfrew as the adopted school. The sum of $20 was allotted the school for supplying books and equipment.

Mrs. Teng, Empire and World Affairs convener, gave a paper on work in Korea and the Suez situation. A discussion followed. Mrs. A. McLure reported the monthly visit had been made to Veterans' Hospital and treats taken to two adopted patients. The chapter is purchasing warm children's clothing and knitting sweater and socks to complete the 100 articles for service at home and abroad. Mrs. B. T. Shaw was appointed "Echoes" convener.

Wiedeman-Bousfield Wedding Vows in St. John's Church

In a ceremony in St. John's Anglican Church last Friday evening, Miss Muriel Bousfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bousfield, 1529 Westall Avenue, exchanged wedding vows with David Emerson Wiedeman, son of Mr. and Mrs. V. Wiedeman, Edmonton, Alta. Canon George Biddle officiated at the ceremony. White and pink carnations were placed on the altar, and baskets of mauve and white chrysanthemums completed the floral setting.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was groomed in a ballerina-length dress of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle. The mandarin neckline was trimmed with iridescent sequins, and the long sleeves tapered into lily points at the wrists. Her colonial bridal bouquet was of pink rosebuds and pale blue carnations with touches of white tulle.

Maid of honor, Miss Barbara Bousfield; bridesmatron, Mrs. Maureen Bousfield and bridesmaid, Miss Betty McGinnis were groomed identically in pale blue brocaded satin princess style dresses fashioned with full skirts and scooped necklines. They wore feather headpieces and carried colonial bouquets of pink carnations with white tulle.

The groom had Frank Wiedeman as best man; ushers were Frank Bousfield and Keith Ames.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Golden Slipper Ballroom, where a three-tier square wedding cake centred the bride's table. Pink rosebuds in silver vases completed the table decoration. Toast to the bride was proposed by Percy Thorp.

Assisting in receiving guests were Mrs. Bousfield in a navy sheath dress with rose hilt and gloves, and Mrs. Ann Soper, grandmother, in a blue-grey dress with rose hat and gloves. Both had deep pink rosebud corsages. Leaving for a honeymoon trip to Vancouver and into Washington, the bride wore a pale blue sheath dress with a squirrel jacket and matching accessories.

WHAT'S THE OUTLOOK

For mortgage money in 1957 will there be mortgages for new construction? How much? And other questions are in many people's minds today. We will guess that mortgages will be available but interest rates will be higher, as may most justly be expected. That's why your home is valuable, especially if your mortgage rate is 5% or so. It pays to improve your home and make it more valuable with an extra bedroom, room in attic or basement, new kitchen cupboards, floor, new paint, new painting, new doors, closets, etc. Even furnace, plumbing or electrical work can be included. Do the work yourself or call in a professional. We advance all materials required and you repay in one convenient monthly payment. We carry your account confidentially and our low service charges have never been increased. Call us today, let us help you with your ideas.

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

TUESDAY, NOV. 27, 1956

"The Stars Impel... They do not compel! What you make of your life is largely up to you."

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)—This is your day to stop racing around in all directions to decide the principles and precepts under which you will operate in the future. Take a good look at your job and your companions. Don't take the yourself down further unless you believe in them.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)—Now you can discuss with co-investors, ambitious associates, personal attachments just where you are headed and how you want the relationship to develop in detail in the future. Bring out the fact you enjoy working with them for more gain.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—This is your day to look into all contracts, deals, understandings and agreements, especially those applying to your home or family or property. You can iron out whatever does not please anyone concerned and arrive at fine, better arrangement.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21)—Work is the core of your life at present. Forget emotional entanglements in solving the way you want your office, home, car, sales, purchases, surroundings to be in the future. Then put into effect at once. Stop putting off. Be dynamic, alert.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)—Your heart interest is the centre and core of your being. It's best to stop having so much pride and take account of situations exactly as they are. Then you will find you are much better off than you'd imagined. Get your hair fixed later.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)—Now it's necessary you use all that special talent of yours to get your home in such shape and style that you have real peace and contentment there. Every single item can be rightly placed so you feel secure, satisfied. Dump ash trays.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23)—This is your day to huddle and confer with all associates, kin, neighbors, business contacts, social groups, congenial companions to arrive at working agreements for future work. Be as personal as you like. Tell them what you want. Listen also.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21)—You can open up new sources of revenue for yourself today. But it's also necessary that you quietly study all factors of them if you wish to get the true picture of the big potentials for increased income. Be open-minded to larger assets.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—This is your day to take a good look at where you are headed. You can see where you may be missing the boat, but you can also clearly perceive those who are true friends and really have your interest at heart. Work along with them.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19)—You've been working so much on practical matters that you've lost sight of some of the principles, worthwhile daydreams, bigness of projects originally yours. Revert to former thoughts and see if you are living up to them. Then expand.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 to Feb. 19)—This is your day to be direct in stating exactly what you want to your staunch supporters, ambitious allies, firm friends. They are willing to give you a big boost provided they feel your aims are big enough to be worthy of their talents.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)—Decide your long-range ambitions of a public or worldly nature. Then go directly to most powerful personages you know and state exactly what these are. You get the backing you want if you have approached from right attack. Be outgoing.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TUESDAY...

Tuesday's child is one of those very intelligent youngsters who will always have to know the reason why, the motive in back of anything you state or any request that you make. Otherwise he will see by whatever means are at his or her hand to gain this information, so you might as well tell early about "the birds and the bees." ## Kadar Gov't Labels Mindszenty 'Fascist'

BUDAPEST (AP) — Janos Kadar's government opened an attack Sunday on Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty, Roman Catholic primate of Hungary.

The cardinal, released from Communist imprisonment in Hungary three weeks ago, moved into the U.S. Legation here after the Russians launched their Nov. 4 attack to crush the anti-Moscow rebellion which nearly succeeded.

The Kadar government newspaper Nepszabadsag charged Sunday, the cardinal "is a typical representative of Fascism." It declared the cardinal was rescued from imprisonment by Maj. Antal, described as the son of Viscount Pallavicini, "well-known figure of the 1919 counter-revolution."

Nepszabadsag said Maj. Pallavicini changed his name and "pretended to be a follower of people's democracy," but in reality the "counter-revolutionary forces" wanted to use Mindszenty as a political leader by pushing aside Imre Nagy.

Nagy has been removed from his sanctuary in the Yugoslav Embassy by treachery and sent either to prison or exile in Romania by the Russians.

The East German Communist party organ Neues Deutschland said Sunday former Hungarian premier Imre Nagy and his party enjoy unrestricted freedom of movement in Romania.

'Mud Pies' Fatal

To Three-Year-Old

OGDEN, Utah (AP) — One little girl died and two others were in critical condition after they made mud pies with an insecticide which they apparently found in a container in their grandfather's orchard. Three-year-old Jeanie Peterson was dead on arrival at hospital. Two hours later her cousins, Bonnie Kay Christopherson, 3, and Sherje Christopherson, 1, were taken to the hospital with similar symptoms.

Big 3 Must Settle Grievances Says N.Y. Times

NEW YORK (CP) — The New York Times in an editorial today says it is time for the U.S. and Britain and France "to bind up the wounds of controversy, to forget petty and personal grievances and to present again a united front to the enemies of freedom."

It says the U.S. found itself in strange company at the United Nations when it voted with the Soviet bloc against Britain and France.

The paper remarks a division between the U.S. and its allies undoubtedly exists.

"Yet we believe we speak for many millions of Americans when we say that it must and will pass."

"MEMORY'S WALL"

an AUTOBIOGRAPHY

by LADY EATON

...The Nostalgic story of Half a Century of Canadian Life

Lady Eaton looks back on a full, rich life and draws from a wealth of exciting experience to paint a vivid picture of this country's growth. From childhood in a small Ontario town, she came to Victorian Toronto, where she met and married John Craig Eaton —a man destined to become head of one of the world's largest department stores and to be knighted by King George V.

"Memory's Wall" relates the fascinating growth of a nation-wide enterprise and recalls a broad acquaintance with many of the world's distinguished citizens.

An astute businesswoman, Lady Eaton was for many years an active director of the Company; and as a busy and devoted mother, raised a family of six children. Through her patronage of the arts and sciences and her tireless work for human welfare, she has become one of Canada's best-known citizens.

"Memory's Wall" is an important book to all Canadians... a story of the people and events of a great era, told by one of its leading figures.

Canadians Victims Of 'Vicious' Egypt Reprisals

Homes Looted, Property Seized;
Jews on 3-Day Notice to Leave

By DONALD GORDON

ROME (CP)—Egyptian government officials are taking vicious reprisals against British, French, Canadian and Jewish nationals in large-scale property seizures and deportations.

Individual Egyptians are joining in the program with isolated attacks on Europeans, looting of abandoned homes and scattered nighttime shootings.

Details of the reprisals, pieced together from eyewitness occurrences and interviews with refugees, were smuggled out of Egypt to Rome aboard a chartered Canadian embassy aircraft.

Forty-eight thousand Jews living in Egypt—including 5,000 Egyptian-born, 20,000 stateless and 10,000 Egyptian citizens—are on three-day notice to vacate the country. All their property has been seized.

An additional 500 Jews, among the wealthiest in the country, are held incommunicado in the former Jewish school in Cairo. These include the father-in-law of former French premier Pierre Mendès-France.

Similar steps are being taken against British, French and Australian nationals, some of them residents of the country for 30 years. These include an estimated 14,000 British passport holders. Seized shops and businesses now are being operated by the state or handed over to Egyptian businessmen. The same is being done with industrial plants valued at more than $15,000,000.

The handful of commercial aircraft leaving the country are jammed to capacity. All have arm-long waiting lists.

Elizabeth Rumsey, 27, of Toronto was among four Canadians fleeing the country in a special embassy plane. One of the 50 missionaries working in the Egyptian General Mission, she said all were forced to leave, abandoning their possessions and carrying only clothes and a few Egyptian pounds for expense money.

"They walked in and seized our hospital last week," said Miss Rumsey. "No one was hurt but we are worried about several British missionaries, left behind due to their age."

"So far they are treating Canadians fairly well, but we have seen some violent scenes with citizens of other nations."

Canadian Embassy officials at Cairo said 30 of the 70 Canadians in the country have been flown out with the balance electing to remain.

WOMEN FORCED TO STRIP COMPLETELY

LONDON (AP)—A Daily Mail correspondent asserted today British women leaving Egypt have been forced to strip in the presence of Egyptian men.

"In the party which left Egypt with me were British women—old and young," wrote Julian de Kassel, who arrived from Cairo Sunday.

"They were made to strip completely in a little uncurtained room. Grinning Egyptians kept peering in at them through the windows. The women were then subjected to a humiliating personal search."

However, the Throne Speech said Parliament will be asked specifically to "authorize the provision of relief for the victims of the recent tragic events in Hungary."

This will mean an additional vote of funds. The government has already announced two donations—each of $100,000—to the international refugee fund and the Canadian Red Cross for Hungarian relief.

Informants said the money which Parliament will be asked to vote will be "much greater" than the $200,000 announced.

No More Money Needed

OTTAWA (CP)—The government plans to ask Parliament for additional funds for Hungarian relief but no extra money to pay for the commitment of Canadian troops and equipment to the UN Middle East emergency force.

In the 146-word speech from the Throne, one of the shortest in history, the government made clear today it feels there is sufficient funds in the $1,775,000,000 defence budget already approved by Parliament to cover the UN commitment.

The Throne Speech, read by Governor-General Massey at the opening of the special session, indicated the government will merely ask Parliament to approve of diversion of funds in the existing budget to cover the Middle East job.

Defence officials said the cost of the Canadian commitment would be less than $5,000,000 if the Middle East job is cleaned up by the end of the current fiscal year which ends March 31, 1957.

However, the Throne Speech said Parliament will be asked specifically to "authorize the provision of relief for the victims of the recent tragic events in Hungary."

This will mean an additional vote of funds. The government has already announced two donations—each of $100,000—to the international refugee fund and the Canadian Red Cross for Hungarian relief.

Informants said the money which Parliament will be asked to vote will be "much greater" than the $200,000 announced.

YIP-E-E ESKIMOS!

PM Protests Russian Actions in Hungary

By VICTOR J. MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA — Prime Minister St. Laurent is reported to have informed the Liberal caucus today that he has sent a very strongly-phrased letter of protest to Russia's Premier Bulganin over the brutal Soviet actions in Hungary.

The St. Laurent letter reported Canadians were "shocked and amazed" at the Russian act. The prime minister called on the Russians in "the name of humanity" to alter the Soviet course of action.

Those attending the caucus said it was one of the strongest letters ever addressed by a Canadian prime minister to the head of another state. The letter is said to have been written about two weeks ago when the Russians moved into Hungary with their overwhelming military might. It was examined by the cabinet before it was sent.

The prime minister is understood to have told the Liberal caucus that it was not possible for him to reveal the contents of the letters he sent to Britain's Sir Anthony Eden, because it was an exchange of views between Commonwealth prime ministers. He is said to have added that there was nothing in the communications to which any members of the Liberal party would object.

700 Yugoslavs Due Thursday By Sea Convoy

PORT SAID, Egypt (CP)—A British-French decision to let UN police force units enter the Suez Canal Zone by sea as well as by air promised today to speed the build-up of the Middle East peace patrol. But there still was no agreement on plans to replace the occupying forces with UN troops.

The decision to throw open Port Said to ships bringing in additional UN units was made at the request of Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, commander of the police force. He conferred here with British and French officers during a four-hour flying trip from Cairo.

Thus far the troops have been flown in by Swiss airliners and RCAF transports from the Egyptian air force base by the UN camp commander, Major C. W. Edgerstad of Sweden. Today the advance party was joined by another 200 Canadian Army men.

The Canadians joined a growing UN Emergency Force which now includes seven countries and is expected to reach 6,000 or more men. The first group of medical technicians, engineers and signallers, comprised nine officers and 11 men carrying full kit, rifles and revolvers.

One could have called it "Canadian Day" at Abu Suweir.

Their commander, Col. G. K. Wade of the Royal Canadian Engineers, said he was pleased with the reception and "everyone is in good spirits."

The RCAF air inspection team looked over the landing facilities and left shortly afterward to return to the main staging area at Capodichino, near Naples. A dozen RCAF flying boxcars will be used on the airlift to Abu Suweir.

Air Commodore F. S. Carpenter of Lachine, Que., head of the RCAF air transport command who is in charge of the operation, said the purpose of his brief visit was to survey the landing facilities for the Canadian crews coming from Capodichino.

Lt. Gen. Sir Hugh Stockwell, commander of the British-French force, told correspondents the Yugoslavs due Thursday, would not remain in the northern third of the Canal Zone held by the British and French but would cross the cease-fire line to the Egyptian side. The bulk of the UN force is standing by on that side, at Abu Suweir, awaiting arrangements for them to take over from the British and French.

"We are examining how possible to give them a little area of the town which they would be responsible for," Stockwell said.

U.K. Will Join European Free Trade Area

LONDON (AP)—Britain today announced her intention to join an historic project for a "free trade area" in Europe where tariffs gradually would be abolished.

Chancellor of the Exchequer Harold Macmillan told the House of Commons the project is intended to enable the countries of Western Europe to develop a single common market of 250,000,000 people for their manufactured goods.

In time, he said, the nations forming the "free trade area" would be in a position to compete with the world's two great economic giants represented by "the amazing strength of the United States and the economic power of Soviet Russia."

Driver Dead, Bus Crashes Into Pole

BURNABY, B.C. (CP)—Ten persons were injured, none seriously, Sunday when an interurban bus, its driver dead at the wheel, smashed into a telephone pole here.

The driver, identified as 58-year-old Jim Denby of Vancouver, was dead when ambulance attendants arrived at the scene. Death was believed caused by a heart attack.

CHEK-TV FOGGED

Top of 200-foot antenna tower for CHEK-TV disappeared into mist this morning as a little of the lower mainland's heavy fog seeped over to this area. Workmen are rushing to install antenna on top tower; planned testing of station Sunday has been delayed until Tuesday midnight as completion of antenna is taking longer than expected. —(Times photo)

VANCOUVER SHROUDED AGAIN

Fog Here Tonight; Mayor Stranded

Fog patches appeared in the Victoria area overnight and are expected to return this evening as the lower B.C. mainland groped into its fifth day of pea-soup visibility.

Direct airline connections between Victoria and Vancouver have been wiped out for three days. Patricia Bay airport is operational but Vancouver International Airport is still "socked in."

Trans-Canada Airlines is operating special flights from Patricia Bay to Abbotsford, Vancouver's alternate field, to connect with transcontinental flights.

Mayor Percy Scourrah was reported fogbound in Vancouver today while en route back from Ottawa. He had hoped to return by air Sunday.

Deep-sea shipping is at a standstill in Burrard Inlet, with at least six cargo ships waiting for a break in the fog to make dock. Tugs with tows are unable to operate in or out of the harbor.

On the west coast of Vancouver Island, however, weather is described as "ideal" for towboat men, with visibility good and little wind.

Fog experienced overnight here was not enough to slow traffic appreciably. The official weather outlook is for more of the same tonight, clearing as the sun burns through the cloud layer.

Some relief for the lower mainland is expected Tuesday. As of midnight tonight, the CPR's Victoria-Vancouver ferry service will return to normal. Repairs to CPSS Princess Joan, damaged when she collided with her Vancouver pier in the fog Thursday morning, will be completed today.

In spite of the fog, tonight's Victoria Cougar-Edmonton Flyers hockey game will be played as scheduled at Memorial Arena at 8.30.

Two Killed, Seven Injured In B.C. Crash

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. (CP)—A collision on an icy road near here Saturday killed two teen-agers and sent seven persons to hospital.

Dead are Lorraine Clough and David Scoullar, both 13.

In hospital suffering from shock and injuries are Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Clough, parents of the dead girl, and another daughter, Eileen. Also in hospital are Mrs. Grace Scoullar and another son, William, and two unidentified men.

The children died when a car, driven by Mrs. Scoullar and carrying families, collided with a vehicle which police said was on the wrong side of the road. Driver and occupants of the other car have not been identified.

'20TH CENTURY CRUCIFIXION'

Red Oppression Appalls Victoria Girl in Vienna

The oppression of Hungarian freedom fighters by Russian troops has been termed by a Victoria girl in Vienna as a "20th century crucifixion."

"The people are the most courageous I believed possible for a nation to be," pianist Carol Wootton, a student at Vienna's Akademie, wrote to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Wootton, 1253 Victoria Avenue.

"They have so much heart and spirit and have stood up to corruption without fearing the terrible consequences that are pouring on them now. They are the only people who had the spirit to stand up in the open and denounce to the world a system which can no longer exist."

She wrote that while walking with a friend, "we saw two young men with packs and green badges (the wearing of which is the sign now for all that is courageous); We wanted to cry—'Two Hungarian refugees'."

"I am going to try to give whatever help I can to the refugee centre. They need it so badly. Please understand when I say I can't send any cards this year to the family and friends—my heart is too full and I would like to feel my free time is spent for the Hungarians."

"The whole world is, I am glad to see, concerned over the fate of the Hungarian people."

Wish they could raise hopes of a Suez settlement along with them sunken ships.

They Canadian crews are rowin' better'n ever down there. An' jus' think, they're doin' it all upside down too.

Think Nasser's goin' t' go down in Egyptian history as jus' one more plague.

CAROL WOOTTON

OL' VIC SAYS:

and I just hope they can get the Russian panzer men out before the whole population is annihilated.

"Please don't send me anything expensive for Christmas," she wrote. "Just let me give a donation to the Red Cross here for all the wee orphans and refugees from Hungary."

Working through Dr. Lotta Hirschmanova of the Unitarian Service of Canada, and her representative in Vienna, the Swiss Quaker Miss Rita Baechler, the Times is making it possible to support 40 Hungarian students—from the group that led the uprising—at a camp in Vienna.

It costs $50 a month to keep a student, and The Times hopes to see a minimum of $12,000 collected here to keep them until next May.

The Times led off contributions Saturday with a donation of $100, and to date a total of $222 has been subscribed.

Canada Abstains in UN Voting; Canal Clearance Gets Priority

By ROD CURRIE, Canadian Press Staff Writer
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—The United Nations Saturday gave Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld authority to continue building up the UN Middle East force and to start the job of clearing the blocked Suez Canal.

BRITISH PRESS HAILS NEW U.S. CANAL STAND

LONDON (Reuters)—British newspapers today give a half-hearted cheer at reports that the United States has come out for clearing the Suez Canal even before the withdrawal of Anglo-French troops.

"For this relief," says the London Daily Telegraph, "much thanks."

The News Chronicle cites the American position as "the first faint glimmer of hope" to appear "on the Middle East horizon."

The London Daily Sketch describes it as "a welcome shift of opinion."

The Manchester Guardian strongly urges Britain to give full support to the United Nations. "We have been told to go, we have started to go, and we ought to go quickly."

Canada Envoy In Japan To Retire

By VICTOR J. MACKIE
(Times Ottawa Correspondent)

OTTAWA—Hon. T. C. Davis, after a lengthy career as lawyer, newspaperman, politician, jurist and diplomat, will retire to private life when he completes his term as Ambassador to Japan next April.

He and Mrs. Davis will live in Victoria.

He was appointed a member of the Saskatchewan Court of Appeal just before the outbreak of the Second World War. However, he never heard a case in the Saskatchewan court. He was drafted from the Saskatchewan bench to serve as associate deputy minister of the national war services department.

PUBLISHER

Mr. Davis began his career as a lawyer in Prince Albert. With his brother he was co-publisher of the Prince Albert Herald.

He served as attorney-general in Saskatchewan for several years.

He has been Canadian Ambassador to Nationalist China, High Commissioner to Australia, Ambassador to the Republic of Western Germany.

Mr. Davis is reportedly toying with the idea of writing a syndicated newspaper column on public affairs.

B.C. Traffic Safety Group To Be Formed

VANCOUVER (CP)—Delegates to the provincial traffic safety conference Saturday resolved to form a provincial traffic safety committee.

The B.C. Safety Council will organize the new committee, approved at the weekend session of the two-day conference.

George Lindsay, superintendent of the Motor Vehicles Branch of the provincial government, said his office suspends between 8,500 and 9,000 motorists each year and magistrates take another 1,500 off the road.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner predicted 300 traffic fatalities by the end of the year.

Fight Colitis Help Bowels and Stomach

Spastic Colitis (functional irritation of the colon or large intestine), is causing thousands to suffer from dull aches or burning pains in the side, Gas, Heartburn, Bloating, Burning of Stomach, Loss of Sleep and Food. If you suffer from Spastic Colitis, ordinary, strong medicine won't help. You need KOLADE POWDER which works three ways to relax intestinal muscles, soothe sore mucous membranes and check acidity. It is not a laxative but works to help nature. Don't suffer another minute without trying KOLADE POWDER. Satisfaction or money back. At all drug stores.

U.K. MOTORISTS FEEL PINCH—British motoring public is again to experience the inconvenience of gasoline rationing. Majority of drivers will be limited to four gallons a week, starting Dec. 17. Curb on gas is a result of the lack of supplies arriving from Middle East through blocking of the Suez Canal.

Europe Clamps Down As Gas Stocks Shrink

LONDON (AP)—European motoring shifted into low gear during weekend as governments clamped down on the output of supplies from their dwindling oil stocks.

Homes and industries, too, felt the pinch from the closing of the Suez Canal, a shortcut for tankers that supply Western Europe a large part of its oil from Middle Eastern fields.

The brief war on Egypt by Israel, France and Britain had left the canal so clogged by wreckage there was little hope it could be cleared before spring. The French were among the peoples hardest hit.

French gasoline pumps closed on government orders from 2 p.m. Saturday until 6 a.m. Monday. Only one filling station out of every 10 opened in Paris Saturday morning. There were long lines of cars before the few pumps that operated up to the early closing hour.

BLACK MARKET BOOMS

Sales were restricted to five or six litres to each motorist. Black market prices soared to as much as the franc equivalent to $3 a gallon.

Paris' motor traffic was down by 22 per cent.

Taken rationing was imposed on the hundreds of officers at the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's military headquarters near Paris. Each will get only one full tank a week for his private car. Military vehicles were not affected.

Sweden banned all private car traffic for the weekend. The Stockholm government slashed all oil deliveries to industry and to oil-heated houses by 30 to 50 per cent.

Youth Burns Bed, To Get Flashlight

LONG BEACH, CALIF. (AP)—Police says six-year-old Wayburn Mace used a lighted candle to search under his bed for Indians. The bed caught fire. Firemen extinguished the flames, their equipment blocking traffic on Pacific coast highway for a quarter mile in each direction. The boy's father, Ray W. Mace, 30, told police he'd give his son a flashlight.

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia Forest Products Ltd. is not a party to a new application filed in the B.C. Supreme Court in the Sommers-Sturdy slander case.

R. E. Sommers, former B.C. lands minister, is suing Vancouver lawyer David Sturdy because of statements made before a royal commission on forestry last December.

The Canadian Press reported erroneously Nov. 20 that B.C. Forest Products had been named when W. J. Trainor, counsel for Mr. Sturdy, sought to amend the defence alleging conspiracy among

400 Submarines In Russ Fleet, Says Jane's

Another 170 In Two Years

LONDON (Reuters)—Jane's Fighting Ships, the standard reference book on world navies, said today Russia has a growing fleet of more than 400 submarines.

Nazi Germany had only one-tenth that number in its prewar fleet.

Jane's, classing Russia as a "major naval power second now only to the United States," said the Soviet Union built more cruisers and destroyers since the end of the Second World War than all other countries combined.

But it saw in the submarine build-up "the most significant development in Russian grand strategy since the Second World War."

"The severance of NATO communications and the prevention of the entrance of United States naval forces and shipping into the waters surrounding Europe and Asia would be the Russian strategic purpose," Jane's 1956-57 edition said.

MORE COMING

The authority added that Russia is expected to commission another 75 to 85 submarines each year for the next two years.

A large percentage of Russia's submarines are long-range vessels, the annual said, and the postwar surface ships incorporate the latest technological equipment.

Russia's rapid ascendancy has influenced America's ship building, the short observed.

"In the short space of about 10 years many U.S. navy ships will be powered by atomic energy and most U.S. navy ships above and including the submarine category will have guided missile capabilities," the book predicted.

2 Combinations No Puzzle To Yeggs; Get $274,000

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Cracksmen "who knew what they were doing" made off with $274,000 in cash early Sunday from a wall safe at the Oxmoor estate of lawyer William Marshall Bullitt, one-time U.S. solicitor-general.

The money was stolen from a concealed wall safe in Bullitt's study on the rambling 1,000-acre estate on the outskirts of Louisville.

Police Capt. Bert Hart said the thieves worked in combinations on two compartments of the safe after entering the study from the library through a concealed door. Officers said the loot was in $10,000 bills. They said a $41,000 cheque also was believed stolen, but added a further investigation is necessary before it is known definitely.

Mrs. Bullitt said her 83-year-old husband brought most of the money home recently from his law office. No reason was given.

Bullitt served as solicitor-general under President William Howard Taft.

Detective James Wyatt said a window had been left unlocked. The thieves then pressed a point on the library wall which opened a door disguised as a bookshelf.

11 Burned to Death In Calif. Forest Fire

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Eleven firefighters burned to death Sunday night when they were trapped while battling a hot spot of the 33,000-acre Cleveland national forest fire, forest supervisor Walter Puhn reported.

He said eight of the men were prisoners from the Vejas honor farm and the other three were U.S. forest service personnel.

Six other fire fighters managed to flee to safety, Puhn said, as lightning-fast flames swept up from the dry San Diego River bed near Eagle Peak, two or three miles above the El Capitan reservoir.

Arsenic Found In Wells as 3 Deaths Probed

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va. (AP) — State police said Sunday laboratory tests show definitely that arsenic was placed in the William Kidwell family's well.

Three members of the family have died and eight others were taken to hospital.

Trooper J. E. Durst said investigators are preparing "to round up possible suspects" for questioning. Kidwell and two sons, Tommy, 1, and Charles, 2, died within the last week of arsenic poisoning. His wife and their seven surviving children are in hospital recovering from effects of the poisoning.

Police learned Saturday that a 10th Kidwell child, 10 months old, died Nov. 5, about two weeks before the family was taken ill.

140 Sask. Convicts Refuse To Join in Mass Breakout

Guards Overpowered as 5 Inmates Flee; Ringleader Still at Large

REGINA (CP) — One hundred and forty prisoners chose to remain in their cells Saturday night after five of their fellows overpowered the guards and offered them the keys to freedom from the Regina jail.

All four guards on duty were gagged and bound in turn by the little group, who gained control of the prison and threatened to lead a general breakout.

Except for their billy sticks, the guards were unarmed.

Within hours two of the escaped convicts were recaptured, but three, including the suspected ringleader, were still at large today.

It was the sixth break from the jail in the last 12 months and the second in six weeks.

Officials attributed the jail's policy of emphasizing rehabilitation, psychological treatment and training of inmates for trades as a major reason for the majority's refusal to join the escapes.

J. S. White, deputy social welfare minister of Saskatchewan, said:

"These things happen once in a while even with the greatest precautions. But I think our 'humanizing' policy had a lot to do with preventing this break from including all the prisoners."

He said a preliminary investigation showed there had been no dereliction of duty by the guards.

Roadblocks were set up throughout the province as police tracked every possible clue for the missing trio.

Still at large are the suspected ringleader, Duncan Reed, a 28-year-old American, formerly of Calgary; Julius Smith, 19, of Cupar, Sask., who made an unsuccessful break from Regina jail earlier this year; and Donald Mountenay, 20, of Regina.

Reed is serving a year for moral offenses; Smith is in for two years for breaking and entering and for his previous escape attempt; and Mountenay is doing a year for auto theft.

TWO SOON NABBED

Eighteen-year-old Edward Sievers of Swift Current, Sask., gave himself up to police outside a city motel within two hours of the 7:30 p.m. break. He was serving 18 months for breaking and entering.

About 3 a.m. Sunday, Bruno Link, 22, of Mooseomin, Sask., was picked up by RCMP while walking just west of the city limits.

Liberty Under Padlock

QUEBEC'S PADLOCK LAW, AN evil thing in the sight of most Canadians, is now before the Supreme Court. But it is not the business of the Court to decide whether the law is evil or not. The only issue the Court can consider is whether the law is constitutional and within the powers of the Quebec Legislature.

That question, being sub judice of our highest tribunal, cannot properly be discussed at present. We must await the Court's ruling, doubtless some months hence—one of the most important rulings it has ever been called upon to make.

It is quite proper and, we believe, literally true to say that if the padlock law is constitutional and is so upheld by the Supreme Court it will set in train great and incalculable dangers to personal liberty in Canada.

Under this law all the ordinary processes of justice are set aside and the most fundamental liberties of the citizen repealed. In Quebec the attorney-general (who happens at present to be Mr. Duplessis) can declare any house or building to be a centre of communist intrigue, can seize those premises, padlock them and, in effect, deprive the owner of his property. The owner has no way of appealing to the courts as he could appeal any other seizure by the state or by private persons.

Some people may say that since the law is directed only at communists it threatens no damage to anybody else and therefore can be excused as an unpleasant necessity in the struggle against communism. There are two flaws in this reasoning.

In the first place, communism is not illegal in this country. It is even permitted to maintain its own pitiable Labor Progressive Party and to seek seats in Parliament (though it never wins any now-a-days and is actually insignificant). So long as communism is legal, the communist—much less the man who is merely suspected of communism by Mr. Duplessis—should not be deprived of the due processes of law applied to all other Canadians.

Secondly, if the Quebec Legislature can deny those processes to communists, it can deny them to anybody else. Indeed, it has already undertaken to deny them to a sect called the Jehovah Witnesses under another piece of legislation, the Freedom of Worship Act, which has yet to be tested in the courts.

But the danger of the padlock

law does not end there. If the Quebec Legislature can apply the methods of that law to suspected communists, or other people, there is nothing to prevent the other nine legislatures from doing the same thing.

The real danger of the padlock law is that it undertakes to repeal in one province the basic liberties that all Canadians should enjoy everywhere if this is a nation and if there is such a thing as Canadian citizenship. Once the provinces establish their power to reduce those liberties as they choose then there is no single citizenship in Canada. There are ten different citizenships, varying as the ten legislatures decide. In that case there is no nation for the purposes of liberty but ten nations.

For this reason the national Government is deeply involved in the questions now before the Supreme Court. Its right and power to protect the liberties of Canadians have been challenged by the padlock law. It should be the first to resist that challenge.

When matters of this sort were last discussed in Parliament Mr. Garson, the minister of justice, opposed the passage of a Canadian Bill of Rights which would have absolutely forbidden any government, federal or provincial, to infringe basic liberties. There was no need of such a safeguard, said Mr. Garson, since liberty was already safe under the protection of the Federal Government.

It is not safe so long as the padlock law stands on the statute books of Quebec. It will be in immediate danger if this law is found to be constitutional.

One would think that under these circumstances Mr. Garson, as the custodian of federal power and, by his office the chief protector of civil rights, would do everything within his means to assert that power and protect those rights before the Supreme Court.

It is regrettable, though hardly surprising, that Mr. Garson has made no appearance before the Court, as he was entitled to do. His motives are obvious—he does not wish to give any color to Mr. Duplessis' charge that the Federal Government is attempting to invade Quebec's autonomy and is working through the Court to this end.

But if the Court upholds the padlock law for legal reasons then Mr. Garson cannot say civil liberties are safe and he cannot reasonably deny the need of a Bill of Rights to protect them.

'Who's Kidding Who?'

IN ATTEMPTING TO TIE THE recent outrageous liquor mark-up to wage increases, the government is feebly compounding its original felony.

It will be recalled that announcement of the distillers' projected increase was greeted with brave protests from the office of the Attorney-General. Now, having added a tax on a tax on tax, and tossed in a shocking profit for good measure, Mr. Bonner blandly assures us that the added revenue (estimated at $2 millions) is needed to meet higher payrolls and certain unspecified "expansion." He must have a very low opinion of the public intelligence.

The plain fact is that the Sobreds, whose public professions of piety have been shouted from the hustings, stand revealed in this measure as nothing more nor less than liquor racketeers.

No doubt they feel "safe," with the election recently concluded. They would be astonished to know how many of the faithful have become so quickly disenchanted.

The West Is Best

THE GOOD BURGHERS OF EDMONTON, who once encouraged Percy Page to assemble the greatest women's basketball team in the world, seem to have given the same support to their footballers.

The thumping defeat administered by the Eskimos to the Montreal Alouettes not only proves the point sports enthusiasts have been making—that the westerners are playing a better game than teams in the east. It also demonstrates the spirit of Edmonton which can achieve the goals it aspires to.

As the Grey Cup frenzy—a happy break in days of sombre news—abates, this country salutes a fine group of athletes, three time winners of the highest laurel in Canadian football.

And the native poet can convert to the game's application a well-known jingle: Out where the guile lasts a little longer, out where the hand-off's a little stronger, that's where the west begins.

Ottawa on the Fire Line

SUBJECT TO APPROVAL BY Parliament—and that approval seems assured—provinces of Canada will receive direct financial assistance from the Federal Government for forest fire suppression in 1957.

The amounts to be received by individual provinces are relatively small. (The draft agreement calls for five million dollars in the next five years—half a million next year rising to one and one-quarter millions annually for the final three years.) But the principle is important.

By it Canada recognizes the desirability of protecting a vast revenue source. Federal income is derived from the forest industries indirectly in corporation income tax and sales tax. Since almost half the wealth produced in British Columbia comes from timber and its processing, the federal stake in this province's forests is obvious.

To date B.C. fire suppression experts have consistently held that they were asked to do too big a job with too little money. Under the proposed five-year agreement they will not be materially helped. But a start has been made and larger contributions may be expected in the future.

Provision for federal assistance may be made under terms of the Canadian Forestry Act. Already that legislation has been used to authorize grants to provinces for timber inventories, reforestation and forest pathology.

Now Ottawa is apparently recognizing another responsibility—fire suppression. This is good news, particularly to British Columbia.

A NOISY MINORITY

By B. A. TOBIN

Man? Who He?

IT'S pretty easy to become engrossed in mankind's activities—in wars, economic booms, football games and other pastimes—to the point where we begin to think that the world is full of people and no other creatures.

Man is the biggest and the bestest, man admits, and it's not hard to go a step farther and believe that he's also the mostest. We look at the crowds in the football stands, at the jammed citizenry of our big towns, at the streets and streets of houses in every community, and we recognize little else. It's easy to see how a steady concentration on this aspect of creation can soon have you forgetting the rest of the picture. The plain fact is that numerically, man is the most insignificant of all living creatures. He's such a small fraction his vote wouldn't even be noticed if he ever had to take part in a ballot of the universe.

If man is the lord of creation—though what other creature has ever admitted it?—he's certainly a minority government. As one writer has observed, "if we vanished from the earth, the teeming life of the planet would hardly remark our going."

The dogs and cats and horses, the domestic cattle, mice and a few other animals might notice it at first. But in a very short time human beings would be forgotten, domesticated animals would fit into a new balance of nature or vanish too, and the world would pick up where it was a couple of hundred thousand years ago when the two-legged model with the bulging cranium first made its appearance.

Think of the thousands of wild animals in this country that live their whole lives without ever coming in contact with man. The grizzly in the fastnesses of the Rockies need never know that he shares the universe with homo sapiens. It is true that in these times he may now and then detect a faraway hum on the thin mountain air, but he will never know that it is an airplane. For him—and many, many like him—man does not exist.

The fish in the sea live their lives for the most part as though mankind had never been invented. Many have their lives shortened as a result of man's presence, but those who escape need never even recognize that such a creature exists.

The billions upon billions of insects which inhabit the earth and its atmosphere do so without the faintest intimation that they are looked down upon by a superior being. They live as they did hundreds of thousands of years ago and no doubt as they will hundreds of thousands of years hence.

As Our Readers See It

Old and New

Mrs. Marshall wonders who concocted the idea of the flower baskets.

When first installed, they were enthused about in the press like totem poles, and were the recipients of foreign congratulations from several countries. Truly international.

The flower baskets look incongruous and entirely out of place.

Tubs painted dark-green, growing evergreens, would be more restful to the eye—and artistic.

Victoria's streets used to be decorated at Christmas with forest greenery strung along the streets, and probably cost next to nothing.

The insides of shops also were decorated with forest greenery.

OLD TIMER.

Question?

It has been noted that the believing mind is eternally impervious to evidence. The truth of this statement has never been more clearly shown than in the last few days.

People have been judging Mollet and Eden in the absence of evidence and judging Pearson in the face of evidence. All of which points up a question the answer to which could possibly lead the way to a solution of all our problems.

Perhaps one of your readers will know the answer.

Endless eager, 'elder statesmen' Pardon sirs but as the great ones Could you say why 'hatespitters' Are never lone or lornely critters?

The exercise should prove somewhat of a tranquilizer but I could be wrong, I have been before.

Blood Pressure Going Up

The impotence of the United Nations and the impudence of Egypt in your editorial "Unwelcome Canadians" Nov. 21 should provoke Canada's national blood pressure for Nasser's insult in barring our troops as combatants in the international police force and giving us the run-around generally. Does a sovereign power have to take that lying down from an upstart such as Nasser?

C. M. CADWALLADER,

Comment on Dr. Chisholm

The report in your issue of Nov. 20 captioned "Chisholm Scoffs Unbelievers Who Force Children" states that Dr. Brock Chisholm denounced parents who send their children to Sunday School to learn things they themselves have ceased to believe.

How could such a parental mental condition prevail?

Possibly it is because of the attitude of religious teachers towards fresh, accurate knowledge derived from fulfilled Bible prophecy and archaeological discoveries.

Tradition and the Tourist

It would appear that we are again entering the "Silly Season" with the bewhiskered argument "a little bit of Uno What" being revived through the medium of Art Stott's column in Tuesday night's edition of The Daily Times.

If your columnist will acquaint himself with my remarks in their correct perspective, he will find that they were a belated endeavor to try to preserve some of the Victorian architectural background of our historic city: to quote director John Fisher of the Canadian Tourist Association "to preserve a regional difference," true Canadians.

In passing may I point out to Mr. Art Stott, one of the greatest tourist meccas today, Hawaii, advertises its hula and Hawaiian garb to the exclusion of other things but its inhabitants do not have to wear Mu Mu's or do the hula and eat "lau lau" poi or papaya, but they derive a tremendous income from such ideas.

New Orleans, with its background of French influence, architecturally jealously preserved drew into the orbit of tourism to the tune of $60,000,000 per year. Its people do not wear goatee beards, or eat frog's legs and French snails, or wear the armour of Joan of Arc for the benefit of the tourist.

Santa Barbara, California, with its Spanish background preserved and even reproduced, its inhabitants wear ordinary dress and not silver embroidered tight pants, bolero jackets or sombreros. No tortillas, no tacos or enchiladas to eat and yet the tourist literature extols its Spanish background and reaps a harvest which helps in the employment of countless numbers.

In Mexico I have yet to see a mantilla on the public streets or a bullfighter, but again the Spanish colonial background with its fascinating architecture, in spite of the Mexicans overthrowing Spanish rule, is still the predominant theme in their tourist literature. In fact Morelia, Taxco, Puebla, and Guanajuato, gems of Spanish colonial life, are scheduled as ancient monuments and nothing can be added that jars with this theme.

In England from 1775 to about 1850, the peak of the industrial revolution, priceless examples of half timbered houses were torn down. It was an age of intense material development with little thought being given to the cultural past. Today the National Trust and the Society for Preservation of Rural England and similar bodies are doing much to prevent a recurrence of such practices. These places today are the solid substance of tourism where they have been preserved.

In the U.S.A. Williamsburg stands out as a good example of a reconstructed city and in seven other cities in the original early states reproduction work is taking place of early historic sites.

Today we in British Columbia are about to reconstruct Fort Langley. My suggestion was that we should give consideration to the forming of a commission composed of property owners, B.C. Historical Society, architects, builders and chamber of commerce members to co-operate in preserving buildings and sites of historic, traditional interest, regional differences and further, J. K. Nesbitt, author of Victoria's Old Homes and Families, to tie these in with a book on the subject of local and tourist interest.

If such a suggestion only merits journalistic ridicule and disparagement it is to be regretted.

FROM WASHINGTON By JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP

Blindness in Washington

THE central point that has virtually escaped notice in the present crisis is that the severe strains already felt by the Western alliance are downright trifling, are really nothing, compared to the strains that lie ahead. The Egyptian solution sponsored by the American policy-makers and the United Nations is quite certain to produce a long chain of consequences elsewhere in the Middle East. These local consequences, in turn, will surely produce further appalling strains that may well imperil the very existence of the grand alliance that has so long guarded freedom in the world. The process has begun already, and in a most instructive manner, in the little country of Transjordan.

After dismissing Glubb Pasha from command of his Arab Legion, young King Hussein of Transjordan adopted the policy of maintaining an uneasy balance between Egypt and Britain. The Jordanian balance was not immediately upset when Egypt was attacked.

Although previously pledged to come to Egypt's aid, Transjordan made no move while Nasser's Sinai army was being humiliated by the defeated by the Israelis, while the British and French were landing in Egypt, while Nasser, in fact, was being pushed to the wall. But then American diplomacy and Soviet threats combined to transform Nasser's great military defeat into a great political victory.

The effect in Transjordan was instantaneous and electrical. The pro-Egyptians in the parliament have now rammed through a resolution calling on the government to denounce the treaty with Britain, which has protected their country since Transjordan became a sovereign state.

The resolution has not yet been put into effect by Suleiman Nabolsi, the Jordanian premier. But it is only a matter of time before Transjordan breaks this historic link with Britain, and in effect becomes an Egyptian dependency.

This illustrates the kind of development that must now be expected all over the Middle East. Syria is in the Egyptian bag already. In Iraq, the days of pro-Western Nuri Pasha are almost certainly numbered. After Transjordan goes into the bag, Iraq will eventually follow.

Then the heat will be put on in the vital oil sheikdoms of the Persian Gulf,

Kuwait, Bahrain and Hater, and last but not least in line, the Egyptian heat will be felt by Saudi Arabia.

These political developments have been foreseen by the American policy-makers, who say rather smugly that "the British and French are through in the Middle East."

But the American policy-makers have no coherent answer whatever, to any of the really horrifying questions that will surely be raised by the British and French being "through in the Middle East."

President Eisenhower himself has described this region as the most strategically vital on the face of the earth. This is true for many reasons. But take only one of these reasons—the effect on the second power of the Western alliance, Britain, of the prospective loss of control of her Middle Eastern oil supplies.

As a sort of hole card, the British now mean to hold the vast oil riches of Kuwait and the other Gulf Coast sheikdoms by naked military force if need be.

Dilemma

But are we prepared to support the British in this new "aggression," which will raise a worse storm than the attack on Suez? Or shall we press our British partners to look pleasant while their throats are cut?

Then too, if all Britain's Middle Eastern oil sources are lost, it will cost Britain just about $1 billion a year. The shaky British balance of payments cannot conceivably stand this further drain. If the oil goes, Britain will go bankrupt.

After declaring bankruptcy, Britain will have to abandon her NATO and other strategic commitments, and will go out of business as a serious world power. But how is American policy going to be adjusted to cover the loss of Western strength caused by British bankruptcy?

In these circumstances, the American policy-makers are now content to talk vaguely about "the U.S. moving into the Middle East to fill the vacuum" left by our less fortunate allies. But do our policy-makers really think, for instance, that the U.S. can take over Britain's Middle Eastern oil resources, pension off the British people, and still keep Britain as a loyal ally? Surely the country deserves more realistic answers to the whole grim array of questions of which these are a small sample.

They Also Serve

WHEN I consider how my time is spent and half my days in this dark world and wide, I know darned well it's in the kitchen sink!

(Milton on his blindness, in case it's bothering you!)

It's my Vale of Tears, my Slough of Despond, my White Woman's Burden, and anything-else-you-like-to-call-it.

Children come and children go, but the sink goes on forever.

See that pile of dishes stacked. See that glass, milk-filled and waiting. See that yellow cup with little smear of crimson lipstick on the rim. Look at plate with golden glob of egg-yolk clinging there.

Let your eyes feast upon the beauty of this simple domestic scene. Let them feast upon the beauty of roasting pan with grease and gravy clinging to the corners; upon sieve with all its pores clogged up like advertisement for purer skin; upon pastry sticking tight to rim of deep pie dish.

What can't be washed, must be soaked. Or so they say.

But how long, oh Lord, how long must even dish lie soaking before we can remove these specks of burnt-on brown?

Don't comfort me with moral numbers about life being just an empty sink. For the sink is NEVER empty. Morning, noon and night the dishes are moving towards it in a never-ending stream. Thick and fast they come at last, and more and more and more.

See that couple standing there before the altar, so young, so carefree, so hopelessly in love. Little do they know what lies ahead of them. Years and years of little mouths to feed, and years and years of washing up!

"Our revels now are ended," said Shakespeare truly in "The Tempest." But, manlike, he didn't go on to say who helped the hostess with the dirty dishes.

"Tomorrow, and tomorrow, and tomorrow, creeps in this petty pace from day to day," he wrote again, in a moment of exasperation.

But, if modern trends continue, the creeping morrows are going to see more and more women going out to work while men stay home to wash the dishes. And who will wear the frilly apron then? And worry over dishpan hands? And who will settle down with cigarette and paper, saying, "I've had such a hard day at the office, dear?"

But let's not despair. And let there be no moaning at the sink when I start in to wash.

Let me not mutter with domestic bitterness that a good education is very little use if all it leads to is the kitchen sink.

Instead, let us, with smug nobility and irritating martyrdom, adapt the gems of English literature to this revolting, lowly task.

Let us say with Milton that a clean sink takes the lifeblood of a master spirit.

Let us cry with gay defiance that they also serve who only stand and wash.

Get out your soapflakes and your harsh abrasives and your even harsher additives. Get out your book of literary quotations. Prop it by the kitchen sink.

There's solace there among the poets. "What will the line stretch out to the crack of doom?" That's a good one. Any housewife can use that with the deepest feeling.

"All the perfumes of Arabia will not sweeten this little hand." Though the lotion ads, will tell you different!

But enough of this nonsense. Even I can't keep it up.

Methinks Enke does murder the classics. But she's had the whale of a time just doing it!

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

Free Loading De Luxe

LONDON—Selfridge's, like every other department store the world over, has demonstrators. You know of course what a demonstrator is. He is a person who peels, slices, opens, cooks or cleans some article in some special way, the watchers sample the end product, he says, "Now who will buy one of these handy little gadgets?" and everyone walks away. I was in Selfridge's food annex yesterday and was having a demonstration snack or two to tide me over until dinner when I noticed a girl in a white coat at a table laden with bottles. Australian wine was the product and she was giving out samples in dixie cups while delivering her spiel about how Australian wines compared more favorably with anything France would produce.

I soon noticed that although other customers came and went, there was one man who remained static at the demonstration stall. He was a somewhat seedy-looking individual in an old raincoat and a battered hat. Each time the girl poured out more samples, he was a willing sampler. How long he had been there I didn't know but there was no question that he was squiffed. I moved over closer and saw that his face wore the bemused, happy air of one well away.

When a new group of customers approached the stall, I heard him say: "Set 'em up again, miss."

She gave him a look as she poured out more of the wine. He held out his dixie cup and said: "Here, use this again. Save your washing up."

She was obviously irked and in a moment she called over a floor-walker and in their whispered huddle I overheard him say: "But you never know, he might have an account, might be a valued customer. I can't risk throwing him out."

The girl gave a harassed sigh and returned to her work with "This Australian Burgundy-type wine."

The man rolled his sample around on his tongue and smirked his lips. "Nice bouquet, plenty of body to it," he said appraisingly, "but I don't like it as well as your Australian Bordeaux-type wine."

A stall across the aisle caught his eye and he weaved over to it, dixie cup still in hand. He helped himself to some demonstration cheese straws and munched contently as he sipped, letting his eyes wander around the people as one would at any pleasant party.

Shortly he returned to the wine stall and to the customers there, he said: "Now this is my round. What's it going to be?"

The girl glared at him as she poured out fresh samples and then went into "This Australian Claret-type wine." Our friend liked the Australian Claret-type wine. He asked for another. "Make it a double this time, miss," he added.

But that was the end of it, for it got to be closing time in the store. However, this didn't worry the gentleman. By happy coincidence Selfridge's closes at 5.30, which is opening time for pubs, and he just strolled gaily over the road to the nearest one.

False Teeth Often Have a Certain Odor!

Soak your plates in Polident daily to avoid "Denture Breath"

Polident is the specially designed cleanser that keeps false teeth—and breath—clean and fresh always. Follow these simple rules:

1. Never use a brush on them! Your dental plates are much softer than natural teeth. Brushing wears down fitting ridges so they get loose.

2. Never use soap or toothpaste! They can leave film which collects bacteria and food particles, a major cause of offensive "Denture Breath."

3. Use a soaking-type cleanser made for false teeth only... Polident Polident is the denture cleanser recommended by more dentists than any other.

No brushing, no handling of soapy plates that can slip and break. Polident gets where a brush can't reach. Best of all, Polident always leaves false teeth odor free. Get the world's largest selling denture cleanser, Polident, at your drug counter.

No obstacle is going to stop Johnny Bright as he heads for Montreal Alouettes' end zone and the powerful Edmonton fullback steps on fellow-Eskimo John Woyat on the way to one of his two touchdowns. Eskimos swamped the Alouettes, 50-27, at Toronto Saturday to win the Grey Cup for the third successive years. Bright was one of many Edmonton stars.

Grey Cup Returns To Familiar Home

(From CP and BUP)
TORONTO — The Grey Cup was back in Edmonton for the third straight year today and almost everyone, including the frustrated Montreal Alouettes, was convinced that's where it belongs.

The powerful Edmonton Eskimos applied the final crusher to the Alouettes' hopes Saturday with a humiliating 50-27 decision before a record crowd of 27,425 at Varsity Stadium.

Marked the third successive year that the Eskies with their split-T attack and their tremendous defence have turned back the air-minded Alouettes.

It left thousands of eastern fans with the feeling that "they have had it." Even dour Alouette coach "Peahead" Walker frankly admitted, "They deserved to win."

"There were too many fumbles and interceptions (they lost the ball seven times)," Walker said, "but they were better and they deserved to win."

"NEVER BEAT THEM"
"We'll never beat that team with what we've got and the way we play football," said one Alouette player who asked to remain unidentified. "We're the loudest tackling team in the country, probably, and Edmonton is the one team against which we can't get away with it. They wear you down in the first half of the game and then run all over you in the last half."

Don Getty, a 22-year-old Canadian quarterback with the pose of a veteran, teamed with high-scoring Jackie Parker to spark the Edmonton victory.

As Parker scored a record 19 points, Eskimos overwhelmed Alouettes once more with their bone-shattering ground attack and a defence that contained the mighty Montreal passing even more effectively than in the last two east-west finals.

Getty overshadowed Sam Etcheverry, the famous rifle-armed Montreal quarterback. Once again the Big Four champions were unable to solve the riddle of the Eskimos' deceptive ground attack. Getty operated it so successfully Eskimos set a record 448 yards rushing, beating their own mark of 440 set last year.

PARKER GETS THREE
Parker, the speedboy from Mississippi State who spearheaded Edmonton to its cup victories last year and in 1954, was again tremendous. He and Getty scored five of Eskimos' seven touchdowns.

Getty, playing his second year with Edmonton, crashed over for two touchdowns and the 190-pound former University of Western Ontario star threw a pass to Parker for another. Parker came up with a record 19 points in scoring three touchdowns and a single.

Fullback Johnny Bright, who also played a big part in ruining the Alouettes' two previous cup bids, pounded over for Edmonton's other two touchdowns. Joe Mobra converted four of the seven touchdowns and in addition kicked a 25-yard field goal. Hal Patterson, Montreal's spectacular pass-catching end, scored two of their touchdowns, one on an infrequent end-around play and the other on a sensational catch of a 37-yard pass. Etcheverry and Pat Abbruzzi smashed over the other touchdowns and Bill Bewley kicked three converts.

ESKS' THUNDERING POWER SMOTHERS MONTREAL

Another Edmonton standout was Don Getty, first Canadian to start at quarterback in the Dominion football final since 1947. Getty, behind the referee who has his arms raised to indicate the score, goes over on a quarterback sneak for one of his two majors.

Getty takes a well-deserved drink from the prized Grey Cup in the Edmonton dressing room after the game. Getting his chance to call signals when Jackie

Parker moved to halfback, Getty made few mistakes as he directed the Eskimos to a new Grey Cup rushing record of 448 yards. (CP Photos.)

B.C. Rowing Crews Both Gain Finals

Cage Team Eliminated; World Javelin Mark Set

(Compiled From CP and BUP Dispatches)

MELBOURNE—Canadian oarsmen swept into the finals of two Olympic rowing events today but the nation's other athletes failed to make the grade ashore.

The Canadian scullers won the first semi-final rowing event in the coxless fours in seven minutes, 47.7 seconds, six lengths ahead of second-place France and 10 in front of the Russians who came third and moved out of contention.

Canada's crew also won the second semi-final in the eight-oared race, in six minutes, 57 seconds, finishing one-two with Sweden and moving into the final of that event.

France eliminated Canada from the Olympic basketball tournament with a 79-62 victory in the final game of the evening program. The French, who advanced to the semi-finals, led 43-35 at half time.

A fraction too much lard ruled Gerald Gratton of Verdun, Que., out of contention in the light-heavyweight weightlifting competition. Gratton was disqualified when he failed by one-tenth of a kilogram (3 1/4 ounces) to make the weight limit.

Two Ontario runners didn't quite make it in their respective heats of the 200 meters, in which only the first and second placers advanced.

Joe Foreman of Mimico, Ont., placed fourth in the eighth heat of the first round and John Parrington of Toronto finished fifth in the eleventh heat. Stan Levenson was scratched because of a leg injury.

It was a similar story with Guennadi Chalkov of the Soviet B.C. with high hopes of pulling off a surprise in the 5,000 meters. The first five in each heat of that race qualified for the finals but they didn't include Kyle, who finished eighth.

Roland Asselin of Montreal, Canada's only competitor in the fencing, needed to come fourth to qualify for the semi-finals but ended up eighth in the first round.

A Russian dealt a blow to Canada's boxing hopes today. Guennadi Chalkov of the Soviet Union outpointed Ralph Hosack of Edmonton in their three-round slugfest in the second round for middleweights.

Oarsmen Talking Gold Medals

There was gold medal talk in the Canadian Olympic rowing camp tonight as University of British Columbia oarsmen prepared for a down-to-the-wire struggle in Tuesday's finals.

The two UBC crews stood out today in winning both their semifinal events and the favored American crews went as far as to concede that a real battle might be in the offing.

Clifford Tip Goes, chairman of the United States Olympic Rowing Committee, told reporters the four final "should be a real battle between the U.S. and Canada, and I think we have a good chance to take that one."

Speaking of the eights, he said that while the decision probably would lie between the U.S. and the powerful Australian crew, "there is a possibility that the costly effort in the semifinal might mean a victory for either Canada or Sweden in the finals." The effort he referred to was the neck-and-neck battle between the Australians and the Yale crew today which ended in a virtual dead heat with the Americans in front by a nose.

Egil Danielsen of Norway turned in the first world record track and field performance of the 1956 games when he won the gold medal in the javelin throw with a tremendous heave of 281 feet 2 1/2 inches. The mighty throw wiped out the world mark of 274 feet 5 1/2 inches set by Janusz Sidlo of Poland earlier this year, as well as the modest Olympic record of 242 feet 3/4 inch set by Cy Young of the United States.

Another record fell when Rev. Bob Richards, the pole-vaulting parson from California, won the Olympic title for the second straight time. His winning jump was an even 14 feet 11 inches, which tied his own 1952 mark, and after clinching the gold medal he cleared 14 feet 11 1/2 inches for the record.

The big crowd of 100,000 at the Melbourne cricket ground got their first chance to cheer a 1956 Australian gold medal winner when Betty Cuthbert won the women's 100-metre final. The fleet Australian missed the official record of 11.5 seconds set in 1952 by fellow countrywoman Marjorie Jackson. Actually, Miss Cuthbert had broken this record Saturday

CANADIAN DIVING ACE INJURED AT MELBOURNE

MELBOURNE (CP)—Bill Patrick of Calgary, Canada's lone entrant in the men's diving competitions of the Olympic aquatic events, may have to withdraw because of an injury suffered while practicing.

Patrick was trying a back dive Friday when he struck his head on the springboard and six stitches were required to close the wound in his forehead. He spent a day in hospital and final decision on his participation won't be made for a day or two.

"I'm feeling fine although a bit tired," he said in an interview. "Maybe I've been training too hard, but I'll be okay when the springboard competition begins next Friday."

Tommy Walker of Toronto, coach of the swimming team, wasn't so hopeful pending the doctor's final decision. "What's a gold medal or any other medal if a boy is injured?" asked Walker.

DEFEAT AMERICANS, 4-2

Cats Risk Skein Against Flyers

Victoria Cougars will be looking for a more direct route to their destination when they tackle Edmonton Flyers at Memorial Arena tonight than the one they were forced to take on their way back to Victoria Sunday.

Cougars continued their recent fine play at Seattle Saturday night as they handed the Americans a 4-2 Western Hockey League defeat, but fog had snarled air traffic when they were ready to head back to Victoria.

The trip was finally completed by means of a bus trip to Vancouver, a ferry ride to Nanaimo and another session on a bus, and the weary Cats arrived home early this morning after 12 hours of travel.

Their intended destination tonight is the Edmonton goal and they hope to reach it often enough to extend their unbeaten string through five games.

ANDERSON STARRS

Doug Anderson paced the Cougars to their first victory of the season over the Americans as he fired his second hat-trick of the season. Wayne Brown collected the other Victoria goal, his ninth of the season, while George Senick scored both Seattle tallies.

Victory boosted the Cougars into third place in the coast division, past Vancouver Canucks, who went down to their seventh successive defeat, losing to New Westminster Royals, 2-0.

Flyers lost ground in their battle to overhaul front-running Brandon Regals in the Prairie division Saturday, as they dropped a 6-3 decision to the Regals at Brandon.

Rookie Milan Marcetta and veteran Archie Scott each collected two goals to spark Calgary Stampede to a 7-6 triumph over Winnipeg Warriors as the Stamps avenged a 6-2 trimming absorbed from the Warriors Friday night.

Calgary climbed within three points of the third place Warriors with the victory.

SAM LIKE FISH IN DERBY . . .

Eskis Too Tigerish for Kittenish Als

By TED REYNOLDS
(Special to The Times)

TORONTO — They separated the men from the boys at historic Varsity Stadium Saturday. Mind you, the boys were bigger than the men, but bigger only in that they weighed more. The thing that impresses a westerner the most, after watching the Eskimo machine brush off the easterners like they were a bunch of bothersome youngsters, is that they just don't play rough enough down here to be competing against western-type football.

Coach Frank Clair of Ottawa, coach of the year down this way, expressed the feelings of a lot of startled eastern observers when he said "that is the meanest football team I've ever seen." It didn't actually seem to be any meaner than usual to those of us who have watched all year

But the hard driving, explosive-tackling Eskies pushed big, slow-moving Alouettes all over the stadium. Any western team's line, I think, would do the same thing.

It's amazing that one team in the all-Canadian final could be so much better than the other. Just how much better Edmonton is pointed out by the fact that throughout most of the second half the Eskimos used six Canadian linemen and, of course, a Canadian quarterback and they mauled the Als around just as effectively as the first stringers did.

The third quarter, as you no doubt noticed if you watched the game on TV, gave the best picture of how badly beaten the once-proud Montrealeers were.

It's a great spectacle this Grey Cup game. It takes a little while for one to correlate his thoughts and sum things up.

Some lasting memories will be of Montreal's Mr. Wonderful, Hal Patterson. He is truly a great football player, his pass catching antics are almost unbelievable. On the other hand, one had to feel almost sorry for their beloved Sam. He doesn't seem to have a last name in this part of the world. Sam reminded me somewhat of the fish in Saanich Arm on a derby day. Everybody was out to get him. A lot of people did get him. Mostly Hardrock Frankie Anderson got him, and if the field hadn't been so slippery Anderson probably would have broken him into small pieces. He might have even eaten him. Frankie doesn't do things by halves.

You can't soon forget burly Johnny Bright. Sometimes the Als line would get a little piece of him, but usually he carried them right along with him and then exploded all over a completely inadequate secondary. Every Canadian in the stadium, I am sure, felt proud of Don Getty. A Canadian boy quarterbacking in the Grey Cup practically unheard of but here is a Canadian boy who needs take a back seat to no one. He was calm and cool all the way, he called almost a perfect game.

Then there's Jackie Parker. A Montrealer newspaper man, trying hard to be brave about the whole thing, was heard to mumble something during the third quarter, "Let's not kid ourselves, Parker is the greatest." The man was right, because there's nothing, just nothing, that Parker can't and doesn't do. As a halfback he is probably a little more dangerous than he is as a quarterback, his running in the Grey Cup game was just terrific. He caught passes, one of them for one of the three touchdowns.

He scored. He did the kicking and was, as usual, a lion on pass defence. What else can you ask for?

So Saturday night they celebrated and they rocked somewhat staid Toronto rather effectively. Edmonton partisans, and by Saturday night anyone from west of the lakes was an ardent Edmontonian, were kings of all they surveyed. Montrealeers were very decent about it all, once they recovered a bit from the shock of learning that the team they regarded so highly just wasn't in the same league with Edmonton.

The east may be able to regain a little of its lost prestige in the east-west game in Vancouver Dec. 8, but I rather doubt it. They've got to start feeding them some raw meat down in this part of the world.

BETWEEN TIMES By MONTE ROBERTS

OUR VERY OWN ISLAND DIGEST

(Write by hand by Our Very Own Correspondents.)

LUNCHVILLE, V.I.—It came as a great shock to the town council to learn that if an A-Bomb or H-Bomb or even non-alphabetical bomb were to be dropped on the city of Victoria all the people in the city of Victoria would rush up Island and naturally some of them would even rush to Lunchville which they usually don't but in an emergency you never can tell.

So the town council immediately called an emergency meeting to learn what to do in event of emergency, namely citizens of Victoria coming to Lunchville.

Mike the Motel Man said he didn't think there is anything to worry about as he would simply double his rates just as he does during the tourist season.

But the proprietor of the Bit of Olde Spadina Avenue Tea Shoppe took a different viewpoint. "What would happen to my herbaceous borders if they were trampled by the citizens of Victoria hastening to escape from whatever-it-is-bomb?" the proprietor asked.

After considerable discussion and mature consideration, the town council of Lunchville voted unanimously on the course to be followed; in the event of bombing attack on Victoria, a DETOUR sign will be erected on the main (and only) road leading to Lunchville.

BUMBLE HILL, V.I.—The Bumble Hill Chamber of Commerce today went on record as being unanimously against the bombing of Victoria.

The consensus of opinion was, what does Victoria have that we don't have, and why should it hog all the bombs? Victoria is becoming nothing but a hogtown, the Chamber of Commerce said, before moving the meeting over to the barn back of Lem's house.

"Bombs away," said the president of the Bumble Hill Chamber of Commerce as he handed Lem a bottle opener.

GOON CENTRE, V.I.—The progressive mayor of this progressive Community, Mr. Abner Goon, has already devised the plan whereby Goon Centre can participate when Victoria citizens leave Victoria under bombing attack.

Just today he said to his wife, Mrs. Agner Goon: "You have always complained because the stores are so crowded in Victoria when you go down there for a shopping trip. Well, the first word we receive about Victoria being bombed, I will send you there because there won't be hardly any people in the stores at the time."

Hospital authorities say Mayor Goon will be able to resume his civic duties shortly, as he is suffering only from minor bruises, contusions, and a broken leg or so.

WALLOPEM BEACH, V.I.—All of Wallopem Beach is ready to do its part in taking care of Victoria citizens fleeing from a bombing attack.

Everything will be done to see they are warm, comfortable, and well fed.

$650 Cash, Liquor Stolen at Vets Club

Athletic Thieves Climb Sign, Break in Second Floor Window

Thieves escaped with $650 in cash from an unlocked safe, and a quantity of liquor after breaking into the Wharf Street Army and Navy Veterans' Club early Sunday.

The theft was reported to police at 4 a.m. Sunday by janitor Charles Adams.

Detectives found that the thieves entered the building by climbing a sign board at the rear and breaking a second floor window.

Second floor liquor cabinets and cupboards were forced open.

A small, unlocked safe was opened by turning the dial slightly.

The thieves also made an attempt to break into the main office but were unsuccessful. Police found a large crowbar and a pair of gloves lying on the floor.

They escaped by way of a fire escape door on the second floor.

The estimate of loss was made by Walter Simpson, assistant manager of the club.

In two other weekend break-ins reported to police, total loot amounted to 100 packages of cigarettes.

They were taken by thieves who smashed open a rear window of Menzies Fish and Chips, 211 Menzies.

Nothing was taken in another break-in at the Home Service Station at 3001 Douglas.

Governor-General Sees Esquimalt Coat-of-Arms

Gov. Gen. Vincent Massey will be among the first to see Esquimalt's new coat-of-arms.

The municipal emblem, designed by Alan Beddoe of Ottawa, will arrive here later this week, Reeve A. C. Wurtele said today.

"Its arrival was delayed because the Governor-General asked to see it. He's very interested in heraldry."

Only three other Canadian municipalities—Kelowna, B.C., Ottawa, and Uxbridge, Ont.—are believed to have registered coats-of-arms.

Esquimalt's emblem, in the form of a shield, will feature the blue waves of B.C., golden brown raven, a raven to represent the Naden Indians, an anchor and crown symbolizing the navy, a grenade for the Royal Engineers, Hudson's Bay Company coat-of-arms, plumes of gold and blue (Esquimalt's colors) and the Indian words "Is-woy-math," meaning "place of shoaling waters."

The coat-of-arms will be presented to the municipality in a special ceremony early next year.

Dangerous Christmas Lights Traced Here

Victoria electrical inspectors are checking city stores for disapproved Christmas tree lights said to be filtering into the province from Japan.

Inspector Mel Schwartz says his department is informed they are "very dangerous."

'Second Look' Refused By Bennett, Bonner

Premier W. A. C. Bennett and Attorney-General Robert Bonner today refused to take a "second look" at recently increased liquor prices in British Columbia.

The premier said the government would reconsider the price boosts if they proved to be out of line with other provinces.

"But I am assured they are not out of line," the premier said, "in which case there will be no second look."

ESQUIMALT NAVAL SHIP MOVEMENTS

Ontario, on exercises Rensel Sound Tuesday to Thursday, returns Dec. 14.

Crescent, Athabaskan, Jonquiere, Ste. Therese, New Glasgow, James Bay on squadron exercises in local waters Tuesday.

Police believe her attacker was driving the car at the time of the crash.

Victim of the attack, Mrs. Vera Rodgers, 42, of 29 Paddon, was recovering at home today.

Royal Jubilee Hospital officials Saturday morning had described her condition as "fairly good."

Mrs. Rodgers, a part-time driver for Island Cabs, was found near her taxi after it crashed into a tree on Reynolds Road near Cedar Hill Cross Road.

Police believe her attacker was driving the car at the time of the crash.

Said Premier Bennett: "There is such a howl of protest, when we were the last province to increase our prices."

"Our prices continue to be lower than those on the Prairies and are much lower than the Maritimes."

The premier said the Liquor Control Board was solely concerned with getting the same percentage on net profit from total sales as they did before the distillers raised their prices.

He pointed out that the retail price on some brand of rye whiskey had been increased from $4.20 to $4.60.

"If we had increased our prices by 16 per cent as the distillers did, the $4.20 bottle of whiskey would have gone up by 67 cents instead of by only 40 cents."

The premier also mentioned higher freight costs as one of the reasons for liquor price increases.

"Look at the way the newspapers have gone up in price," he said. "Does anyone complain about these increases? Take the Vancouver Sun for instance. Their published figures show a much greater percentage of net profit than the Liquor Control Board does."

Mr. Bonner said the increases—ranging from 30 to 65 cents on bottles of rye and gin—were necessitated.

Ottawa Extends PGE Assistance

$10 Million Grant For New Construction

The federal government has agreed to extend its $25,000 per-mile construction grant for the PGE to include extension north of Prince George, Premier W. A. C. Bennett announced today.

The new share in construction costs will amount to $9,375,000. Earlier the government had agreed to pay $25,000 per mile for the 41-mile extension from North Vancouver.

New construction on the PGE to which the federal government will now contribute comprise: Prince George to Little Prairie Junction, Little Prairie Junction to Dawson Creek, Little Prairie Junction to Fort St. John, Fort St. John to Beaton River.

Premier Bennett also said the federal government has agreed to hard-surface 55 miles of the Alaska Highway, from mile zero to five miles beyond Fort St. John.

Ottawa will also grant a tax refund on new equipment and steel needed for new construction.

"I am tremendously elated over these concessions," Mr. Bennett said. "We have been trying to get this kind of co-operation from Ottawa for the past four and a half years."

The province will give 60 cents per capita, if matched by municipalities, toward construction of a lasting memorial to the 1958 centennial.

Saanich Council is on record as favoring the hospital addition, but Victoria, Oak Bay and Esquimalt have not decided. Esquimalt committee representative Coun. G. K. Sammon has indicated support for the plan.

Indian Conditions To Be Investigated

The federal government has agreed to investigate living conditions among the Indians in B.C., Premier Bennett announced today on his return from Ottawa.

"I told them we were not at all happy over these conditions," he said, "and they offered us 100 per cent co-operation in endeavoring to improve living standards for our Indian population."

"We convinced them that there is a real need for special homes for elderly Indians out here."

Mr. Bennett said the Ottawa government would send out officials to investigate local conditions in co-operation with the provincial government.

Youths Fined Total of $250 After Pole Crash

Two youths who piled up a stolen car against a power pole in Oak Bay while being chased by police early Saturday were fined in city police court today.

Robert John Bowen, 121 Menzies, was fined $100 or two months, and Raymond Carriere, 524 Michigan, $150 or 45 days. They pleaded guilty to taking the car without the owner's consent from the driveway of the Empress Hotel.

Smoker Causes $1,000 Fire

Fire smouldering in a chest-of-drawers caused $1,000 damage early Sunday when it spread around the living room of a home at 793 Hillside.

Firemen called at 4:30 a.m. by owner Mrs. I. Corbin contained the flames to the one room.

Most of the living room furniture was destroyed and floor-work of the walls and floor blackened.

A cigarette dropped in the chair is believed to have started the fire.

A closet full of clothing and Christmas presents were lost by Mr. and Mrs. Lucien J. Vaast in a fire at their home at 3273 Wicklow Saturday.

700 Yugoslavs Due to Arrive In Egypt Thursday; Port Opened

PORT SAID, Egypt (CP)—A British-French decision to let UN police force units enter the Suez Canal Zone by sea as well as by air promised today to speed the build-up of the Middle East peace patrol. But there still was no agreement on plans to replace the occupying forces with UN troops.

The decision to throw open Port Said to ships bringing in additional UN units was made at the request of Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, commander of the police force. He conferred here with British and French officers during a four-hour flying trip from Cairo.

Thus far the troops have been flown in by Swiss airliners and RCAF transports from the crowded staging base at Capodichino, near Naples, Italy. They have been landing in small units at Abu Sudweir near Ismailia on the Egyptian side of the cease-fire line.

The first seaborne units will be 700 Yugoslav troops, expected to land here Thursday. They will land from three Yugoslav ships.

Canada's first United Nations troops arrived in Egypt Saturday and set up housekeeping in a temporary barracks adjoining the Swedes. Less than 24 hours later RCAF planes began flying the Suez airlift.

Twenty Canadian soldiers, dressed in heavy battle dress, stepped off a Swissair transport plane shortly after noon into the unseasonable November heat and were welcomed to the Egyptian air force base by the UN camp commander, Major C. W. Edgerstad of Sweden. Today the advance party was joined by another 200 Canadian Army men.

The Canadians joined a growing UN Emergency Force which now includes seven countries and is expected to reach 6,000 or more men. The first group of medical technicians, engineers—and signallers, comprised nine officers and 11 men carrying full kit, rifles and revolvers.

VANCOUVER SHROUDED AGAIN

Fog Here Tonight; Mayor Stranded

Fog patches appeared in the Victoria area overnight and are expected to return this evening as the lower B.C. mainland groped into its fifth day of pea-soup visibility.

Direct airline connections between Victoria and Vancouver have been wiped out for three days. Patricia Bay airport is operational but Vancouver International Airport is still "socked in."

Trans-Canada Airlines is operating special flights from Patricia Bay to Abbotsford, Vancouver's alternate field, to connect with transcontinental flights. Mayor Percy Scourah was reported fogbound in Vancouver today while en route back from Ottawa. He had hoped to return by air Sunday.

Deep-sea shipping is at a standstill in Burrard Inlet, with at least six cargo ships waiting for a break in the fog to make dock. Tugs with tows are unable to operate in or out of the harbor.

Some relief for the lower mainland is expected Tuesday. As of midnight tonight, the CPR's Victoria-Vancouver ferry service will return to normal. Repairs to CPSS Princess Joan, damaged when she collided with her Vancouver pier in the fog Thursday morning, will be completed today.

Homes, Property Seized, Looted

By DONALD GORDON

ROME (CP)—Egyptian government officials are taking vicious reprisals against British, French, Canadian and Jewish nationals in large-scale property seizures and deportations.

Individual Egyptians are joining in the program with isolated attacks on Europeans, looting of abandoned homes and scattered nighttime shootings.

Details of the reprisals, pieced together from eyewitness occurrences and interviews with refugees, were smuggled out of Egypt to Rome aboard a chartered Canadian embassy aircraft.

Forty-eight thousand Jews living in Egypt—including 5,000 Egyptian-born, 20,000 stateless and 10,000 Egyptian citizens—are on three-day notice to vacate the country. All their property has been seized.

An additional 500 Jews, among the wealthiest in the country, are held incommunicado in the former Jewish quarter.

LONDON (AP)—A Daily Mail correspondent asserted today British women leaving Egypt have been forced to strip in the presence of Egyptian men.

"In the party which left Egypt with me were British women—old and young," wrote Julian de Kassel, who arrived from Cairo Sunday.

"They were made to strip completely in a little uncurtained room. Grinning Egyptians kept peering in at them through the windows. The women were then subjected to a humiliating personal search."

Red Oppression Appals Victoria Girl in Vienna

The oppression of Hungarian freedom fighters by Russian troops has been termed by a Victoria girl in Vienna as a "20th century crucifixion."

"The people are the most courageous I believed possible for a nation to be," pianist Carol Wootton, a student at Vienna's Akademie, wrote to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Wootton, 1255 Victoria Avenue.

"They have so much heart and spirit and have stood up to corruption without fearing the terrible consequences that are pouring on them now. They are the only people who had the spirit to stand up in the open and denounce to the world a system which can no longer exist."

She wrote that while walking with a friend, "we saw two young men with packs and green badges (the wearing of the green is the sign now for that is courageous). We wanted to cry—Two Hungarian refugees."

"I am going to try to give whatever help I can to the refugee centre. They need it so badly. Please understand when I say I can't send any cards donation to the Red Cross here this year to the family and friends—my heart is too full of refugees from Hungary."

Working through Dr. Lotta Hitschmanova of the Unitarian Service of Canada, and her representative in Vienna, the Swiss Quaker Miss Rita Baehrer, The Times is making it possible to support 40 Hungarian students—from the group that led the uprising—at a camp in Vienna. It costs $50 a month to keep a student, and The Times hopes to see a minimum of $12,000 collected here to keep them until next May.

U.S. Backs Russia Withdrawal

Canada Abstains in UN Voting; Canal Clearance Gets Priority

By ROD CURRIE, Canadian Press Staff Writer
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—The United Nations Saturday gave Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld authority to continue building up the UN Middle East force and to start the job of clearing the blocked Suez Canal.

BRITISH PRESS HAILS NEW U.S. CANAL STAND

LONDON (Reuters)—British newspapers today give a half-hearted cheer at reports that the United States has come out for clearing the Suez Canal even before the withdrawal of Anglo-French troops.

"For this relief," says the London Daily Telegraph, "much thanks."

The News Chronicle cites the American position as "the first faint glimmer of hope" to appear "on the Middle East horizon."

The London Daily Sketch describes it as "a welcome shift of opinion."

The Manchester Guardian strongly urges Britain to give full support to the United Nations. "We have been told to go, we have started to go, and we ought to go quickly."

It also overwhelmingly called on Britain, France and Israel to get out of Egypt. The Asian-African resolution, which brought two days of bitter wrangling, again split the Western Big Three.

The United States, which had indicated earlier it would oppose the motion, finally lined up with Russia and the majority of other countries in voting for it. Britain and France were among the five opposing it and Canada was among the 10 nations abstaining.

The resolution giving Hammarskjöld the green light to get on with the Middle East jobs he has been assigned was proposed by Canada, Ceylon, the U.S., India, Norway and Yugoslavia. It was approved 65 to 0, with the nine Soviet bloc countries abstaining. Nicaragua was absent.

ASKS WHEELER'S AID

Immediately after it was passed Hammarskjöld announced that he has asked Gen. R. A. Wheeler, a retired U.S. army engineer, to assist him in the technical organization of the work of clearing the canal of an estimated 22 sunken ships.

During Friday's debate of the two resolutions, External Affairs Minister L. B. Pearson of Canada urged the General Assembly to stop quibbling about the withdrawal of invaders from Egyptian soil and to get on with the resolution giving the authority to Hammarskjöld.

Before the vote on the Asian-African resolution, the assembly turned down a Belgian amendment which would have watered down the harsh wording of the proposal. Canada voted in favor of the Belgian amendment. The count was 23 in favor, 37 against and 18 abstentions.

PEARSON EXPLAINS

After the Asian-African resolution was approved in its original form, Pearson said in a statement that although Canada supports the principle of withdrawal "we do not think that this resolution will assist in achieving this objective at this time."

He said Canada had demonstrated its support of withdrawal by favoring a similar U.S. resolution Nov. 4. The new and harsher resolution dealing with the same matter, he said, was unnecessary at this time since Britain, France and Israel have already started the withdrawal and have promised to continue.

Besides Britain and France, countries opposing the Asian-African withdrawal resolution were Australia, New Zealand and Israel. Abstaining besides Canada were Belgium, China, Cuba, the Dominican Republic, Italy, Luxembourg, The Netherlands, Portugal and South Africa.

Pearson left Sunday for Ottawa to report to today's opening of the emergency session of Parliament which was called to approve funds for Canada's contribution to the UN force.

HON. T. C. DAVIS
... to live in Victoria.

Canada Envoy In Japan To Retire

By VICTOR J. MACKIE
(Times Ottawa Correspondent)

OTTAWA—Hon. T. C. Davis, after a lengthy career as lawyer, newspaperman, politician, jurist and diplomat, will retire to private life when he completes his term as Ambassador to Japan next April.

He and Mrs. Davis will live in Victoria.

He was appointed a member of the Saskatchewan Court of Appeal just before the outbreak of the Second World War. However, he never heard a case in the Saskatchewan court. He was drafted from the Saskatchewan bench to serve as associate deputy minister of the national war services department.

PUBLISHER

Mr. Davis began his career as a lawyer in Prince Albert. With his brother he was co-publisher of the Prince Albert Herald.

He served as attorney-general in Saskatchewan for several years.

He has been Canadian Ambassador to Nationalist China, High Commissioner to Australia, Ambassador to the Republic of Western Germany.

Mr. Davis is reportedly toying with the idea of writing a syndicated newspaper column on public affairs.

B.C. Traffic Safety Group To Be Formed

VANCOUVER (CP)—Delegates to the provincial traffic safety conference Saturday resolved to form a provincial traffic safety committee.

The B.C. Safety Council will organize the new committee, approved at the windup session of the two-day conference.

George Lindsay, superintendent of the Motor Vehicles Branch of the provincial government, said his office suspends between 8,500 and 9,000 motorists each year and magistrates take another 1,500 off the road.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner predicted 300 traffic fatalities by the end of the year.

U.K. MOTORISTS FEEL PINCH—British motoring public is again to experience the inconvenience of gasoline rationing. Majority of drivers will be limited to four gallons a week, starting Dec. 17. Curb on gas is a result of the lack of supplies arriving from Middle East through blocking of the Suez Canal.

Europe Clamps Down As Gas Stocks Shrink

LONDON (AP)—European motoring shifted into low gear during weekend as governments clamped down on the output of supplies from their dwindling oil stocks.

Homes and industries, too, felt the pinch from the closing of the Suez Canal, a shortcut for tankers that supply Western Europe a large part of its oil from Middle Eastern fields.

The brief war on Egypt by Israel, France and Britain had left the canal so clogged by wreckage there was little hope it could be cleared before spring.

The French were among the peoples hardest hit.

French gasoline pumps closed on government orders from 2 p.m. Saturday until 6 a.m. Monday. Only one filling station out of every 10 opened in Paris Saturday morning. There were long lines of cars before the few pumps that operated up to the early closing hour.

BLACK MARKET BOOMS

Sales were restricted to five or six litres to each motorist. Black market prices soared to as much as the franc equivalent to $3 a gallon.

Paris' motor traffic was down by 22 per cent. Token rationing was imposed on the hundreds of officers at the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's military headquarters near Paris. Each will get only one full tank a week for his private car. Military vehicles were not affected.

Sweden banned all private car traffic for the weekend. The Stockholm government slashed all oil deliveries to industry and to oil-heated houses by 30 to 50 per cent.

Gasoline rationing going into effect Dec. 17 will limit the British motorist to 200 miles of driving a month, but a rigid system of self-rationing was already working at many filling stations and garages.

FORD COMPANY HIT

The Ford Motor Co. said some of its 35,000 employees will go on a shorter working week because of a slump in the domestic demand for new cars.

In Italy, motorists were asked to curtail unnecessary driving. But they could buy all the gasoline they wanted—at prices that ran as high as $1 a gallon.

400 Submarines In Russ Fleet, Says Jane's

Another 170 In Two Years

LONDON (Reuters)—Jane's Fighting Ships, the standard reference book on world navies, said today Russia has a growing fleet of more than 400 submarines.

Nazi Germany had only one-tenth that number in its prewar fleet.

Jane's, classing Russia as a "major naval power second now only to the United States," said the Soviet Union built more cruisers and destroyers since the end of the Second World War than all other countries combined.

But it saw in the submarine build-up "the most significant development in Russian grand strategy since the Second World War."

"The severance of NATO communications and the prevention of the entrance of United States naval forces and shipping into the waters surrounding Europe and Asia would be the Russian strategic purpose," Jane's 1956-57 edition said.

MORE COMING

The authority added that Russia is expected to commission another 75 to 85 submarines each year for the next two years.

A large percentage of Russia's submarines are long-range vessels, the annual said, and the postwar surface ships incorporate the latest technological equipment.

Russia's rapid ascendancy has influenced America's ship building, Jane's observed.

"In the short space of about 10 years many U.S. navy ships will be powered by atomic energy and most U.S. navy ships above and including the submarine category will have guided missile capabilities," the book predicted.

PM Protests Russian Actions in Hungary

By VICTOR J. MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA — Prime Minister St. Laurent is reported to have informed the Liberal caucus today that he has sent a very strongly-phrased letter of protest to Russia's Premier Bulganin over the brutal Soviet actions in Hungary.

The St. Laurent letter reported Canadianians were "shocked and amazed" at the Russian act.

... CANADIANS

Saturday. First came a three-man RCAF inspection team, then the 20 Canadianians and finally a visit by UNEF commander, Maj.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns of Canada.

The first batch of Canadian troops, all of them seasoned soldiers, received a friendly greeting from Brig.-Gen. Amin Hemy, Egyptian liaison officer to the UN.

They sweated profusely while standing on the airstrip in the hot sun and as soon as they reached their barracks off came their winter jackets.

The Canadianians had their first meal with the Swedes and were quartered in a one-storey barracks. They will draw rations with the Swedes until the full headquarters contingent arrives.

Their commander, Col. G. K. Wade of the Royal Canadian Engineers, said he was pleased with the reception and "every one is in good spirits."

The RCAF air inspection team looked over the landing facilities and left shortly afterward to return to the main staging area at Capodichino, near Naples. A dozen RCAF flying boxcars will be used on the airlift to Abu Suweir.

Air Commodore F. S. Carpenter of Lachine, Que., head of the RCAF air transport command who is in charge of the operation, said the purpose of his brief visit was to survey the landing facilities for the Canadian crews coming from Capodichino.

LT.-Gen. Sir Hugh Stockwell, commander of the British French force, told correspondents the Yugoslavs due Thursday, would not remain in the northern third of the Canal Zone held by the British and French but would cross the cease-fire line to the Egyptian side. The bulk of the UN force is standing by on that side, at Abu Suweir, awaiting arrangements for them to take over from the British and French.

Stockwell said Burns indicated he would attend later conferences here to discuss the UN buildup. The British general said a role for the UN troops in Port Said — now only 190 Norwegians who came by train from Abu Suweir — was discussed with Burns.

"We are examining how possibly to give them a little area of the town which they would be responsible for," Stockwell said.

U.K. Will Join European Free Trade Area

LONDON (AP)—Britain today announced her intention to join an historic project for a "free trade area" in Europe where tariffs gradually would be abolished.

Chancellor of the Exchequer Harold Macmillan told the House of Commons the project is intended to enable the countries of Western Europe to develop a single common market of 250,000,000 people for their manufactured goods.

In time, he said, the nations forming the "free trade area" would be in a position to compete with the world's two great economic giants represented by "the amazing strength of the United States and the economic power of Soviet Russia."

Driver Dead, Bus Crashes Into Pole

BURNABY, B.C. (CP)—Ten persons were injured, none seriously, Sunday when an interurban bus, its driver dead at the wheel, smashed into a telephone pole here.

The driver, identified as 58-year-old Jim Denby of Vancouver, was dead when ambulance attendants arrived at the scene. Death was believed caused by a heart attack.

Reds Stop U.K. Train

BONN (AP)—The Russians Sunday night turned back the British military train from West Berlin to West Germany, the British Embassy announced tonight.

The prime minister called on the Russians in "the name of humanity" to alter the Soviet course of action.

Those attending the caucus claim it was one of the strongest letters ever addressed by a Canadian prime minister to the head of another state. The letter is said to have been written about two weeks ago when the Russians moved into Hungary with their overwhelming military might. It was examined by the cabinet before it was sent.

The prime minister is understood to have told the Liberal caucus that it was not possible for him to reveal the contents of the letters he sent to Britain's Sir Anthony Eden, because it was an exchange of views between two Commonwealth prime ministers. He is said to have added that there was nothing in the communications to which any members of the Liberal party would object.

school in Cairo. These include the father-in-law of former French premier Pierre Mendes-France.

Similar steps are being taken against British, French and Australian nationals, some of them residents of the country for 30 years. These include an estimated 14,000 British passport holders. Seized shops and businesses now are being operated by the state or handed over to Egyptian businessmen.

The same is being done with industrial plants valued at more than $15,000,000.

The handful of commercial aircraft leaving the country are jammed to capacity. All have arm-long waiting lists.

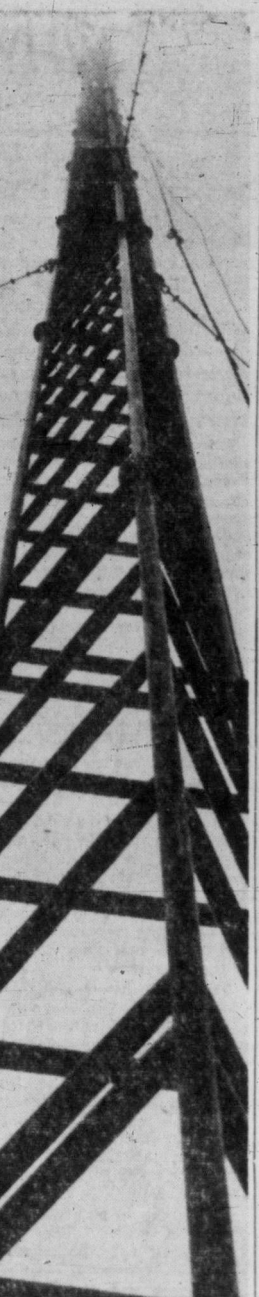

Elizabeth Rumsey, 27, of Toronto was among four Canadianians fleeing the country in a special embassy plane. One of the 50 missionaries working in the Egyptian General Mission, she said all were forced to leave, abandoning their possessions and carrying only clothes and a few Egyptian pounds for expense money.

"They walked in and seized our hospital last week," said Miss Rumsey. "No one was hurt but we were worried about several British missionaries left behind due to their age."

"So far they are treating Canadianians fairly well, but we have seen some violent scenes with citizens of other nations."

Canadian Embassy officials at Cairo said 30 of the 70 Canadianians in the country have been flown out with the balance electing to remain.

TO MAKE ROOM FOR NEW FIRE TRUCK

$11,000 Addition Proposed For Hall at View Royal

Tentative plans to enlarge View Royal Community Hall to make room for a new fire engine, club rooms and dancing are under discussion by the community association.

At the annual meeting of the association, held in conjunction with a special meeting of View Royal fire trustees, approval was given for purchase of an $18,000 fire truck equipped with hose.

An addition to the hall would cost an estimated $11,000 and would be primarily to house the new truck.

600 Feet Drilled On Ripple Rock Job

CAMPBELL RIVER — Ripple Rock, navigation menace in the heart of Seymour Narrows, 10 miles north of here, faces only two more years of existence before the world's largest intentional industrial blast will knock it to smithereens.

Contractors have tunneled 600 of the 2,000 feet of horizontal distance to the base of the rock, and by November, 1958, expect to have 750 tons of nitro in place in its granite heart.

When it explodes it will mark the end of a $2,500,000 job. Contractors hope the blast will knock the top 50 feet of the rock, and give a full 60 feet of clearance over the top of the rock at low water. The terms of the contract call for 40 feet of clearance.

JOINT EFFORT
Work is being done jointly by Northern Construction Co. and J. W. Stewart Ltd., and Boyles Brothers Drilling Ltd., and has been under way since November last year.

In that time the contractors have drilled a vertical shaft to a depth of 572 feet, and started has been a resident of Saanich since 1953.

He is president of Playfair-Park community group and a past-president of Saanich Recreation Council. Children, sports and youth development through extension of parks and playgrounds in the municipality are of particular interest to him.

The candidate has pledged his support to hiring a municipal manager, continuation of investigation into a joint municipal hall for Victoria-Saanich, and to development of Elk-Beaver Lake as a recreation area under provincial dedication.

His opinion of the present local government is that there are too many "closed minds" on council, which he sees as a reason for "stalemate" in conducting business of Saanich.

Rainbow Logs Burn Brightly With Multi-Colored Flames

By PENNY SAVER

Throw another log on the fire. For an extra bright and cheery effect for now and during the Christmas season, enjoy the sight of multi-colored flames, the result of a novel rainbow firelog. As the log burns, flames of all different hues flicker, and each glow catches your eye. Sitting in front of a fire watching the flames can be very restful. The logs would make interesting gifts, at 55 cents each.

Having trouble arranging flowers? A wire mesh flower holder with a suction peg that fits in any section of the mesh will solve your problems as it has mine. The mesh is actually a long, tubular strip that can be coiled to fit any size bowl, or stretched out for room decorating.

The tube can be fastened to the bowl or to a wall with the suction peg, and greenery, seasonal decorations or flowers fastened in neatly, securely and attractively. Any smooth surface, such as some walls and mirrors and such is a perfect base for the peg. The mesh holders are 59 cents.

For Christmas festivities, of course, your wardrobe will need a revamping, for you'll want to look your best. An inexpensive, yet very smart addition can be a black bengaline silk straight skirt that has back interest... a button on panel lined with red bengaline. For a simple style, remove the drape, which has a top peplum effect. Teamed with an evening blouse for the special occasion, this skirt will serve you well. It's priced at $8.98.

Cut glass ash trays with silver rims would make good "little gifts" for someone on your gift list. Buy them singly or in sets. The silver, a simple design, makes it possible to use these trays with a silver cigarette box, making an attractive set. The ash trays are $1.50 each.

A set of dainty matching ash trays and match holder is patterned with light grey and pink fish or pastel leaves. Oriental made the three-piece set is just $1.95.

LOUISE DAVIS

On Etiquette

ABOUT WEDDING GIFTS: Must wedding gifts be standard things such as silver, crystal, china, etc.? Or may one send such things as bed and table linen?

Louise Davis answers:

The standard kind, such as you mention, are not musts by any means, but are generally more popular as selections. Gifts can be anything at all providing they are chosen with care, which a couple can use and cherish long into the future. It is always wise to put some thought into gift purchases. When thinking of table or bed linen, it is a good idea to consider whether or not a bride has already acquired linens by her own "hope chest" purchases, or by way of showers or engagement gifts.

ABOUT A HOLIDAY TEA FOR TEEN-AGE GIRLS:

I have a niece coming to visit us for part of the Christmas holidays and plan to have a group of teen-age girls in for an afternoon party. Ordinary soft drinks don't seem very partyish and I don't believe that young people care for afternoon tea. Would you suggest something appropriate?

Louise Davis answers:

How about a fruit punch which can be dressed up to look "holiday-ish"? Most cook books contain various punch recipes. Hot chocolate is another drink that would be appropriate at that time of the year. With either of these you can serve cookies, cake and salted nuts. If you happen to feel extravagantly festive, you could augment this outlay of refreshments with canapés.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

New 'Fair Lady' Fashions Call for Special Make-Up

"My Fair Lady," the great Broadway hit, has had a far reaching effect on current styles. This winter faces will be framed in sparkling satins, white fur, misty floating veils, huge Edwardian roses, ribbons, jewels and bows. Clothes are elegant and extravagant this season.

It seems to me that such garments cry for special make-up. Therefore, I went to Max Factor, advisor to the Hollywood stars, for his opinion. Mr. Factor said, "There will be more beautiful and young looking women over 40 during this 'Fair Lady' fashion season than in years." He feels that the make-up designed for these fashions is so time-subtracting that women will use it for several years to come.

This make-up is more feminine. It will have more rose in it. Rouge will be used much more than it has been for years. Here is some advice from Mr. Factor.

Choose your foundation make-up on the pale side of the color chart but be sure it has a touch of rose in the blend. A small amount of rose in pale foundation make-up removes the chalk-line, age-making look and adds a true glow of youth to the older face.

The most transparent and glowing foundation make-up is the liquid type with natural high fidelity colors. Some of these have a softening ingredient which dispels the lines caused by dryness. Rouge is a must with the new 'Fair Lady' look. Liquid or cream rouge in the color most flattering to you should be an important part of your make-up.

Do not try to give your complexion a sheen. The 'Fair Lady' look calls for a matte eye make-up, look again to be sure that you have enough rouge on. You may not have applied a sufficient amount at first. If you feel you need more, use dry rouge this time. With your "Fair Lady" clothes and your "Fair Lady" make-up, you will feel more feminine and glamorous than you have in a long time. These fashions are most flattering!
